Biographical Note

Roberta Kalechofsky, (1931- ), was born and raised in Brooklyn and received her undergraduate degree from Brooklyn College (1952). She earned her master's in 1956 and her Ph.D. in 1970, both in English Literature, from New York University. She has taught in the English Department at Salem State College (1976-77); Hillel Day School in Swampscott, Mass., (1972-73); at Brooklyn College's School of General Studies (1956-59; 1962-63); and at the University of Connecticut (1952-53).

A founder of Micah Publications, Ms. Kalechofsky has received publishing grants from the National Endowment for the Arts and the Massachusetts Council on the Arts. She has been a contributing editor of Margins, and A Review of Little Mags, and has published in quarterlies, reviews and anthologies. She published the Echad Series which includes five anthologies of Jewish writings and has also penned works of fiction, poetry, a monograph on George Orwell, and a collection of essays. Several of her stories, and two novellas, La Hoya and Stephen's Passion, have been translated into Italian. Her novel Bodmin, 1349: An Epic Novel of Christians and Jews in the Plague Years has twice been included in a college curriculum in the United States.

Not only a writer and feminist, Ms. Kalechofsky is also an animal rights activist and founded Jews for Animal Rights in 1985. She has coordinated publishing projects and written on vegetarianism and animal rights through the Small Press Movement (via her Micah Publications) and also co-founded Branching Out, Canada's first feminist magazine.

Roberta Kalechofsky has been honored for Distinctive Writing in Best American Short Stories of 1976 and 1977; received an honorary membership in Israel Bibliophile Society; has spoken at a Holocaust Scholars' Conference at the Anne Frank Institute in Philadelphia (1988); lectured at Bar-Ilan University, Tel Aviv University and the Institute for Contemporary Jewry at Hebrew University, all in Israel (1982); spoken on selected novels at the Jewish Community Center in Marblehead, MA. (1976-77); and was guest writer and speaker at a Creative Writings program at Roger Williams College in Rhode Island (1976).
