

City University of New York (CUNY)

CUNY Academic Works

Open Educational Resources

Queensborough Community College

2020

Wollstonecraft Discussion Questions

Susan Lago

CUNY Queensborough Community College

Alison Cimino

CUNY Queensborough Community College

Ilse Schrynemakers

CUNY Queensborough Community College

Susan Jacobowitz

CUNY Queensborough Community College

How does access to this work benefit you? Let us know!

More information about this work at: https://academicworks.cuny.edu/qb_oers/48

Discover additional works at: <https://academicworks.cuny.edu>

This work is made publicly available by the City University of New York (CUNY).

Contact: AcademicWorks@cuny.edu

Wollstonecraft Discussion Questions

Feminist texts:

- Ch. 2: “The Prevailing Opinion of a Sexual Character Discussed,” Vindication of the Rights of Women, Mary Wollstonecraft. 1792.
- Ain't I a Woman, Sojourner Truth. 1851.
- “Bad Feminist,” VQR Online, Roxane Gay. 2012.

Opening question (with thanks to the Hostos CUNY Core Book Discussion Group):

- Are you a feminist (Try using PollEverywhere or Survey Monkey)

Questions for each text:

- What is the source of inequality between men and women?
- What does each author want?
- What is the foundation for the author's arguments?

Reflection questions:

- What is feminist?
- Is there a right way to be a feminist?
- To what extent has the concept of feminism changed over the years?
- What is missing from any, or all, of these arguments?

Closing questions:

- Are you a feminist?
- Why did you change/not change your position?