Curriculum Proposals Prepared for Faculty

A special Student Council committee, charged with suggesting changes in the School’s curriculum for further study presented its findings to the College’s Committee to Plan for the Future yesterday.

In a long letter to the faculty committee’s chairman, Professor Bernard Bellush (Uptown-History), the Council group suggested specific changes in the Baruch School’s curriculum requirements.

The special group, chaired by Alan Joseph Traum ‘64, a former editor-in-chief of THE TICKER, developed, and which are extensions of “general knowledge” (e.g., Philosophy 1 and Calculus) should be required of all.

Free Tuition Fight Continues In State Capitol and Locally

The Board of Regents of the State University on Tuesday, February 11, 1964, approved a request for $84,027,597, an increase of $17,755,000 over the current year’s budget of $66,252,597, suggesting changes in the School’s curriculum for further study.

The increase in state aid would be utilized by the schools to meet the increased cost for expanded facilities caused by the large freshman class that will enter in 1964.

The two lawmakers have placed bills in the legislative hopper that would grant $2.6 million by competing aid on the basis of 1964 enrollment instead of 1963 enrollment, and give $2.5 million to the expansion of graduate studies by bursary means.

The budget proposed by Governor Rockefeller for the 1964-65 fiscal year contains $10 million for four-year colleges. This is an increase over last year of $1.1 million. His budget would also provide $11 million for the graduate program.

Record-Breaking Budget Set For City University Students

The 1964-65 budget for the City University, embodying a 30.8% increase, was approved by the Board of Higher Education. The total request was $84,027,597, an increase of $17,755,000 over the current year’s budget of $66,252,597.

Gustave G. Rosenberg, chairman of the Board, said that the request was designed to meet “a record-breaking public need for college-trained personnel at the very time when the number of high school graduates in this city tops all previous figures.”

“Given the funds we seek,” he continued, “the Board and the City University (specifically) think that their record thus far is not enough for these community on college and graduate levels. Next year the increase in the number of high school graduates will increase substantially the demand for matriculation in the schools. To provide for additional students, the University is planning to add 1,100 to the capacity of the senior and community colleges.

The doctoral programs of the University are budgeted at $4,666,000, of which $2.6 million has been requested from the state and $2 million from the city.

Brooklyn, City, Hunter, and Queens will receive $54,700,780 under the proposed budget. Of this, $1,315,000 has been asked to provide 216 instructional positions for students.

Revenue was also provided for the Staten Island, Queensborough and Bronx Community Colleges, and for the two new community colleges scheduled to open next year.

Students Denied Right To Stay at Concord

By DAVID GOLDBERG

Uptown and Downtown students were prohibited by the Department of Student Life from spending any extra time at the Concord Hotel after their winter session vacation. According to its coordinator for the Free Tuition Drive, Fred Preller ‘64, senior class president, the students would be required to return on the buses which they came by the student coordinators, and for the Concord hotel on the last of the three day stay, January 28.

The discharge motion was to get the free tuition bill out of Assemblyman Fred Preller’s (Rep., Queens) committee and on to the floor of the Assembly where the bill could be discussed and then voted upon. Preller is the chairman of the Ways and Means Committee.

Last year a discharge motion didn’t move in getting the free tuition bill out of the Ways and Means Committee. A bill to the majority of those who voted were in favor of discharging the bill, the voting majority didn’t constitute a majority of the Assembly because many Republicans abstained. In the Assembly, an absolute majority of the members is needed to discharge a bill from committee.

The School participates in the expenses of Student Council, which urges all to participate.

to accommodate full-time matriculated students. A sum of $7,000,000 was appropriated to enable the seven colleges of the university to enroll 5,000 new freshmen next fall. The state has been asked to provide $3,783,000 an increase of 11% to the capacity of the senior and community colleges.

Free Tuition Fight Continues In State Capitol and Locally

Tuition Policy Blocks Aid

The refusal of the Board of Higher Education to impose tuitions on the senior colleges of the City University of New York appears to be an obstacle to the granting of additional state aid to the C.U. The increase in state aid would be utilized by the schools to meet the increased cost for expanded facilities caused by the large freshman class that will enter in 1964.

