Student Council Passes SA Referendum Move

Student Council, by a vote of 17-4-1, passed a motion today to hold a student referendum during the school-wide elections in May, concerning the Baruch School's affiliation with the National Student Association.

Artie Schreiber, president of the council, stated that the outcome of the votes cast during the referendum will be binding on future councils. Some representatives had been clear on this point.

The first part of the referendum reads: a) you wish the Baruch School to continue its membership in N.S.A. or b) you wish the Baruch School to discontinue its membership in N.S.A.

The second part of the referendum concerns the money allocated to partly subsidize the expenses incurred by the N.S.A. delegates and alternate delegates. The students will have a choice of: a) you wish Student Council to continue its subsidies to N.S.A. delegates or b) you wish Student Council to discontinue its subsidies to N.S.A. delegates.

Although section one was easily passed, 21-1-1, the second part of the referendum was finally passed by a vote of 12-9-1. The proponents of section two argued that it was necessary since students do not realize that their fees go to N.S.A.

delegates. They also noted that some Baruchians may be in favor of an affiliation with N.S.A., but against allocating funds for representatives to the summer congress.

The opponents contended that if the students want N.S.A. they must be willing to pay for it. They argued that if the student body favored our association with the national group, but vetoed subsidizing it, it would, in effect, ruin the affiliation.

State Senate Passes Bill for City University

The city colleges moved closer to university status last Monday night when the State Senate unanimously approved half of the two Zaretski-Brook bills. The second half is now in the Assembly.

However, the legislation makes no change in the present tuition-free policy of the colleges. Introduced by Senator Joseph Zaretski, minority leader of the Senate and Assemblyman John R. Brook, the bills are designed to clear the way for expansion of the present curriculum to include graduate work towards doctoral degrees. The municipal colleges may not now grant degrees above the master's.

B.H.E. Chairman Gustave G. Rosenberg said, "If the question of free undergraduate tuition comes later, we will tackle it then."

Last December a Board of Higher Education Committee to Look to the Future proposed the reorganization of the municipal colleges into a City University of New York. Soon thereafter, Mayor Robert F. Wagner, the Board of Regents, and various educational groups came to the proposals' support.

University status would result in the combination of the seven municipal colleges (City, Hunter, Brooklyn, Queens and the three community colleges) into an uncoordinated system with retention of individual autonomy.

In urging support for the bills, the B.H.E. declared that university status would allow the seven municipal colleges to be used to the fullest extent.

The University would offer two-year and four-year undergraduate work, cooperative master's and doctor's degree programs, professional schools of engineering, business and public administration, social work and such other advanced training as our fast-developing economy requires in the future."

At a recent press conference, Dr. Buell G. Gallagher, president of City College, indicated the types of legislation he would support. They included the following:

- bills recognizing the City University of New York.
- bills authorizing the University to give Ph.D.'s.

- bills which embodied no change in existing statutes which provide for undergraduate education "gratuitously" at the municipal colleges and

- bills which would provide for the flow of funds through the State Department of Education and through "no other channels."

The President also said that he saw "no possibility of this Legislature imposing a tuition charge on the municipal colleges."

He stated that many of the College's departments are planning for a doctorate program, but did not indicate when such plans would be ready to be put into operation.

If the Assembly also passes the bill, it will give New York City

Rockefeller Report Plans Raise Constitutional Issue

By Joe Traum

Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller's proposal for $200 a year grants to resident students at private colleges has ignited much controversy. According to the Board of Regents, it would violate the New York State Constitution, because funds cannot be given "directly or indirectly, in aid or maintenance of any school or institution of learning wholly or in part under the control or direction of any religious denomination."

Governor Rockefeller's proposal for every full-time undergraduate resident student in New York State paying $500 or more in tuition at a New York college or university would receive $200 a year from the state. This payment would be forwarded regardless of the student's financial position or academic standing.

State majority leader Walter J. Doherty claims that the proposal does not violate the doctrine of separation of Church and State. In announcing his full support for the measure, he declared that the state-supported private colleges and religious institutions are open to students of all faiths. He stated, "According to legal sources of unchallenged competency whom I have consulted, a student-incentive-award program is constitutional, just as are our long established regents' scholarships."

Additional support for the program was voiced by the Commission on Independent Colleges and Universities of the State Association of Colleges and Universities. The Commission said of the Governor's plan that it was "characterized by vision, imagination and a desire to preserve the traditional balance between public and private higher education."

The Governor himself claimed that "no bill that we will draw will in any way violate the provisions of the constitution or evade them."

Since the proposal, more protest mail has been received against it than for any other proposal before the 1961 legislature. Many of the protests stem from the belief that schools will raise their tuition by about $200, thus giving the aid not to the students but to the colleges. This might give the state some control of privately owned colleges.

Senator John H. Hughes, a Republican, exhibited this feeling by saying that opposition was based on "procedures" rather than possible conflict with the constitutional ban against state aid to schools controlled by religious denominations.

