Roosevelt, Javits Slated To Give Election Forum

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and Senator Jacob K. Javits will speak Thursday on the subject "Are The Real Issues of Presidential Campaign?"

Opponents of the motion felt that Cornell would be flouting Dean Emanuel Saxe by passing it, since the Dean had asserted that he will not excuse Baruch School students from any 2 o'clock classes they might miss if they attend the debate.

Senator Jacob K. Javits

it would be worth-while for as many students as possible to attend.

Opponents of the motion felt that Cornell would be flouting Dean Emanuel Saxe by passing it, since the Dean had asserted that he will not excuse Baruch School students from any 2 o'clock classes they might miss if they attend the debate.

(Text of the letter and the Dean Emanuel Saxe's reply are printed.)

The Dean's reply was submitted to Council at the opening of the meeting in answer to a letter sent to him by Student Council President Howard Mishal, and Editor-in-Chief of THE TICKER Dave Podoff.

Student Council Meeting:

Budget Passed With One Change

Howard Mishal

Student Council passed semester's budget, 17-1, at its meeting Friday. The only change from the proposed budget appearing THE TICKER last week, a deletion of $50 from Coffee and Music Hour, the addition of this sum to the National Student Association's Convention account.

Other matters, Council passed motion, 16-0-1, mandating that Mishal, its representative to the Faculty Committee on Student Activities, to bring up discussion the personal financial responsibility of faculty advisor at the college.

The motion states, "If the current policy is that the faculty advisor is personally responsible for financial loss incurred by his organization, then the Council representative to FCSA should attempt to change this to be that faculty advisor is not personally responsible for financial loss and the ultimate responsibility is born by the organization itself."

In voting the resolution, the maker of the motion noted that the senior class advisor, Professor Bernard Bernush, chairman of the History Department,

Gallagher Presents Report To Substantiate Accusations Against 'Observation Post'

By Bruce Markens

Special to THE TICKER

President Buell G. Gallagher yesterday characterized Observation Post as "Marxist-oriented" and specifically stated that the views of its editor-in-chief, Peter Steinberg, are "sympathetic to communism."

Dr. Gallagher presented his views in a report entitled: "On Freedom, Power and Responsibility" in an attempt to further document his charges against the Uptown day session newspaper.

Steinberg replied that "basically the report is intellectually dishonest because it takes a disagreement on views on different questions and attaches labels to them."

The President emphasized that his "case for the accuracy of the descriptive phrases 'Marxist-oriented'" and "Communist sympathizers" rested on the "columns of OP itself."

He reiterated that in the final editorial of last term, OP called for "the recognition of the class struggle as a fact of life at City College." The President further noted that the editorial specifically begins by referring to the "class struggle."

The espousal of the class struggle as a fact of student-faculty relations is...a fundamental index of Marxist orientation," Dr. Gallagher concluded.

The second charge discussed by the President revolved around the issue of the Vienna Youth Festival and OP's and Steinberg's part in it.

President Buell G. Gallagher

Dr. Gallagher asserted that after OP had been "captured" it gave wholehearted, enthusiastic praise to the Festival. He further noted that Steinberg was co-founder of "the so-called Vienna Youth Festival Club" organized at the College.

The President emphasized that he did not question the "right" of Steinberg to support the Festival nor to "entertain" and "express" communist sympathies.

However, "one cannot be engaged in an active propaganda effort in support of a communist sponsored and Soviet-financed 'Vienna Youth Festival' and at the same time claim that one is out of sympathy with communist purposes," Dr. Gallagher concluded.

Moreover, the President took issue with a column jointly signed by Steinberg and his predecessor as editor-in-chief Mrs. Sandra H. Rosenblum which analyzed various aspects of the Festival's activities.

The President asserted that there was a "cleavage and forceful taking over" of the American delegation (by Communists)—"facts confirmed by the press and independent observers."

The article in question made no note of the "cleavage" and "taking over" to which Dr. Gallagher referred. The article noted that there were "two distinct groups" within the American delegations, but denied that "political labels" distinguished them.

