Administrative costs of colleges can be controlled

Aldemaro Romero Jr.
CUNY Bernard M Baruch College

How does access to this work benefit you? Let us know!
Follow this and additional works at: https://academicworks.cuny.edu/bb_pubs
Part of the Higher Education Commons

Recommended Citation
Romero, A. 2017. Administrative costs of colleges can be controlled. The Edwardsville Intelligencer 2 October 2017, p. 3.

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Baruch College at CUNY Academic Works. It has been accepted for inclusion in Publications and Research by an authorized administrator of CUNY Academic Works. For more information, please contact AcademicWorks@cuny.edu.
Higher education is being attacked for many things from many directions. From the fiscal spectrum, we hear that colleges and universities are overstaffed. From students, we hear that colleges cost too much. From these perspectives, paired with increased calls for accountability, has generated a series of both federal and state laws calling for more oversight of the operations of these institutions, ranging from where students sleep down to whether campus business life is done as bargain-basement students.

This increased oversight, in turn, has created more administrative bloat on campuses and universities keeping increasing their administrative staff (largely pedagogically ineffective) classes. This creates sort of an unexpected alliance of those who are unsympathetic toward higher education, but know that many coaches at universities with prestigious athletic programs earn million-dollar salaries. It is well known that many coaches at universities with prestigious athletic programs earn million-dollar salaries. However, we can argue that these sports programs contribute little, if any, to the quality of the education of students.

The main recommendations of this report are several. One is that boards of trustees must be knowledgeable about administrative spending by asking their chief financial officers to report the administrative/operating cost ratio for the most recent fiscal year. This ratio is higher than the median ratio for schools of comparable size and budget.

Another recommendation is to create a financial administration committee to evaluate when boards are asked to sign off on large capital improvements and requirements, and utilization before authorizing new buildings, and once approved new ones.

This increased oversight, in turn, has created more administrative bloat on campuses and universities keeping increasing their administrative staff (largely pedagogically ineffective) classes. This creates sort of an unexpected alliance of those who are unsympathetic toward higher education, but know that many coaches at universities with prestigious athletic programs earn million-dollar salaries. It is well known that many coaches at universities with prestigious athletic programs earn million-dollar salaries. However, we can argue that these sports programs contribute little, if any, to the quality of the education of students.

The main recommendations of this report are several. One is that boards of trustees must be knowledgeable about administrative spending by asking their chief financial officers to report the administrative/operating cost ratio for the most recent fiscal year. This ratio is higher than the median ratio for schools of comparable size and budget.

Another recommendation is to create a financial administration committee to evaluate when boards are asked to sign off on large capital improvements and requirements, and utilization before authorizing new buildings, and once approved new ones.

County Man exonerated in murder settler for $9M

For the Intelligencer

CRAIG ROY — The city of Chicago filed a lawsuit Thursday against Equifax In¬
ependent of over a data breach that exposed about 140 million people, including Chicagoans. Mayor Rahm Emanuel said the complaint "will keep the privacy and needs of our residents and consumers front and center, while avoiding external and internal political scrutiny."

In addition to all this we need to remember the si
The inner workings of these complex institutions
Now open

The Tri-Township Park District has installed Phase 1 of the new playground equipment and is open to the public for use. The new playground is located by Pavilion 1 on the north side of the park, located in Troy. The new playground has two more additions yet to come that will be focused on fitness. These new additions will take several years to complete. Stop by and see one phase of the new playground equipment.

Chicago suing Equifax over large data breach

CRAIG ROY — The city of Chicago filed a lawsuit Thursday against Equifax In¬
ependent of over a data breach that exposed about 140 million people, including Chicagoans. Mayor Rahm Emanuel said the complaint "will keep the privacy and needs of our residents and consumers front and center, while avoiding external and
internal political scrutiny."

In addition to all this we need to remember the si

The inner workings of these complex institutions

The Chicago Civil Rights Coalition is a coalition of 20 organizations and law firms that brings together the political and legal communities to fight for racial equity.

The coalition works to ensure that policies and practices that disproportionately affect communities of color are identified and challenged. The coalition also seeks to improve the delivery of services to communities of color by ensuring that there is a dedicated staff and resources dedicated to serving these communities.

In addition, the coalition works to increase public awareness of the issues facing communities of color through education and advocacy.

The coalition’s goal is to create a more just and equitable society for all Americans by removing barriers to opportunity and creating pathways for success for all people of color.

Nutrition

"This gives the opportunity for families to learn how to side and to allow them to have physical activity for both parents and child that they’re able to enjoy together. Parents can pass on the love of fitness to their children instead of either child watching the parent or the parent watching the child. And it’s a great way to foster a sense of community and a sense of togetherness within the family and also for the community."

Families will receive several recipes each class. Those who sign up for the program will receive a monthly newsletter that will motivate them to maintain their fitness goals and have nutritious foods available in their homes.

"This gives the opportunity for families to learn how to side and to allow them to have physical activity for both parents and child that they’re able to enjoy together. Parents can pass on the love of fitness to their children instead of either child watching the parent or the parent watching the child. And it’s a great way to foster a sense of community and a sense of togetherness within the family and also for the community."

