CAMPUS
PRESIDENT’S MESSAGE

Congratulations to the Class of 1999!

Today is a very special day in your life. It represents the completion of a very important goal that you had set for yourselves and marks the beginning of whatever future educational/career path upon which you may choose to embark. It represents all that you have accomplished over the years that you have been here at Bronx Community College and all the struggles you had to overcome to become graduates: the responsibilities you had to juggle with work and family, the sacrifices you had to make and the time you had to give towards your studies both in and outside the classroom. You should be proud of yourselves today as we are of you.

However, learning is a continuous process. Although you should take time to relish and enjoy your successes, there is still much to do. You must continue to develop new skills, a prerequisite for success in the next century. You must become lifelong learners, which will assure you a bright future.

As all of you know, no one reaches their goals without the help and support of others. In saluting the accomplishments of today’s graduates, we acknowledge the encouragement and sacrifice of their family members. We also pay tribute to Bronx Community College’s outstanding faculty and staff. Their guidance and leadership have nurtured and cultivated the talented Class of 1999.

My very best wishes to all for a happy and bright future.

Sincerely,

Carolyn Williams

Dear BCC Graduates:

CONGRATULATIONS! The BCC Community has a proud history of helping victims of various catastrophes throughout the world, and in continuing this legacy, all of you have contributed to a new Disaster Relief Record of $35,242. On behalf of the victims of hurricane Georges, hurricane Mitch, the Colombia earthquake, and the Albanian Refugees of Kosovo, thank you for helping rebuild their lives, families, homes, and communities.

You have continued to hear the victims crying for help in resolving problems, resulting from the impact of these four catastrophic events which occurred in a record of time from October, 1998 to May, 1999. Your continued generosity throughout the Disaster Relief Drive raised the grand total of 35,242 to a new historical level. It also exemplified the ultimate level of giving which is WHEN THOSE CONTRIBUTING DO NOT KNOW THE RECEIVERS AND THE RECEIVERS DO NOT KNOW THE CONTRIBUTORS.

Thank you once again for raising the BCC Relief Disaster Drive to a new historical high and giving back to your extended communities. Interacting with all of you throughout the 1998-99 Disaster Relief Drive ranks high among my professional experiences from 1960 to the present.

Good luck in the future and continue to give back to your community.

Healthfully yours,

Sam Schwartz

Sweat blinds you at the last moment, but you keep going. Your body gives up, but you don't. Your lungs burn from lack of life giving oxygen and your thoughts become blurry. The shot goes up, the finish line is close, the baseball is over his head, and you win. You know now why you put yourself thru all the suffering, why you run until your body feels faint, why you shoot until your arms won't stay up anymore and why you hit until the bat becomes too heavy. And even if you loose, you respect your opponent because you know what they went thru to win.

I KNOW THE WAY TO SUCCESS

When the winds of rest tempted me to sleep,
Till my eyes burned with fire, tears could not make cease.
I kept reading.
I stood strong.

When the clock of time took away my days,
I had to take care of my children, while studying for a test.
I found the time to do both.
I stood strong.

When waves of troubles crashed against my boat,
When there was water up to my throat.
I held on, with all my being.
I stood strong.

When my body wants to give up,
When I feel sick and I’m going to fall.
I do not fall unto my knees.
I stand strong.

When I reach my goal and my happiness.
When the sun shines bright and I get to rest,
I will be proud, I will be the best.
On that day, I’ll stand tall.

Searching

Noises, violence, nonviolence. Peace?
Children, they are everywhere.
Police, no police. Brutality, protection. Yeah!
Drugs, No drugs, please!
Where are our fathers? Where? Damn it.
My mother is all right. She is?
My sisters are all right. Right?
My brothers are fine. Right?
Come on! Let's go to the store!
For what, man?
You know what for. For love, for understanding, for peace and happiness within our hearts.
Where? I do not know, but let's look
For that place, if we search hard and long enough, we will find it...
... I hope.

Beyond

What seems like ...
Peace is not peace but war.

What appears to be ...
Joy is not joy but sorrow.

What looks like ...
Clay is not clay but dirt.

When going through life.

Do not take ...
What seems like peace for peace.

Do not take ...
What appears to be joy for joy.

Do not take ...
What looks like clay for clay.

Do not take ...
What appears to be surface for surface.

But — look beyond!
But — find truth, to be
But — not what seems like
But — not what appears to be
But — not what looks like
But — what is!

Midnight Thoughts

I lie awake in the enchanting
night,
To think and wonder how it
would be,
To have a house as big as the world,
For me and my family.