In addition, the article by Steinberg and Mrs. Rosenblum asserted that the only "violence" that occurred at the Festival was the "jostling of a few individuals." They said the jostling incidents were "regrettable" but emphasized that "no one was injured at any time."

Hillel Lecture Program Schedules Dispenzieri

Mr. Angelo Dispenzieri, a psychology instructor, will open this semester's Hillel Forum Series. He will speak on the topic, "Competency and Mental Health." The discussion will take place Thursday at 12:30 at Hillel, 144 East 24th Street.

Mr. Dispenzieri has been teaching at City College for six years. In January he expects to receive his Ph.D. degree from the New York University Graduate School of Arts and Sciences.

In 1953, he graduated from City College, a member of the first graduating class in Industrial Psychology.

In the past, he has worked as a project director on a series of studies for an Industrial Consulting Organization, written an instruction manual on "Industrial Psychology," worked on a series of studies on sales motivation for Esso, and evaluated a training program for Westinghouse.

In Hillel's first forum last semester, Professor Maurice C. Benowitz of the Economics Department, and Professor Andrew J. Lavender of the English Department, highlighted a discussion entitled, "If I Were a Student."

The second discussion was on the subject, "Is Anti-Semitism a World-Wide Danger Today." The panel featured Hilde Marx, journalist and dramatic monologist and Aryeh Simon, executive director of the Student Zionist Organization.

The forthcoming political forum, featuring Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and Senator Jacob K. Javits, affords students of the City College an excellent opportunity to hear distinguished representatives from the two major parties. The Uptown chapter of the American Association of University Professors is to be commended, both for arranging this fine program and for scheduling it at a time that will enable Baruch School students to reach the Uptown Campus.

The forum, commencing at 12:45, will end about 2 and downtown students who have afternoon classes will thus be unable to attend.

It was for this reason that the Student Council President, under a mandate from Council, and the Editor-in-Chief of THE TICKER, last week requested that Dean Emanuel Saxe excuse students who attend the forum from their two o'clock class.

Dean Saxe, in a reply reprinted on this page of THE TICKER, denied the request. In making the distinction between this occasion and the Student Center opening ceremonies, when fifty student leaders were excused from class, the Dean notes that such decisions with respect to events scheduled at the Baruch School are made on the basis of the particular circumstances of each case.

Undoubtedly he felt, either because of the importance of the opening ceremonies, or because of our obligation to the guests, it was necessary to excuse students from their classes for this Baruch School event. What effect the locality of the event had on the decision is hard to determine from the Dean's reply.

We must disagree completely with the basis of the Dean's decision. It is our opinion that the forum is more important than the center opening. True, we may have had certain obligations to the guests who attended but why weren't only those students who had free hours invited to attend?

Furthermore, we feel that the political forum has more significant educational value than spending one-half hour in the lobby of the student center waiting for a ribbon to be cut. The Dean's decision is unwise. The emphasis on what is important is misplaced.

We strongly urge all students to attend. The forum will more than compensate for anything missed in one class hour. We also suggest that Student Council continue with its previous plans and distribute passes to those who attend and hope that some faculty members feel that the event is important enough so as to warrant an excused absence for those who attend.

ACB Paradox

Student Council voted Friday to grant the Activities Coordination Board $800 in fee money for member clubs, representing an increase of $250 over last semester. At the same meeting, portions of the ACB charter were suspended, thus allowing the selection of coordinators without previous committee experience.

To us, the passage of these two motions seems paradoxical. The clubs continually cry over the fact that they apply for a $150.41 appropriation and only are granted $13.12. They complain that they haven't sufficient funds with which to operate and administer their activities.

Yet, when it comes time for the clubs to send qualified representatives to the ACB meetings, and to select workers for the numerous ACB committees, these same clubs vanish from the scene.

If member clubs care sufficiently about their club program to ask for increased amounts of money, we feel they should care enough to work on the ACB committees.

ACB should not have had to ask for permission to appoint persons to the executive board who have never in the past worked on one of its committees. The capabilities of anyone presently appointed under the new rules is not in question; rather the issue of club cooperation is being raised.

