Students Join United Front On May First

Five hundred students and instructors of the College are expected to be in the ranks of the International Labor Day celebration today. This is for the first time a United May Day Front has been achieved among all trade union, labor, liberal and political organizations and over 300,000 workers is estimated, will march in Fifth Avenue.

At the College, the Student Council, the College chapter of the ACLU, the 40 hour campaign and the Teachers' Union have passed resolutions urging students and instructors to march. The Student Council will sponsor an array of speeches and pamphlets concerning the expulsion of Morris U. Schappes. The Student Schappes Defense Committee will appear with a horse-drawn hearse bearing the legend, "Your Line Academic Freedom."

The Nelson Declaration of 1914 will be read in the center of the parade, the students will hold up the following slogan: "No Line Academic Freedom."

Professor Roedder Accepts Heidelberg Bid

Edward F. Roedder, chair of the German Department, has received an invitation to attend the 10th anniversary celebration of Heidelberg University in June. The Student Council yesterday, Professor Roedder did not represent the College, but he has received a bid in recognition of his scholarly activities and because he is the key speaker at the University.

In class, Professor Roedder has frequently denounced the Nazi regime and has vehemently condemned anti-Semitic activities.

Professor Roedder declined to give any further statement to The Campus because he was not informed of the proposal. He said that his appointment was a direct result of the proposal. He refused to comment on the question of the College's participation in the celebrations, but said that he might make a statement next week explaining his position.