Because of the vast opposition to the proposal, Senator Joseph Zaretski of Manhattan, the Democratic minority leader, predicted the opposition to $200 grants would force the administration to accept

Groth to Discuss Eichmann At First Hillel Forum Talk

By Marilyn Karlin

Dr. Alexander Groth of the Government Department will initiate Hillel's Spring Forum Series Thursday at 12:15, at the Hillel quarters, 144 E. 24 Street. The topic of discussion will be Adolf Eichmann, the Nazi commander now awaiting trial in Israel for crimes against humanity.

Dr. Groth, born in Warsaw, Poland, in 1932, was a survivor of the Warsaw Ghetto. He and his mother later escaped from a prison train bound for Auschwitz. After going to high school in the United States, he entered City College.

While in C.C.N.Y. he was elected to Phi Beta Kappa and was graduated magna cum laude with a B.A. In addition, he holds both a masters and a doctorate in Government from Columbia University.

Dr. Groth began teaching at the Baruch School last semester, at which time he contributed to THE TICKER Literary Supplement in an article entitled, "The Crisis in Our Foreign Policy."

William Herberg will speak at the second Hillel lecture-seminar March 9. He has chosen "Existentialism in a Jewish Perspective" as the topic for discussion. There will be an informal luncheon which will be followed by an open seminar and discussion by Mr. Herberg.

Rabbi M. Jacobovits, formerly chief rabbi of Ireland, will speak on "Love and Marriage" on a date to be announced.

Last term the Hillel Forum Series presented Dr. Angelo Dispenzari of the Psychology Department, who spoke on "Competency and Mental Health." Major Mordecai Daina, Armed Forces chaplain, talked about "Interfaith Relations in the Armed Forces" in the second lecture. In the final forum address, Dr. Fred Israel of the Baruch School History Department spoke about "The Roosevelt Haters."

A Step Forward

The State Senate last week took the first half of what we hope will soon become an all-encompassing, momentous step toward the practical expansion of New York State higher education.

A City University of New York, with long and rich graduate degree courses, is long overdue and we hope the Assembly will quickly clear the way for its commencement. The present conditions in the field of higher education in this, the nation's richest state, are deplorable and it is time constructive and effective moves were made to obviate this situation. The City University is such a move.

However, we are dissatisfied with the tenor of recent talks concerning municipal college tuition fees. We believe this is a matter of grave importance and consequence and wish to hear more in the way of obligating and compelling opinions, especially from legislative leaders. The need for these people to indicate forthright what they believe in and what they would support is an insuperable one.

Governor Rockefeller, by declaring that the Board of Higher Education should have jurisdiction in this matter, took a devious step around the issue. He did not say whether or not he is in favor of a tuition charge, and overall did not take a binding stand on the question of free higher education.

The tuition problem is not one to be tossed off lightly or left for future debate. The issue is "hot" now and in the public eye and it is always best to make decisions when issues are under full debate and surveillance.

Of immediate concern to educators and students alike in regard to impending university status of the municipal colleges is the matter of autonomy—that is, equality with and separateness from the State University system.

This is a tricky business, for all state funds must legally go through a State agency before they may be diverted to the municipal colleges. President Gallagher has said that he wishes these funds to go through the State Department of Education and not the Board of Regents in order to maintain full autonomy, and in this we fully concur.

If the City University of New York, with problems and policies unique to an urban, centralized university, is to function best, then it must operate under circumstances in which it is not bound by monetary ties to the State University.

This university must be responsible to the B.H.E., not the Board of Regents; it must be supported as an individual body and not as an annex of the State University; and it must be given every opportunity to grow and change as its administrators alone decide it.

A City University of New York can be a great boon to higher education in this state and in the country. We hope that future events will never impede the institution or advancement of such a university.

Censorship Claim Mad City University... By Texas Student Editor

(UPS) The editor of the Texas Ranger, a humor magazine at the University of Texas, resigned last week claiming that censorship had been imposed against the magazine.

Lynn Ashby, the resigning editor, called the censorship of the Ranger "totally beyond the bounds of what it was intended for." An article concerning Dr. Logan Wilson, recently resigned chancellor of the University, was censored by a three-man Ranger Editorial Advisory Committee.

The censorship decision was upheld by the Board of Texas Student Publications, Inc., the publishers of the magazine. Ashby had called a special meeting of the T.S.P. Board to appeal on the grounds that it was unjustified and without merit.

In a letter addressed to the Board, Ashby said, "Since the Ranger calls itself the 'Student' magazine of the University of Texas, but it no longer is that, I prefer to spend my spare time drinking beer, instead."

Later in the letter, written in typical Ranger style, Ashby wrote, "Until the Texas Ranger is returned to the students for what was intended, no editor would of the name will tolerate the conditions which now prevail to the magazine."

Ashby added that "the censorship of the story concerning Dr. Wilson was an act by T.S.P. of protecting the sacred cow. This was not vulgar or obscene. People can take or leave it, as they wish. The story had nothing vicious or dirty beyond the point of common sense."

Plans...

This plan recommends that state scholarships, now given to 5 percent of high school graduates, be made available to the upper 50 percent.

Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino, a supporter of the Rockefeller plan, said that it will not be pressed as a "party measure." Therefore, if the bill comes to a vote, Republicans will be free to vote for or against it without incurring the displeasure of the majority leadership.

