President’s Message

FROM THE PRESIDENT

I want to extend my congratulations to the 1994 graduates of Bronx Community College. In earning your degrees, you have demonstrated that diligence and commitment to hard work will yield fruitful results. Now, you must re-focus your goals and your energies, as you face the future, to meet the new challenges.

First, you should always seek to use your knowledge and your position to help others as well as yourself.

Second, you must continue to learn to develop new skills and new competencies so that you will be able to be of increasing service to society.

Third, you should devote every energy to attempting to improve the understanding and the relationship between people of various national, religious and ethnic backgrounds.

Finally, you must be true to yourself, say what you mean, act upon your beliefs, and be considerate of others who believe or behave differently.

Best of luck to you in your future endeavors. I am sure that you will bring credit to yourselves, your families, and to Bronx Community College.

Leo A. Corbie
Acting President
A Year in Review
I am pleased to welcome you to the thirty-fourth Commencement of Bronx Community College. I am especially proud that this year's class is the largest in the college's history, with more than 950 graduates. The large number of graduates affirms the fact that in a competitive highly technological global economy . . . education is essential.

I am sure the family and friends of the graduates join me and the faculty and staff in saluting the Class of 1994 for their achievements. In pursuing a college degree, you have molded your innate talents into professional skills. Armed with the associate degree which will be conferred today, you have prepared well for the challenges of the twenty-first century. I have no doubt that you will be able to contribute significantly to the future development of our borough, our city and the nation.

As you put on the academic regalia that symbolizes your acceptance into the community of scholars, it is only fitting to remind you that with knowledge comes responsibility — responsibility to make your world a better place — responsibility to help find solutions to today's difficult problems — responsibility to help those less fortunate than yourselves — and responsibility to build strong families and communities.

You join a large and growing number of previous graduates who have felt their imprint on this city. The faculty and staff of Bronx Community College who helped nurture your progress have deemed you worthy to join this illustrious group. We are both sad and happy to see you go, sad to lose you, but confident that you will continue to make us proud. With all our best wishes for your future success.

Last year, the college entered into an historic agreement with the City of New York to provide students at Bronx Community College with a unique opportunity. Because of that agreement, BCC students who are interested in television production, programming and operations now have a learning vehicle available nowhere else in New York City. As we enter this new semester, we would like to familiarize the entire college community with the full scope of our television operations. To that end, we invite you to join us at an Open House on Thursday, February 10, in the Crosswalks offices in Tech II, 2nd floor, for a tour of the studio and production facilities (Tech II, lower level) and to meet the BCC and Crosswalks staff.

We are both delighted that Crosswalks chose Bronx Community College as the site of the city's municipal cable network. The enthusiasm and talents of BCC students have already contributed significantly to the successful infancy of this public interest television venture. For college students, the unique chance to work on many aspects of a growing and vibrant television network is not only educational in value but will also give students an advantage in pursuing job opportunities that students in more traditional audiovisual technology programs do not enjoy.

We believe that this partnership will produce important programming for the public and a wonderful, unparalleled opportunity for BCC students for years to come. We are committed to making that vision a reality and invite you to share it with us. Sincerely,

English Professor Mal Nickerson Always Does the Write Thing

By Julie Skurdenis & Dr. Bernard Willieb

"Those who've been given a lot owe a lot to their community," said Dr. Marie Louise Nickerson (Eng.). Celebrating 25 years with BCC, Dr. Nickerson stands by her commitment.

Her English 01 class is always filled to capacity. The word is out that she reads all her students' work—their journals, homework and essays—and they see results of their progress.

"ENG 01 is my favorite course," says Mal. "You see a visible difference in students' ability, particularly in writing." Mal believes another significant factor in her students' success is the scheduling of her classes four times a week, one hour a day. Lessons include a brief exercise, a reading aloud component and at least one other activity. "The one-hour format works for me, and more importantly, for them," she noted.

After acquiring an A.B. from Bryn Mawr College and M.A. with honors from Columbia, Mal started at BCC in 1974. She earned her doctorate from CUNY in 1979.

As the recipient of several Title IV grants, Mal has worked with Project in the 70's and, more recently, Wi Across the Curriculum. When the Department established a project with the CUNY Graduate Center, she served as mentor to two graduate students who taught courses at BCC with her guidance.

Recently elected to the College's Academic Review Committee, Mal also serves English at the Faculty Senate.