The two lawmakers have placed bills in the legislative hopper that would grant $2.6 million by competing aid on the basis of 1964 enrollment instead of 1963 enrollment, and give $2.5 million to the expansion of graduate studies by bursary means.

The budget proposed by Governor Rockefeller for the 1964-65 fiscal year contains $10 million for four-year colleges. This is an increase over last year of $1.1 million. His budget would also provide $11 million for the graduate program.

Students who had already paid the Concord for additional days had their money refunded. The announcement that the Concord would be closed to students would be required to return on the buses which they came by the student coordinators, and for the Concord hotel on the last of the three day stay, January 28.

In related developments, Mr. Landau stated that it was a Department of Student Life ruling that no cars could be driven to the Concord by students. This conflicted with statements of Assistant Police Chief David Newton (Student Life) that the decision was made by the student coordinating committee.

Mr. Landau, however, drove to the Concord by car. He stated that...
Lamport Group Holds Leadership Workshop

By NADINE VARTANIAN

The Lamport Group's Leadership Workshop Training held on February 11 at the Lamport Group's offices in New York features the presence of the Lamport Group's leadership team. Among the topics covered were leadership theory, group decision-making, and the importance of effective communication within the group. The workshop aimed to provide attendees with the tools and strategies to enhance their leadership skills and improve group dynamics.

Bookselling Prohibited In School Corridors

Bookselling is prohibited in the school corridors. This decision was made to maintain an educational environment free from distractions and to ensure that students can focus on their studies without interruptions. The school administration enforces this policy to create a conducive learning atmosphere.

Specific Course Changes Suggested

The following are the specific course changes that were suggested during the recent student council meeting. These changes were proposed to better align the course requirements with the students' needs and interests.

(1) The student would be required to take 6 credits of English 104 and 2 credits of English 105. By doing so, the student can develop effective communication skills.

(2) The student would be required to take 6 credits of History 101 and 4 credits of History 102. This combination will provide a comprehensive understanding of world history.

(3) The student would be required to take 6 credits of Economics 101 and 2 credits of Economics 102. By doing so, the student can gain a deeper understanding of the economic principles and theories.

(4) The student would be required to take 6 credits of Accounting 101 and 2 credits of Accounting 102. This combination will provide a solid foundation in accounting principles.

(5) The student would be required to take 6 credits of Business Administration 101 and 2 credits of Business Administration 102. This combination will provide a comprehensive understanding of business principles.

(6) The student would be required to take 6 credits of Computer Science 101 and 2 credits of Computer Science 102. By doing so, the student can develop essential computer skills.

By implementing these course changes, the student council aims to provide a more balanced and comprehensive curriculum that meets the needs of the students.
Seven Days in May 'Not Unrealistic Fantasy' - Diplomat's Community Talk By ALAN NELSON

"Our nation is not so complex that we cannot face today's problems," Dr. Robert G. Pound, Nobel Peace prize winner and Harvard's president emeritus, told the Diplomat's Community meeting here this week. Dr. Pound was one of the three main speakers at the meeting. The other two were Dr. Norman H. Hyde, President of the University of California, and Dr. Charles A. Lindblom, President of the Rockefeller Institute for Social Science.

"The United States is a complex country," Dr. Pound said. "But the United States is also a country that can understand and face today's problems. We must understand that world problems such as disarmament and the spread of nuclear weapons are not just the problems of the superpowers. They are the problems of all of us." Dr. Pound also said that the United States must not only produce better weapons, but also have better people. "We must have a better country."

Dr. Hyde said that the United States must have a better government in order to solve the nation's problems. "We must have a government that is more responsive to the needs of the people," Dr. Hyde said. "We must have a government that is more democratic, and that is not just a democracy for the few."

Dr. Lindblom said that the United States must have a better education system in order to solve the nation's problems. "We must have a better education system," Dr. Lindblom said. "We must have a system that is not just for the rich, but for all of us."

The Diplomat's Community meeting was held to discuss these and other important issues facing the United States today. The meeting was attended by many prominent figures, including Dr. Harry A. Gruen, President of Yeshiva University, and Dr. John M. Shelton, President of the American Institute for Research.
The President Speaks: Council's Meeting

The Faculty has authorized a Student Council. We are happy that people who represent 3500 constituencies. We have two constituents, the student body, and the faculty and the staff. Those who do the planning are responsible for the execution. The faculty and staff are responsible for many things, including student organizations. The administration of student organizations is one of the responsibilities of the student government. The Student Council has never taken the principal role but has been consulted and has advocated the interests of the students. We wish him luck.