Families will receive several recipes each class. Those who sign up for the program will receive a monthly newsletter that will motivate them to maintain their fitness goals and have nutritious foods available in their homes.

"This gives the opportunity for families to learn how to side and to allow them to have physical activity for both parents and child that they’re able to enjoy together. Parents can pass on the love of fitness to their children instead of either child watching the parent or the parent watching the child. And it’s a great way to foster a sense of community and a sense of togetherness within the family and also for the community."

Families will receive several recipes each class. Those who sign up for the program will receive a monthly newsletter that will motivate them to maintain their fitness goals and have nutritious foods available in their homes.

"This gives the opportunity for families to learn how to side and to allow them to have physical activity for both parents and child that they’re able to enjoy together. Parents can pass on the love of fitness to their children instead of either child watching the parent or the parent watching the child. And it’s a great way to foster a sense of community and a sense of togetherness within the family and also for the community."

Families will receive several recipes each class. Those who sign up for the program will receive a monthly newsletter that will motivate them to maintain their fitness goals and have nutritious foods available in their homes.

"This gives the opportunity for families to learn how to side and to allow them to have physical activity for both parents and child that they’re able to enjoy together. Parents can pass on the love of fitness to their children instead of either child watching the parent or the parent watching the child. And it’s a great way to foster a sense of community and a sense of togetherness within the family and also for the community."

Families will receive several recipes each class. Those who sign up for the program will receive a monthly newsletter that will motivate them to maintain their fitness goals and have nutritious foods available in their homes.

"This gives the opportunity for families to learn how to side and to allow them to have physical activity for both parents and child that they’re able to enjoy together. Parents can pass on the love of fitness to their children instead of either child watching the parent or the parent watching the child. And it’s a great way to foster a sense of community and a sense of togetherness within the family and also for the community."

Families will receive several recipes each class. Those who sign up for the program will receive a monthly newsletter that will motivate them to maintain their fitness goals and have nutritious foods available in their homes.

"This gives the opportunity for families to learn how to side and to allow them to have physical activity for both parents and child that they’re able to enjoy together. Parents can pass on the love of fitness to their children instead of either child watching the parent or the parent watching the child. And it’s a great way to foster a sense of community and a sense of togetherness within the family and also for the community."

Families will receive several recipes each class. Those who sign up for the program will receive a monthly newsletter that will motivate them to maintain their fitness goals and have nutritious foods available in their homes.

"This gives the opportunity for families to learn how to side and to allow them to have physical activity for both parents and child that they’re able to enjoy together. Parents can pass on the love of fitness to their children instead of either child watching the parent or the parent watching the child. And it’s a great way to foster a sense of community and a sense of togetherness within the family and also for the community."

Families will receive several recipes each class. Those who sign up for the program will receive a monthly newsletter that will motivate them to maintain their fitness goals and have nutritious foods available in their homes.

"This gives the opportunity for families to learn how to side and to allow them to have physical activity for both parents and child that they’re able to enjoy together. Parents can pass on the love of fitness to their children instead of either child watching the parent or the parent watching the child. And it’s a great way to foster a sense of community and a sense of togetherness within the family and also for the community."

Families will receive several recipes each class. Those who sign up for the program will receive a monthly newsletter that will motivate them to maintain their fitness goals and have nutritious foods available in their homes.

"This gives the opportunity for families to learn how to side and to allow them to have physical activity for both parents and child that they’re able to enjoy together. Parents can pass on the love of fitness to their children instead of either child watching the parent or the parent watching the child. And it’s a great way to foster a sense of community and a sense of togetherness within the family and also for the community."

Families will receive several recipes each class. Those who sign up for the program will receive a monthly newsletter that will motivate them to maintain their fitness goals and have nutritious foods available in their homes.

"This gives the opportunity for families to learn how to side and to allow them to have physical activity for both parents and child that they’re able to enjoy together. Parents can pass on the love of fitness to their children instead of either child watching the parent or the parent watching the child. And it’s a great way to foster a sense of community and a sense of togetherness within the family and also for the community."

Families will receive several recipes each class. Those who sign up for the program will receive a monthly newsletter that will motivate them to maintain their fitness goals and have nutritious foods available in their homes.

"This gives the opportunity for families to learn how to side and to allow them to have physical activity for both parents and child that they’re able to enjoy together. Parents can pass on the love of fitness to their children instead of either child watching the parent or the parent watching the child. And it’s a great way to foster a sense of community and a sense of togetherness within the family and also for the community."

Families will receive several recipes each class. Those who sign up for the program will receive a monthly newsletter that will motivate them to maintain their fitness goals and have nutritious foods available in their homes.

"This gives the opportunity for families to learn how to side and to allow them to have physical activity for both parents and child that they’re able to enjoy together. Parents can pass on the love of fitness to their children instead of either child watching the parent or the parent watching the child. And it’s a great way to foster a sense of community and a sense of togetherness within the family and also for the community."

Families will receive several recipes each class. Those who sign up for the program will receive a monthly newsletter that will motivate them to maintain their fitness goals and have nutritious foods available in their homes.