When she isn't teaching, Mal enjoys tennis, knitting, quilt-making and gardening, which isn't easy in an apartment.

Her daughter Elizabeth is a dancer at the NYU Tisch School of the Arts. Her granddaughter Says is a guard at the School for the Blind.

President Corbie Outlines Strategy

By James DeMetro

Plunging temperatures and a cloudy budget outlook made for a chilly start to the Spring 1994 semester, prompting President Leo A. Corbie to call for a concerned yet confident approach to the sobering days ahead.

Convening the semi-annual faculty con-vocation just days after Mayor Giuliani outlined his strategy for closing a $2.3 billion shortfall for the next fiscal year, Dr.

faculty to identify students with special needs and through her office assist them to be more successful students.

Associate Dean of Students Evelyn Kish sought faculty assistance in encouraging students to comply with New York State's immunization policy. "Nobody likes this law, but we have to implement it," she said. "Returning students without full compliance were not allowed to register.

College Celebrates Italian Heritage

Chazz Palminteri, author and star of A Bronx Tale. The annual luncheon and awards ceremony will take place at 12 noon on Friday, Oct. 22, in Gould Memorial Library Rotunda.

Director of Medicine at Calvary Hospital, Dr. Brescia received the Dialysis Pioneering Award for his invention, the Brescia-Cimino fistula, a major milestone in the treatment of kidney disease.

Chazz Palminteri, Class of '74, is co-starring with Robert DeNiro in A Bronx Tale which he also wrote.

The late Camille Nelson (CE), a founding member of the Italian American Committee, will also be honored.

A special Recognition Award will be presented to College Accountant Constance DeYorgi who is leaving BCC.

Luncheon tickets are $18. Make checks payable to BCC Italian Heritage Association and send to Mr. Charles Faigie, Colston Hall, Room 231. For information, call Mr. Faigie at ext. 6153.

Automotive Technology students check under the hood.

Automotive Program
Revs Its Engines

Approximately 300 students are reaping the benefits of the expanded Automotive Technology program. With $1.5 million in new equipment from New York City Tech, BCC is offering a two-year degree program as well as the certificate program.

Front end and brake shops, and engine, transmission, fuel and electrical systems service centers are all on campus for the use of the students. According to the college's Dean of Academic Affairs Carl Polowczyk, future plans include a broad transportation curriculum to include Aviation, Rapid Transit Systems, Buses and Trucks.

President Leo Carlucci greets the children of BCC students. When the asbestos crisis kept New York City public schools closed, BCC offered special day care services for youngsters, ages 5 to 12, in Gould Annex. Made possible by a grant from New York City Youth Services through the Department of Student Development, the program served about 120 youngsters each day.

BCC's Muslim Student Association will welcome members of Muslim organizations from other CUNY colleges as well as from Columbia, New York University, and the New York Institute of Technology in a celebration of Islamic unity. Muslims and non-Muslims are invited to attend the festivities tonight, Thursday, May 5, in Gould Student Center 311, at 6 p.m. Admission is free.

Among the issues to be discussed will be the importance of Muslim organizations as well as Islamic education in a non-Islamic environment.

"We are working at building a better awareness of true Islam on campus," explained Amjad Mujaahid, president of the BCC group. "We fear that media coverage of recent events involving controversial speakers on college campuses has done much to distort the facts about Islam. We look forward to welcoming all who are interested in meeting with us and learning about Islam," he said.

JUST A MATTER OF TIME

A million miles away we can see the light,
A million miles away we can see the triumph,
A million miles away we can see our goal.

Yet a thousand miles away we saw the light,
the triumph, our goal and the fear to get near.

A hundred miles away the light, triumph and our goals were seen clearer, but many obstacles that got in our way made it seem like a million miles away. These moments made us seem like we were alone, but we weren't, "God" was there with us at all times.

Miles away we knew we can see the light, feel the triumph, and touch our goals. Now it is just a matter of time, and we can say thank-you God, for the light, triumph and goals in our lives, is right here. AMEN.

By: Lydia Matos
We are three sisters with different ambitions and goals, but with the same drive in life to succeed. We all had a husband or fiance when we started on the road to success, but little did we know, that the drive to our goals was going to bring separation into our lives. We had hard and rough times. We did not anticipate that one of us would be found with cancer and would be suffering. We did not know that our mother would end up in the hospital with a serious illness for the first time in her life and that an aunt, cousin, and nephew, would all be admitted into different hospitals all at the same time. To add to this a couple of our friends died and our attendance was mandatory. The running around was very scary and difficult to keep up with in addition to our studies. It did enter our minds to give up and forget about school, we wondered what more could happen.

