SCHOOL PLANS OUTLINED.

Plant for 4,000 Students to Rise on Wood-Harmon Site.

Tentative plans for the erection of a new high school on part of the Wood-Harmon site in Flatbush where the new Brooklyn College is now under construction were made known yesterday by officials of the Board of Education.

While it was understood that a section of the land would be set aside for the construction of a secondary school when the Board of Estimate purchased the site a little over a year ago, no definite action was taken till Tuesday evening when the Board of Higher Education voted to grant a section of the tract to the Sinking Fund Commission for use by the Board of Education.

The new school will be known as the Midwood High School and probably will be located on Glenwood Road at Bedford Avenue. The cost of construction is estimated at between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000. The building will seat about 4,000 students.