Maybe I will find out soon,
For now, I will try to bury
My thoughts and shamelessly
Stare at the moon.

Tomorrow night, I will find myself
in this same scene
But someday . . . Someday I will shine bright like the moon.
I believe I can shine; I just need
some more time,
To organize a plan: I know I can, I can,
Oh, yes! I can!

USDA Grant Funds New Curriculum

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has provided $220,000 for the development of a new curriculum, Food and Warehouse Management, over the next two years. BCC’s Departments of Business and Health, Physical Education and Wellness are collaborating on the project.

According to the Project Director, Dr. J. Huchter, the emerging curriculum will prepare students for careers in warehouse management from transportation to inventory. The college will collaborate with local companies such as Kraysman Corporation and SHARE-New York to develop the components of the program which include placing students in cooperative work experience positions.

The Hospitality Division at New York City Technical College and Cook College Food Science program at Rutgers University will provide course and curriculum input so that BCC students majoring in Food Warehousing may transfer their credits to other colleges.

"This grant will strengthen our institutional capacity to respond to regional and national educational needs to attract and support underrepresented groups," wrote BCC President Carolyn Williams in her letter to the USDA. "BCC is particularly well-suited to take on this task since we are close to the Hunts Point Market, the major food distribution point on the East Coast, and the warehouse of SHARE-New York, the distribution site for more than 100 host organizations serving 15,000 families."

BCC ranked fourth in the national competition for funding through USDA’s Hispanic Serving Grant program.

BCC Initiates Disaster Relief

The BCC Hurricane Relief Fund Drive, co-sponsored by Student Government and the college’s Department of Health, Physical Education and Wellness, has topped $20,000.

According to coordinator Dr. Samuel Schwartz, the original goal of $1,200 was attained in the first month of the campaign. Proceeds go directly to the American Red Cross of Greater New York.

Anyone wishing to contribute to the BCC drive can make checks payable to the American Red Cross and sent to the college’s Bursar’s Office in Colston Hall.

Disaster Relief Reaches $31,000
by Dr. Sam Schwartz
Coordinator, BCC Disaster Relief Fund

Congratulations! You did it again! On behalf of the victims of Hurricane Georges, Hurricane Floyd, and the Columbus Earthquake, thank you for helping to top this year’s Disaster Relief Fund Drive goal of $20,000. You are part of their hope by giving them a second chance for life.

As of April 26, 1999, you have contributed to the grand total of $31,000 with two weeks remaining for this year’s fund drive. In response to your request to include the Albanian refugees of Kosovo in our next appeal drive, these victims will also be included in the next BCC fund-raising drive scheduled during the week of May 10. Other appeals will also be scheduled throughout the remainder of this semester.

With 7,000 students enrolled at BCC, $3,000 donations from each of you will yield $21,000. For those of you who have donated $50 or one quarter will be extremely impressive, since $25 x 7,000 students = $175,000. You continued donations during the past week will help to exceed significantly the present goal of $31,000.

Additional emergency relief operations will take this away (at various times) from the usual fund-raising collection process during this week of May 10, 1999. During my absence from the campus, please continue to donate $1.00 and one quarter at the collective container (the red box).

All of you continue to exemplify the ultimate level of giving, which is when those contributing do not know the recipients, and the recipients do not know the contributors.

Thank you once again for helping to rebuild the lives of these victims of these disasters and continuing to open our hearts to your extended communities.

BCC students Alfred Mills (Computer Science) and Linda Smith point to the latest totals for the BCC Disaster Relief Fund. The expected thermometers indicate that we have exceeded our goal once more, thanks to your generosity.

College policy states that students have to wait for instructors for ten minutes before leaving the classroom if the instructor is late. However, some instructors mark students late if they arrive five minutes into the class, and other instructors won't even allow latecomers to enter the classroom. Do you think that this is fair?

Dear class of 1999

I would like to congratulate you on the great achievement of graduation. It is wonderful to know that perseverance and dedication have paid off. You have shown to people that you are committed and courageous and that nothing stand in the way of reaching your goals. This proves that you are a success.

I am sure you know that the steps to the top are difficult to climb, and that you may fall on the way, just remember to get up and not to give up. You have done so well and have accomplished many things in life. Some of you may have had support from your parents and friends, some of you may have been disappointed for not having anyone to count on. Remember that your background and circumstances influence who you are but you are responsible for who you become.

This yearbook is in honor of you the graduates of 1999. I hope you keep it and remember this institution and the faculty and staff that is happy to see you leave to college and move on with your life.

I wish you the best and I know you will do the greatest.

Sincerely your friend:

Clara Rincon
Editor in Chief
