House Plan President Announces ACB Action

By Bob Brooks

Activities Coordination Board has done an injustice to student body, at large by forcing House Plan to run finances as internal House Plan affairs," stated House President Stewart Sandman. "Therefore they have invited any day session at, who is not a member of House Plan from attending."

man commented last week on ACB's recent suspension of Plan for a four-week commencing today which affect two dances planned for 12 and March 25. Major issue on hand concerning publicity rights for Mardi Gras ACB will meet tomorrow to decide whether or not Alpha Sigma, the national advertising fraternity, will have the publicity rights for this event. Under the stipulation that Plan's name will not appear on any of the posters. In all Mardi Gras publicity made no mention of Plan. Sandman stated that if no publicity available it would ticket sales to some degree, and would lead to financial loss. Mardi Gras proceeds will go to the Dancyon Cancer Fund and College Fund.

Speaking of the suspension of the House Plan President said, "I do not believe that any bureaucracy of seven students at our school, four of whom constitute a majority, should have almost

Motion Passed by Council Calling for Integration Aid

Student Council voted Friday to ask the students of the School to aid in a fight against discriminatory practices engaged in by two department stores in relation to their Southern lunch counter policies.

A circular will be distributed throughout the School calling for the students to picket in front of one of the New York branches of the stores.

The motion, which passed after much debate, 5-4-3, set first the date of the picketing up to the NAACP. However, later in the meeting, Arthur Schreiber, the originator of the motion, inserted a change which Council passed 12-1-2 setting the day for Saturday from 1-3 in front of the F. W. Woolworth store on 34th Street and Sixth Avenue.

The main reason for the change was that many opponents of the motion had pointed out that Council would merely be an intermediary group in these proceedings, and that the NAACP would be the controlling group.

Many of the supporters of the motion felt that students should be concerned with what goes on in the academic community, and that they shouldn't confine their interest solely to intra-school business and social activities.

The Uptown Student Government already has passed a similar resolution, which was brought to its attention by a petition initiated by Fred Mazels.

Recently, thirty-eight Negro students were arrested in Richmond, Virginia when they refused to leave counters and tables in a department store.

In Montgomery, Alabama, thirty-five Negro college students were refused service at a snack shop in the county courthouse.

Then, there were various Negro demonstrations staged in protest against segregationist activities. These took place in Tuskegee, Alabama; Winston-Salem, North Carolina; Hampton, Virginia; and Chattanooga, Tennessee where as many as 1,000 people marched through the streets.

These occurrences precipitated the petition.

In addition, the United States National Student Association has offered to help all students engaged in non-violent protests of unequal conditions throughout the country.

Don Hoffman, USNSA President, has said that his group "fully" supports the courageous and constructive action of students, Negro and white, who have acted upon their own initiative to change the present social conditions.

NSA National Affairs Vice-President Curtis B. Gans is currently in the South looking into

Students Set Back Forum

Partisan, mock political forum, sponsored by Student Council, is scheduled for Thursday 5, in 4 North at 12. Convention will attempt to discuss the National Conventions held later this summer. The school's many organizations will represent a diverse group. Convention will be preceded by spontaneous demonstrations, parades and caucuses. It opened with two keynote speeches, one Republican and one Democratic, by two "secret" presidential hopefuls. A committee, consisting of representatives from each organization, will be adopted. Formal procedures, a set of dates will be chosen. Standing individuals and groups, wishing to participate, should leave a note for Room 321. Student Council Treasurer said, "Only with the cooperation of all organizations can we have a democratic example of democratic action."

Three Unopposed Baruchians Defeated in Council Elections

By Bob Kaplan

Special elections to fill vacant Student Council offices were held Wednesday in Lounge C, from 10 to 3.

In the Class of '61 elections, Sydney Gartenberg, Jack Fox and John R. Coyle, all running unopposed, were defeated for the three open council seats in their class. Special elections will be held March 10 to fill the three open seats.