In the future, member organizations should be willing to meet the Board halfway, for any permanent revision of the charter along the lines adopted Friday night would be a step away from the democratic process of selecting executives according to past work and exhibited capabilities.

Letters

To the Editor of THE TICKER:

When we accepted the responsibility for transforming the Children's Court into a Student Center, we realized all too well certain building limitations. We accepted the fact that the elevator is small and cannot possibly accommodate the students. Let me say that it has long been the practice upstairs in Shepard Hall, to limit the use of the elevator to students who are incapacitated and to faculty.

As all students know, we planned a bridge from the fourth floor which should allow the use of the Baruch School elevators. We very much regret the delay in finishing the bridge, due to circumstances beyond our control.

In the meantime, the rule that the Center elevator may not be used by students must stand.

Ruth C. Wright

Eggheads

Professor William Turner Levy, as part of the Sigma Alpha egghead program, will conduct a seminar in some desirable area of literature. Professor Levy, a member of the English Department, said he feels the seminar should supplement the curriculum by dealing with material not covered in the curriculum.

Students wishing to participate will have the opportunity to select the desired area of study by meeting Dr. Levy in the English Office (824) today at 3.

log and have its functions taken over by the other ACB executives. He also pointed out that it has been difficult to find competent students to serve as coordinators and one of those who has been appointed did not serve on an ACB committee last semester.

Kleiman explained that the suspension of the functions of the coordinators would not erase these functions, but would leave them open for change in order to meet any impending difficulties.

In the freshman elections for the Fall Open section of Student Council, Alan Jones, who polled 274 votes; Barry Mintzes, 239; Maddie Sacks, 266 and Ann Reich, 242 defeated Jean Plotkin, 220; Susan Syller, 209; Harvey Kornberg, 170; Elliot Blatt, 151; Robert Seawall, 128 and Lynn Kenner, 112.

In the neophytes' election for their class council Sharon Teitler, Sam Leibov, Richie Mesh, David Shulman, Joanne Benjamin, Jeffrey Lamblin, Herbert Stern, Jeffrey Landau and Steven Levenson won nine of the ten open positions.

Mike Elkin and Karen Krutz are tied for the tenth spot and thus there will be a re-count of ballots. Those defeated in the election include Alles Grubman, Dave Alberts, Carol Blumenthal, Gene Busnar and Bob Traube.

The Dean Replies

and the event extended into hours?

The Dean's Reply

Your letter of October 12, written jointly with the Student Council President, Howard Mishell and the Editor-in-Chief of THE TICKER. The Dean's reply follows the questions.)

On Thursday, October 20 at 12:45 a political forum is being held at the Flinley Student Center. The forum, featuring Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and Senator Jacob K. Javits has been scheduled at a time that will allow downtown students to attend. It is the opinion of our organizations, that it is important for Baruch School students to attend this event. It is also felt that those students who do attend should be excused from their two o'clock class.

1) Would you excuse Baruch School students who attend the forum from their two o'clock class?

2) Don't you feel that in the light of Governor Rockefeller's statement urging students to participate in political affairs that it is important for all City College students to attend?

3) Any decision of this sort respecting this event from the Student Center Opening Ceremonies when fifty student leaders were excused from classes?

4) Doesn't an event that occurs at the City College affect all students on both campuses?

5) If students who have 2 o'clock classes, desire to attend the forum and you do not give them excused absences, what would you suggest they do?

6) Would your answer to question number 1 be otherwise if the event was being held downtown?

Final Casting Slated by Theatron Players

Theatron will hold final casting for this term's production of "Born Yesterday" this evening at 6:30. The last set of preliminary casting will be held from 2-6 today in auditorium.

"Born Yesterday" opened on May 24, 1959 and was a resident actor at the Penobscot Playhouse in Holden, Michigan last summer.

"Born Yesterday" was written and directed by Garson Kanin, one of Broadway's most successful directors. Many will remember his brilliant direction of "The Diary of Anne Frank."

The play takes place in Washington hotel where Billie has come with Hazz Brock, the vulgar, egotistical junk millionaire who thinks he can change America with the power of his money. Hazz is embarrassed by Billie's dumbness and lack of social grace, and hires Paul Verrall, a young and brilliant reporter to educate her.

