

President Gallagher to Resign Post To Head California College System

APR 11 1961

BHE Committee to Choose Successor to Top Position

Dr. Buell G. Gallagher, president of City College for nine years, announced last Friday that he will resign his position in order to become the first chancellor of California's State College system.

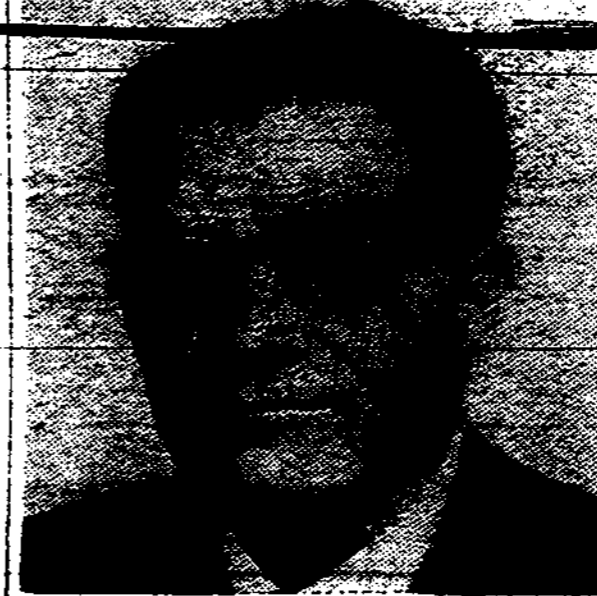

He will commence his new duties September 1 and will head the group of colleges which will become the world's largest college system. California's State College system will include 96,000 students in fifteen state colleges located throughout the state.

Dr. Gustave G. Rosenberg, chairman of the Board of Higher Education, said the Board will probably appoint a committee this month to recommend to the Board Dr. Gallagher's successor.

President Gallagher emphasized that "... There is a tremendous job to be done out there [California]. They offered me the job and I felt that I should take it. I leave City with deep regret after nine years of warm friendship and hard work."

The twenty-one trustees of the new California education system appointed Dr. Gallagher unanimously from among 180 recommended candidates. Louis H. Heitbron, chairman of the board of trustees, called the new Chancellor an "outstanding scholar and skillful administrator" well equipped to guide "the world's largest college system."

Dr. Rosenberg said in a statement that "Dr. Gallagher has done a magnificent job as president of The City College for the past nine years. We shall miss his experience and educational insight very much, but above all we shall miss his

Education Department To Review Sand Case

Justice Russell G. Hunt, a member of the State Supreme Court, has ordered the State Education Department to review the status of Harry (Bobby) Sand, a City College records officer who is seeking reinstatement as a college teacher. During the basketball scandals a decade ago Sand was removed from his position as assistant basketball coach of the College. Nat Holman was varsity coach at that time.

Justice Hunt indicated that the Department has the authority to review the decision of New York City's Board of Higher Education, which found Sand guilty of "conduct unbecoming a teacher."

Sand held the position of assistant basketball coach at the College when attempted bribes of the C.C.N.Y. "five" were reported. An investigation led to the conviction of Sand for concealing the purpose of a proposed South American tour by the team. It was discovered that the tour was to be a play-for-pay one.

In 1954, his salary as a physical education teacher was reinstated, but he was not allowed to instruct in that post. Instead, he was given a records officer position at the College.

His appeal for reassignment to teaching duties was turned down by the State Education Department, which declined to consider the case further because of the lapse of time between his appeal and the conviction.

In New York, Sand, who is 43 years old, stated that he seeks reinstatement only to an instructor's post, not necessarily to a coaching post. In addition, he said that he has a college teaching background in social studies and economics, as well as in physical education.

When Sand was restored to duty in 1954 by the B.H.E., Dr. Buell G. Gallagher, president of City College, assigned him to an administrative job in the College's planning and design department, instead of a teaching job.

Sand's present job involves taking care of capital improvement and building projects.

By the decision laid down by Judge Hunt, the time factor was discounted and the Education Department was ordered to review the appeal on its merits.

Both Sand and Holman were

Petitions

Election petitions for next semester's Student Council and Class Council positions will be available Monday in 104 of the Student Center.

This semester's school-wide election will be held Wednesday, May 10.

Walter Trampler, Violinist To Give Recital Tomorrow

By Ellen Cahn

Violinist Walter Trampler will give the first of this year's series of spring recitals tomorrow at 11 in 1220.

Mr. Trampler is the first of four guest artists who will perform at the Baruch School this term. He has appeared with the Budapest String Quartet, as a soloist with the Boston Symphony at the Aspen Festival and at the Casals Festival in Puerto Rico.

Recordings

His other accomplishments include recordings for M.G.M. and for Columbia Masterworks.

The American musical critic Alfred Frankenstein has said,

"Trampler plays gorgeously."

