2011

War between north and south – in literature

Aldemaro Romero Jr.
CUNY Bernard M Baruch College

How does access to this work benefit you? Let us know!
Follow this and additional works at: https://academicworks.cuny.edu/bb_pubs

Part of the English Language and Literature Commons

Recommended Citation
https://academicworks.cuny.edu/bb_pubs/686

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Baruch College at CUNY Academic Works. It has been accepted for inclusion in Publications and Research by an authorized administrator of CUNY Academic Works. For more information, please contact AcademicWorks@cuny.edu.
The very idea of North and South has been part of the American political landscape for over a century. Yet few people realize the impact that the Civil War had on the history of the United States. This is the story of how two friends, Nathan Lewis and Alden Romero, are trying to bring the history of the Civil War to life through the medium of the arts.

Alden Romero College Talk

Continued from Page 1

The title of the talk is “Civil War Art: A Visual History of the North and South.” Romero said that the purpose of his presentation is to educate the audience about the role that art played in the Civil War. He will discuss how artists used their work to influence public opinion and promote their causes. Romero said that he hopes to inspire his audience to think critically about the role that art can play in shaping public discourse.

The presentation will take place on Friday, June 24, at 7:30 p.m. at the Sunset Hills Country Club. Tickets are $25 per person and can be purchased online at www.sunsethillscc.com or by calling 618-223-5800.

For more information, contact the Sunset Hills Country Club at 618-223-5800 or email info@sunsethillscc.com.