In the elections for the vacant seats, Joyce Siegel and Robert Brooks, both from the class of '61, won unopposed. Siegel received 60 "Yes" votes and 2 "No" votes while Brooks totaled 42 in the affirmative with 8 opposed.

Paul Pruzan with 34 "Yes" votes and 3 "No" votes took the vacant Class of '62 seat.

Bill Roskin defeated Eddie Lowe, 32-30, for the Class of '63 Executive Committee seat.

Eleanor Karp will fill the position of Recording Secretary. She was elected by Student Council at its meeting Friday.

Lee Brandeis, Ira Yudas and Marilyn Dunn are running for the two open Student Council seats in the entering Class of '64.

The four people running for the Class of '64 Executive Committee are Marilyn Michel, Martin Efman, Ann Lipman, and Carl Melnick.

All Class of '64 elections will be held in Freshman Assembly Friday.

Elections for the two positions on Insignium Committee are open to any person in the school. Anyone interested in the position must submit a letter to SC President Janet Weisberg and must come to the Council meeting Friday at 4.

Student Group Supports Selective Service Plan

The National Student Association has thrown its support behind a Selective Service bill sponsored by Senator Richard Neuberger (D-Ore.) and Representative Henry S. Reuss (D-Wis.).

The bill before Congress provides for a "Point Four Youth Corps" made up of men and women with at least two years of college training. The proposal would provide men with an alternative means of meeting their military service obligations.

Under the plan students participating in the program would train native teachers in English, biology and various other subjects. The program would thus be a part of the board technical assistance program conducted by the United States in many underdeveloped nations.

In line with its military manpower resolution NSA is urging campus support for the proposal.

The NSA manpower resolution urged that "A military manpower program should allow qualified students alternative ways of serving the country, so designed that each alternative insures that no qualified person may avoid his service obligation or bear less than his share of national defense."

In a recent survey of Metropolitan campuses the New York Post reported that college editors indicated growing sentiment for the Alternative Selective Service plan before Congress.

Included in the survey was the Queens College Phoenix which called the proposal "exciting and worthwhile."

Editors of the Colorado Daily termed the plan "constructive and meaningful" and the Utah Daily stated that it is "certainly worthy of consideration."

The Colorado Editorial however drew a stony reply from a veteran, Kenneth Green. He stated that although he did not question the program's overall objective, he did question the source of motivation which would prompt people to join.

"I believe that the average non-ROTC college man—at least on this campus—has little sense of patriotic responsibility, and that he detests the idea of having to serve in his country's armed forces."

Turning Point

Let's take a long look down South. Here we find that in the United States the rights of minority groups are being trampled in grandiose style under the watchful eye of global... This is a place where the Negro is genuinely frightened...

Realizing that words are never enough, we give whole-hearted support to Council's planned picketing of Woolworth. This department store has been chosen because a number of its southern branches have practiced discrimination...

The picketing of Woolworth's department store will act as a symbol for informing other stores that they cannot deny equal rights in the South while deriving the benefits and support of an integrated North.

These Negro student movements illustrate an unrest and growing discontentment with the slow progress of integration in the South. In the future, we may look back at these events which may not seem meaningful and realize that this was a turning point in the struggle for equal rights.

Worthy Proposal

The "Point Four" Selective Service proposal before Congress is a long awaited favorable event. For the past several years disapproval of the present Selective Service system has come from many quarters, although little in the way of concrete proposals have been advanced.

We hope the proposal is given careful and favorable consideration and that it opens the door to further alterations in the Selective Service Act. What underlies the need for reform in the draft laws is the fact that the vast technology of the United States and its principle adversary Russia have changed the manpower requirements necessary for mutual defense.

The United States in terms of manpower needs trained specialists in all fields of human knowledge who can aid in the present economic struggle with Russia for the allegiance of underdeveloped countries. The proposal before Congress not only provides the specialists, makes efficient use of American brainpower and manpower but also presents America College men with a means for honestly and effectively filling their military service obligations.

the sit-in strikes and will recommend a course of action for the Association.