Apparitions for the two-hour sessions, date and time to be determined by majority choice are at 60% of the student center.

Leader Course Set By Society

Dr. Irving Greger, Director of House Plan, announced the commencement of the Interpersonal Leadership Training Program sometime next week. All upperclassmen except lower freshmen may apply for the six weeks course.

"The nature of the training will be geared to understanding and improving the dynamics of group interaction and the consequences of participative action," stated Dr. Greger.

Applications for the two-hour sessions, date and time to be determined by majority choice are at 60% of the student center.

ACB

There will be a Council of Presidents meeting tomorrow at 4 in 209 of the student center. All clubs must have a representative present.

Steinberg, on the other hand, asserted that CP's method of recruiting activists referred to "modest name" reflected in America's 17 years of history. Steinberg was object to the idea of having a banner demanding that Hungary be freed from communism.

Steinberg added that now were there, we attended the festival and we wrote what we saw and heard. If a banner was attached to that, then a label could be attached to many other things.

Steinberg's position on the Hungarian was welcomed in the room. However, Dr. Galvin emphasized, "It is of some significance that when given the opportunity to express that again in 1960, he carefully avoided doing so."

Furthermore, the President stayed in the three years Steinberg has been associated with OP, he has "never once written a single word of criticism or even a question regarding the Soviet Union, the growth of communism power in the world or the Hungarian cause."

In summary of the accusations against OP, Dr. Galvin said, "I do not assert that any more than the necessary number of people share his Steinberg's views. But I do insist that his own views are definitely clear and that they are unquestionable."

According to his report, the President emphatically stated that his views remain those learned rather than disseminated by the Marxist-oriented student movements in the nation. He added, "And to the best of my knowledge, communism cannot be killed by logic, by force and tradition." No single men have been killed.

Brockport Defeats Beavers, 1-0 To Snap Lewisohn Win Streak

By Bruce Bierbryer

One goal and one player stood between City College and an important victory over powerful Brockport State Teachers College, Saturday at Lewisohn Stadium.

The goal, scored by Richard Barnhart, enabled the Golden Eagles to defeat the Beavers 1-0. The loss was the first home game defeat since 1952 for City. The player was honorable mention All-American halfback William Heyen, whose defensive play repeatedly held the Lavender team scoreless.

In the first half Brockport controlled the game except for a few breakaways by City, which failed to materialize. The only goal of the game was scored at 18:45 of the second quarter.

The second half saw the Beavers rejuvenate playing inspired ball and controlling most of the play.

At the outset of the third quarter, an indirect penalty kick by Eloy Pereira hit the Brockport crossbar, and the rebound attempt by Aldo Gambardella hit the side post, just inches short of tying the game.

In the closing five minutes of the game, Harry Karlin's men really put the pressure on the Golden Eagles. On one play Aldo Gambardella deftly got past halfback Heyen to get a clear shot at the goal, but the ball was stopped by the goalie.

With two and a half minutes left to play, the Beavers again came very close to tying the game. Eloy Pereira kicked one which the Brockport goaltender blocked over the top of the goal. The last-minute rallies gave the small but enthusiastic crowd much to cheer about.

The Brockport coach, Huntley Parker, said after the game "City is the best team we have played this year, even stronger than Army." He thought the defeat would not hurt their chances for national recognition, since playoff spots are determined by points. Due to the fine showing by the Beavers, Parker thought they would get a high rating.

The last time C.C.N.Y. lost a soccer game at Lewisohn Stadium was in 1952, and the last time it lost a non-league game was in 1954 to Army.

Earlier this week City defeated

New York State Maritime Academy 7-1, with Wolfgang Scherer pacing the attack with four goals.

This was the Beaver's second win in Metropolitan Conference play.

Tomorrow the Beavers will play Long Island University, coached by Gary Rosenthal, who is set on improving last year's record of 0-9.

The annual alumni-varsity game will be played at Lewisohn Stadium Saturday. Many of the stars of former Beaver teams will be participating in this game.