Carlino also proposed that the state underwrite student loans of $1,500 a year to a maximum of $7,500 during the student's academic career.

Gage Enlisted as Director Of 1961 Theatron Program

By Joyce Siegel
Theatron has enlisted the professional help of Mar Gage as director of this term's production, "Damn Yankees." Gage is responsible for transforming the ink-and-paper Theatron manuscript into an imaginative theater work.

Gage brings to the Baruch School stage a storehouse of experience in theatrics. His theatrical career began with small theater groups and has now earned him a recognized position in the professional acting fraternity.

Included among his accomplishments are television appearances on major networks in such shows as Studio One and the Kaiser Aluminum Hour. Gage has performed throughout the United States at the Golden Slipper on Long Island, The Bradford Roof in Chicago and The El Rancho in Las Vegas.

In addition, he has gained valuable and rewarding experience in summer stock by playing starring parts in "Wish You Were Here," "Say Darling," and "The Boy Friend." His encompassing background in summer stock has helped to equip Gage to deal with the problems peculiar to a college play production.

The largest problem in this year's production stems from the extremely large cast needed for "Damn Yankees." In addition, someone is needed to instill life

Beavers Split Two Games; Kings Point Beats City To Play Hunter and Rider In Dual Swim Contests

By Lew Lipsel

City College's basketball team split two Tri-State League games this week, beating Bridgeport 84-72 Wednesday night and losing to league-leading Fairfield 76-47 Saturday. The Beavers will play two more league games this week, traveling to Hunter College tomorrow night and playing host to Rider Saturday.

The victory over Bridgeport brought into prominence a new Beaver playmaker — Baruchian Mike Winston. Winston's 15 point performance was of only secondary importance to his playmaking, which set up many scores and his ball-handling, which protected the Beaver victory.

Leading only 37-36 at the half, the Beavers exploded in the second half to steadily move away from their opponents.

Tor Nilson hit 19 points to lead the Beavers and was followed by Shelly Bender with 17, Winston with his 15, and Irwin Cohen with 14.

Also impressive was sophomore

Don Sidat who tallied ten points, with 17 points, his career high, earning himself a starting position in the Fairfield game.

Fairfield came into the game with an 8-0 league record and had already clinched the league title for the second consecutive year.

The game was little contested as the Beavers had trouble finding their shooting eyes. Fairfield led at the half, 37-22 as Winston was the only Beaver hitting the mark. He had 11 points at the half. C.C.N.Y. hit for only 22 per cent of their shots in the first half.

The hoopsters, who played so well in the Bridgeport game, could do nothing right on their home court. Nilson and Sidat had trouble finding the mark as Fairfield steadily pulled away.

Bob Hutter led Fairfield scorers with 23 points, followed by Nick Marachuck with 15 and Bob Jenkins with 12.

Winston was top man for City

Nilson followed him with 11.

Hunter Game

Hunter will pose one main problem for City which will be stopping 6-8 Charley Rosen. Rosen is one of the Tri-State League's top scorers and recently scored 43 points. He is averaging about 25 points per game.

Rider, who recently upset highly rated American University, is led by Bill Gramlich, a member of the All-League team past year. Rider has a 2-2 league record and is tied for fourth place with City.

City's Junior Varsity also split two games, losing to the C.W. Post frosh, 73-59 and trouncing Queens, 79-55.

High scorers were Baruchian Rudy Rimanich in the Post game and Lenny Gurin in the Queens game with 19 and 22 points respectively.

By Mel Beranick
The Beaver swimmers copped only four first places they lost to Kings Point, 51-44, Friday in the victor's pool. The loss was City's second of the season against six winners. The United States Merchants' Marine Academy is now 3-2.

Levene Wins

The 200-yard individual medley was won by Morris Levene of C.C.N.Y. in 2:33.6. Bob Wohlleber, a sophomore, placed first in the 200-yard backstroke for City. The 200-yard breaststroke went to Beaver star Danny Goldin in 2:42.4. Levene placed second in this event. The Lavender's final first place finish came in the 400-yard freestyle relay. Mike Bologovsky, Ralph Cohen, Carl Ross and Wohlleber were the winning swimmers in this event.

Fencing

C.C.N.Y.'s fencing team won its second victory of the season by crushing Brooklyn College, 20-7, Saturday.

The fencers visit Harvard, Wednesday, February 22.

For Kings point: Vick O'Bo won the 200-yard butterfly event and Joe Mullally finished first the 100-yard freestyle.

These two men along with Keny Mandel and Mike Worth copped the 400-yard medley to pace Mariners win.

Beavers Hampered

The Beavers were hampered the meet by the loss of Nick West, an outstanding diver for three seasons, through graduation. Senior Norm Kaplan was entered the dive event for C.C.N.Y. placed third.

West was City College's "Alete of the Year" in 1960. The prize is presented annually by class of 1913.

The mermen will host power New York University, Wednesday, February 22. Last year the Vio won the meet, 60-34.

A visit to Lafayette will elude out the season, Saturday, February 26.