All of the City Colleges have been contacted and Civil Liberties Committee Chairman Bert Weinstein has expressed confidence that President Buell G. Gallagher's recent criticism of student apathy toward racial integration would arouse student interest in this and similar actions supporting integration in the South and the North.

The uptown picketing will also take place Saturday, in front of the same stores. At first some Council members were opposed to a combination of the two groups because of the fear of a disorderly display, but most other representatives felt that a large organized turnout would be better than two separate demonstrations.

Schreiber, in explaining his motion noted that "it is not enough to just sign the petition" and that "only the turnout of a large number of students will insure the success of the venture." He urged those who believe in this sympathy picketing to "attend the demonstration and take an active part in a cause which they deem just."

Letters to the Editor

(The following letter was sent by Student Council to Mr. Aaron Zweifach, Business Manager of The Ticker.)

Dear Mr. Zweifach,
It is our opinion that the student faculty cafeteria committee should have at least been notified of the change you say you were forced to make in our cafeteria.

The fact that this committee is only an advisory board cannot be denied. However, since the committee never voted for such a change we feel that at least some further explanation on your part is in order.

The student voice in an advisory capacity has been greatly suppressed in this action. The Student Council is the body of this school. Your committee has completely reflected the opinion that the student body of this school. We deny this, and charge as editor of The Ticker bias in favor of breast and self vilification.

Last week, the Finance Club, a dynamic group, put their own newspaper, "The Financial Page," on you respond?

The answer is not at all. The Finance Society put an item of their own in The Ticker, no recognition would be given this event. As well not have gone a-kronk, however, for the limited in length by The Ticker appeared in the lower right corner of page four.

If you were as concerned about the situation in the school, you would not pretend to be, you would not have a student organization hold meetings when distinguished people in the finance press to over-voiced interested students, a hardly a sign of apathy.

We urge you to investigate the happenings at the school thoroughly before placing opinion in writing. Because of this incident, led to the conclusion that the basis for this apathy lies in The Ticker itself. Rudolph C. Joel

Youth Festival Viewed By Subpoenaed Student

Marvin Markman, January 1960 City College graduate and former chairman of the U.S. Festival Committee, will appear before the House Un-American Activities Committee in March.

Markman in a statement distributed to College newspapers noted that "The Americans at the Vienna Festival, as far as I could see, were for the most part trying to show that people of the United States were for peace and goodwill to the rest of the world.

"It was not always easy as there were some Americans there who we knew were sent there to cause trouble and to embarrass other Americans." Continuing he added, "Now that I have been subpoenaed to appear before that committee I would like to be able to tell them the whole story of why I went to Vienna and why I think other young Americans should be encouraged to meet and discuss with the youth of other countries.

"In case I am not allowed to tell my story to the Committee, I am writing this statement for others who may be interested. I became interested in the Youth Festival through my activity in the Student Council of the City College of New York from which I graduated in January 1960. "In the summer of 1958 I was a delegate to the 11th Congress of the U.S. National Student Association. There a number of other delegates and I felt that the USNSA should send an official delegation to the Vienna Festival. "We thought that this would provide an expression in an organized form of the feeling and attitudes of American students. I regret that the motion I made for such representation was not accepted by the USNSA," concluded Markman. The NSA Congress decided instead to encourage members to keep informed of the developments at the Vienna Festival and encouraged individual participation. NSA felt that official recognition of the Vienna Festival would raise the prestige of the Communist dominated propaganda effort.

NYU Defeats City, 72-54 As Sanders Leads Scoring

By Isaac Sultan
Special to THE TICKER

Big time College basketball died a silent death at City College last night. Except for the numerous "yeas," "boos" and "evils" from the small crowd, there was a quiet, whimpering finale to a tradition which has lasted for over a half-a-century.