It's funny how we all attended a four (4) year University 17-18 years ago. Good job opportunities made us all forget about continuing our education. Now, it was tragedies in our family that was stopping us from reaching our goals or getting a degree. Now, more than ever, our goal is important to us and for our children who deserve a promising future as much as do we. As the light was closing in on us, with every possible obstacle in our way, we knew we could not give up. We waited so long and came so far we knew we could not give up. We prayed and kept positive and saw bits and pieces of our light. The light is as clear as day now and we are near the end, but not entirely we are all still continuing our education after our departure from Bronx Community College. I am thankful to my older sister who made the first move returning to school, and for dragging us along with her, and another family member and a few of our friends.

So, my dear fellow students and graduates of 1994, with God leading us on our way, we will see you all there in June's graduation. Success to all.

Dr. Leo Corbie Completes Year in Office

Members of the faculty note Dr. Corbie's willingness to involve them in and consult with them on policy matters.

Student Government Association president Guillermo Ali Perez has made no secret of his support of Dr. Corbie. Praising Dr. Corbie for his ability to work with student leaders, Perez said on many public occasions that Corbie be named president of the college. As for CUNY central, problems with the Board of Trustees, observers believe, may be partly responsible for the suspension of the president's search. With a new trustee position filled, the prospects for the job failure were any one of the five groups to be the position. He over the leadership of the college from Dr. Roscoe C. Martin, who retired after 16 years.

The time of Dr. Corbie's moment, it was assumed that he would serve for one year as acting president and a permanent community being in the fall 1994 semester. Clearly, no specific time had been placed on Corbie's tenure at BCC. The search effort was not as much a testament of Corbie's success as it is to problems at the college.

The students, who are quick to support for Dr. Corbie, say that the college has been running smoothly and effectively under his leadership.

BCC Begins To Remove Asbestos From Priority Sites On Campus

A consultancy firm of New York, which has been contracted to handle asbestos removal.

Sage, Havermeyer Annex, Sage Hall Annex, Gould Library, and the Arts Center are the initial areas identified by experts.

Excluding both track athletics and for volleyball, Diane is one of the fewer athletes who is involved in two sports and who is very good in both.

A Liberal Arts student who expects to graduate in June, she maintains a 3.5 GPA and is an event winner, eventual victory, as a member of the College's Women's Indoor Track team. Directly, she is a four-year member and returned a very fine 7.32 seconds in the 55-meter dash, later, in the BCC Invitational meet, the outdoor Albany Invitational meet, she tied for fifth place at 10.00.

The Soccer Team is considered one of the best in Athletic and Academic Excellence, under the leadership of first year head coach, Sam Eromosele. Most of the players maintain a grade point average of 3.0 or higher. Four athletes (Steve Bolden, Jubril Bish, Ali Mohamed, and Michael Ali) have been selected to the Academic All Americans by the National Junior College Athletic Association for their academic achievement. Steve Bolden has received the same honor. The team participated in the 2nd place tie in the Lucius Ripka Tournament after an 0-0 tie with the Regis College. The team was recorded as the best in the Northeast Conference. The team was selected to the Region XV All Star Team. Peter Silva and Benjamin Nsenu were selected to the Region XV All Star Team.

Steve Bolden was honored for the CUNY Scholar Athlete Award. He and Jubril Bish received recognition as Distinguished Academic All Americans by the National Junior College Athletic Association. The team has set a definite goal for next year: To capture the CUNY Championship. Since the majority of the team were freshmen, this goal should be accomplished next year.
This was a very young team this year, and team had strong finishes in several meets. The men's relay, led by Steve Thomas and Julio DeJesus, finished 6th in the NJCAA District Championships and 4th in their heat at the Penn Relays. Diane Augustus won the shotput event in the NJCAA District Championships and finished 6th in the 55 meter dash at the Colgate Women's Games. The women's relay also qualified 4th in their heat at the Penn Relays.

Diane Augustus was selected the CUNY Scholar Athlete for Community College Athletes. This award was for her athletic accomplishments, academic achievements, and service to the college and community. Her selection marks the third consecutive year that one of the four CUNY Scholar Athletes attended Bronx Community College.