The Tremendous Increase in Applicants in the City University of New York System began in the fall of 1963 with the record breaking applications of 94% of the total day session students and 83% of the total evening session students. The tremendous increase in applicants results from the criteria which the faculty and the staff of the College feel are necessary. The faculty and the staff of the College have enough power to do what they feel is necessary. The faculty and the staff of the College are also influenced by the socioeconomic factors which are present.

The Boatride and the feature films which will be shown will appeal to the students; and the fight for free tuition should appeal to the sociology.
Extraordinary Measures

Among the students who are taking advantage of the opportunities at City College and the other senior colleges, there is a growing number who are taking courses for which they are not paying full tuition. This is being done in order to meet the costs of living and to provide for the education of students who are not financially able to support themselves.

In order to make it possible for these students to continue their education, the City College has established a special fund which is being used to support the work of our students. The fund is supported by contributions from the public and from other sources.

The City College is grateful for the support that it has received, and we hope that we will continue to receive it in the future.

Chairman's Statement

The Board of Higher Education is continuing its efforts to provide the best possible education for our students. We are working to meet the needs of our students, and we are striving to make our institutions as effective as possible.

The Board of Higher Education is committed to the principle of providing equal educational opportunities to all students, regardless of their background or socioeconomic status. We are working to ensure that our students have access to the resources they need in order to succeed.

The Board of Higher Education is proud of the work that our institutions are doing, and we are committed to continuing to improve our educational offerings.

Harriers Rejoin Met I

City increased the ranks of its schedule by rejoining the Metropolitan Interscholastic Track and Field Association. City dropped out of the conference when the schedule was expanded as a result of Korean War. Faculty Matters Athletics Arthur DesGrey, manager of the Boiler Track and Field team, has announced that the Beavers are competing against teams in previous years. The Beavers hope to rejoin the conference next season.

The hoop slate, however, is completed at least one year before the season opens. For example, in 1984-85 C.C.N.Y. will play eighteen teams, including three new opponents: University of Hartford, University of Rochester, and Hofstra College. Hofstra recently joined the "university" division of the Tri-State League, which also includes Adelphi, Bridgeport, City, Fairleigh Dickinson, Rider, L.I.U., and Wagner (a new member).

According to Professor DesGrey, faculty manager of athletics, "We have to fill out the slate one year in advance. We have to fit our long-range plans into their plans."

City Upsets Wagner;
But Bows To Pioneers

With all five starters scoring in double figures, the City College basketball team registered its biggest upset since the Fordham game of 1962 by defeating Wagner College 63-65. The Seahawks brought a 12-2 record into the game, which included a triumph over highly-routed N.Y.U.

C. W. Post thwarted City's bid for a second consecutive upset when it came from behind to defeat the Wagner 63-74. The Beavers hadn't given much of a chance against Wagner, according to the local papers, but the Beavers outshone as well as outscored (44-25) the taller Seahawks. City hadn't beaten Wagner since 1956.

scored thirteen and twelve points, respectively. In the first half, the Beavers, led by Hank Pedro and John DiMaggio, led 43-29 at the intermission.

A basket and foul shot by Golden, and two baskets by Alex Blatt gave City a 46-42 lead. The Beavers held it useless for the first five and a half minutes of the half. DiMaggio and Pedro gave Wagner the lead, but a basket by Ira Smolkin put City ahead to stay. City went 64-61 with one minute left, and proceeded to play possession-type ball to hold the lead until the final buzzer.

City increased its lead to 45-34, and Smolkin completed the half with a basket and foul shot.

Pedro led Wagner with nineteen points. High-scoring Fred Ercole, bothered by an ankle injury, scored only seven.

Three nights later, a turn-around crowd of 1,100 filled Wingate Hall to its capacity to see if the Beavers could erase a long standing City conference. The lavender crowd was over 1,100.

The Beavers' shooting turned rugged in the second half. City did not score a point in the first six minutes of the half, while Rider increased its lead to 45-34, and later, 53-38. The Roughriders used the hot hand of Doug Eodrea and a minus three differential fact to run up the score.