Ironically enough, Professor Nat Holman, who recently returned from a leave of absence in Florida was on hand to root the Beavers on. The Professor made no indication concerning his return as Varsity Basketball Coach for next year.

Last night's game, in which New York University routed the Beavers, 72-54, was the last of the ties with the so-called "Big-time Colleges." The severing of the ties began with the infamous point-shaving scandals over one decade ago.

Nationally-ranked cage squads, such as NIT champions St. John's, and NYU, will no longer be regular opponents for Beaver hoop squads.

The debacle last night was a tight fussle until NYU decided to buckle down and play as an NCAA bound team should. It took them 17 minutes of play to break into a lead which City never headed.

Russ Cunningham opened the scoring for NYU but Tor Nilsen immediately came storming back for City and tied the score with a one-handed jump shot. The score blossomed out into a 6-2 NYU advantage after four minutes of play. But CCNY sharp-shooting by Nilsen and Mike Gerber stopped NYU dead in its tracks and the score stood at 8-8 after eight minutes.

Unbelievable accuracy by the CCNY shooters stunned the partisan crowd and City took a commanding lead of 23-17 with only 6:43 remaining on the clock.

However, led by Tom "Satch" Sanders' shooting, rebounding and defensive work, the Violets recaptured their pride and the lead by outscoring City, 17-6 during the remainder of the first half.

At half-time, the score was 34-29, in NYU's favor.

Going into the second half of play Sanders had 20 points to his credit. He added 12 more to his total, giving him 32 for the evening. In addition, Sanders grabbed 31 rebounds off the boards.

The second half was marked by very fast action and poor City shooting, passing and rebounding.

With 13 minutes left on the clock, NYU showed a 48-38 lead. They kept piling up the points with notable contributions by Ray Paprocky. Paprocky scored 13 points in the game.

NYU Balge With 3 minutes to go, NYU had a 22 point bulge. At this point, Nilsen with 15 points to his credit, fouled out. The last three minutes of play marked the end of City's ties with "Big-time" basketball opponents.

Leading City scorers was Gerber with 16 points.

In the freshman game, NYU brought in a team that was undefeated in 17 consecutive games. The Violet neophytes stretched their lead to 18 by annihilating the Beaver Cubs 102-75.

City was paced by Jerry Hershkowitz and Jerry Greenburg.

Beaver Fencers Lose Despite Studnick Upset

New York University's undefeated fencing team had the Beavers their worst defeat of the season, 22-5, Saturday, at the winner's court.

The only bright spot in the meet, which saw the Beaver epee, foil and sabre teams lose their decisions, was surprise victory by A. Studnick over Gene Glaser of NYU.

Mermen Win Final Match

The Beaver Swimming team finished its season with a flourish Wednesday, with a strong 59-35 win over Lafayette College.

Danny Goldin, who seems to have a penchant for setting records, broke his own record of 2:37.4 for the 200-yard Breast Stroke. His time fell just 1.5 seconds short of Drury Gallagher's metropolitan record.

With the score tied at 8-8, Mike Nemitog and Mike Bologofsky finished 1-2 in the fifty-yard free style to give the Lavender a lead they never relinquished.

Karl Ross finished second for the Beavers in the hundred-yard free style and Barry Shay picked up points in two different events.

Mike Bayuk and Nick West also were winners for the Beavers.

The team's record is now 5-4.

Studnick, who ripped Glaser 5-1, really upset his opponent who is a member of both Olympic and Pan-American teams.

The only other winners for the meet were All-American Andy Kemeny and Harold Mayer of sabre team who registered wins apiece.

In other fencing matters, Meyer and Kemeny, along with Mike Desaro of NYU combined fence in the Metropolitan Olympic Sabre Championships Sunday, placed fourth.

Their finish was remarkable that their competition was made up mainly of Olympic and National champions.

By their high finish, the fencers qualified for the National Championships to be held in June. From that event the event Olympic competitors will be selected.

Saturday the team will meet at Brooklyn College.