TRACK AND FIELD
HIGHLIGHTS OF THE 1993-1994 SEASON

Bronx Community College had a successful Athletic year. Our Soccer Team took second place in the CUNY Championship, our Baseball Team also finished in second place in the CUNY Championship, and the Volleyball Team finished third in the CUNY Championship. We salute our exceptionally talented athletes.

Our student athletes are being honored for all the time, energy, and effort that they have given as members of Bronx Community College Interscholastic Athletic Teams. For most of you, a great deal of sacrifice was involved in juggling home, school, and work responsibilities in order to devote sufficient time for athletics. This Awards Presentation is our way of saying "Thanks" for your dedication and sincere effort.

We hope that the experiences you received as a member of a team have been most rewarding. Memories of wins and losses will fade away, but the remembrances of team spirit, striving for goals, and individual cooperation will last a lifetime. We hope that you will never forget us.

Someone once said "Defeat is not the worst of failures: not to have tried is true failure."

My sincere thanks to all coaches, the college administration, support staff, and students supporting the Athletic Program.

Congratulations!

You move on. Are you ready? — ready for the next level of education? for that job promotion? for the tution of finding a job? for the twists and turns that are the road of life?

A nswer to such readiness questions provides a meaning of the real meaning of your degree. We think that we often you ready, but do you feel ready? Does your elf have the confidence and assurance, without doubt, to move on?

ight wonder: what a time to pose this question, at the end I have finished. But the end never comes and we are finished — at least not while we are living.

ese, in fact, your degree, of itself, poses the question of itself, and the demands on you that can be expected from getting it are likely to force from you an answer. Unavoidable self-confrontation, which in any instance thing to be consciously sought, be guided by the or that the work habits that you have acquired and knowledge, skills, and insights that you have gained you tools for the daily work that goes into making you confident and self-assured person — a person who ready to engage life. Conscientiously use, expand, and these tools and the degree that you receive this June had have real meaning, signifying to others what your inner feelings verify: that, yes, you are ready.

Congratulations class of 1994 you have reached another plateau of your education. The yearbook members and I took turns sacrificing our personal agendas to complete this “Pegasus” yearbook. We covered as many events on campus as possible to make this book a memorable one for the graduating class of “94.”

The setbacks encountered by the yearbook staff were not unlike previous years. The only exception was the assignment of a new editor halfway through the semester. I accepted the position of editor because as a senior I felt obligated to participate. It was difficult and there were times when all of us wanted to quit and just be normal students again. If not for the dedication of the members this yearbook would not exist as of now. When I encountered problems I would consult my list of B.C.C. personnel whom I would like to acknowledge and thank for their timely effort and support:

1. Student development: Thank you Dean Rempson for your insight and active listening abilities. Thank you Janet and all office personnel for obtaining guest passes for us and for the use of the t.v. and vcr.

2. Student activities: Thank you Dr. Misick for your help in obtaining extra “93” yearbooks. Thank you Ingrid Tineo for proofreading my letters. Thank you Louis for helping us develop a letterhead design and computer related work. Thank you Regina for your typing services, and Sonya for your help with charter forms.

3. I.O.C.: Thank you Louis Bohorquez for helping with our request for supplemental funds. Thank you for helping us with the budget forms and taking messages for our organization and Ralph for assisting the studio photographer on days when I couldn’t.

4. College Relations: Thank you Sharlene Hoberman for pointing out key figures to photograph.

5. Faculty: Thank you Prof. Riley for your advice concerning my academic agenda. Prof. Carney for input concerning the yearbook, Prof. Sharpe for your experience. Dr. Corbie for your timely ideas letter to the graduates.

6. Craig Gilberts for helping us clean and organize the yearbook office.

7. Receiving dept.: Thanks guys, your help kept us on schedule and was appreciated.

8. M.O.S. Thank you Mr. B. for keeping our work space clean.

9. Yearbook staff: Last but not least thank you Curtis for your loyalty to taking photographs because with your efforts this yearbook would not exist now. Thank you Blendy for your timely arrival and countless pictures. Thank you Lillian for being there when I needed someone to do some heavy pushing, P.J. and Lisa for their expertise in painting our office. This is the fruit of your labor and experience your efforts as a proud and near regal accomplishment. Once again I would like to congratulate the students that made the class of 1994 a memorable one. Thank you members of “Pegasus” and all contributed, it’s been an experience.