Other guest artists who will perform this semester are violinist Charles Libove, soprano Dorothy Renzi and pianist Nina Lugovoy.

All concerts will take place in 1220. They will be held Wednesday, April 19 at 12, Wednesday, April 26 at 1 and Wednesday, May 3 at 2, respectively.

Mr. Libove is a former member

Peace Corps:

Four-Page Questionnaire Issued

The Peace Corps has issued a four-page, twenty-eight question Volunteer Questionnaire form for students interested in Corps service. It is a pilot questionnaire; which is being used before a final form is approved.

The Peace Corps was created in March by an executive order of President John F. Kennedy in order to assist the underdeveloped nations of the world.

The questionnaire is available at local post offices. It also can be secured by writing to Congressmen or Senators or by writing to the Peace Corps, Washington 25, D. C.

The Peace Corps staff, with the aid of recruiting and questionnaire specialists from government, business, labor, private educational exchange agencies and universities, prepared the potential application blank. Students at Howard University, Washington, D.C., and Wakefield High School, Arlington, Virginia, were asked to fill out the questionnaire as a test of its effectiveness.

The purpose of the questionnaire is to enable the Peace Corps to obtain information about the number and qualifications of people now prepared to volunteer for service with the Corps. Filling out the questionnaire in no way constitutes an obligation on the part of the volunteer or the Peace Corps.

United States citizens who are eighteen years or over, including married couples without children under eighteen if both husband and wife are willing to volunteer, may file questionnaires.

The pilot applications will be reviewed to determine the number of qualified persons available for Peace Corps projects. Ultimately, the form, together with additional tests and interviews, will enable the Corps to make tentative selections of volunteers for specific overseas projects.

According to the questionnaire, Peace Corps volunteers should have technical ability, physical stamina and emotional stability. They must also be able to adapt themselves to an unfamiliar way of life and to work overseas with peoples of all races, creeds and national origins. Many will work apart from any other American. Proficiency in a language other than English is required.

Potential Corpsmen must not file applications before their eighteenth birthday. Those under twenty-one and unmarried may be required to have a parent or guardian's signature before they will be accepted for overseas service.

Some of the languages in which applicants may indicate proficiency include the Romance Languages, Hindu-Urdu, several Chinese dialects, Arabic and several African dialects. An applicant's language proficiency will be rated according to whether he can write a letter, give a short talk about the United States, read a newspaper, or understand a discussion between citizens of the country in that language.

Rabbi Jacobovits to Discuss Jewish Attitude on Marriage

Dr. Immanuel Jacobovits will discuss "The Jewish Attitude Towards Love and Marriage" Thursday at 12 at Hillel headquarters, 144 East 24 Street.

Rabbi Jacobovits was born in Germany, educated in England and is presently the rabbi of an orthodox synagogue on Fifth Avenue.

In 1947 he was appointed rabbi of the Anglo-Jewish Cathedral Synagogue, a position he held until 1948 when he was called to Dublin as Chief Rabbi of Ireland. He succeeded Rabbi Halevy Herzog, now Chief Rabbi of Israel.

Dr. Jacobovits is no stranger to this country. On two recent lecture tours he visited approximately forty American and Canadian cities where he was received by many leading personalities, including Mayor Robert F. Wagner.

A frequent contributor to popular and scholarly journals in various countries, Rabbi Jacobovits has written extensively, mainly in the field of Jewish medical ethics. His first book on this subject was published by the Philosophical Library.

Rabbi Jacobovits' talk will terminate this semester's Hillel lecture series. Earlier this term, at Hillel, Dr. Alexander Groth of the Political Science Department discussed the trial of Adolph Eichmann, the former Nazi commander.

The second program of the series was a speech by William Herberg on "Existentialism in a Jewish Perspective."

Dr. Mortimer Feinberg of the Psychology Department discussed "Religion and Psychology — A Minority View" at the third lecture.

The Loss of a Fine President

The announcement that Dr. Gallagher will leave his position as president of City College to head California's State College system came as a surprise to us and we feel deep regret at the impending loss.

In the nine years that Dr. Gallagher has been president he has done a singularly splendid job of stimulating the intellectual and academic life on the campus, upholding the principles of academic freedom, civil liberties and free higher education and promoting the growth of the College's physical capacity.

The City University of New York, a vision which became a reality this year, was established too late for Dr. Gallagher to be able to preside over a component of the university system. President Gallagher was devoted to the establishment and effective operation of the University. It is with a sense of real loss that we acknowledge the fact that he will not be present to guide C.U.N.Y. through the problems to be met in achieving the expansion of educational facilities which will result from full use of the University.

We do not claim that we have never disagreed with Dr. Gallagher, for that is not the case. Yet disagreement has little to do with respect and we have always respected the President for his high moral principles and deep dedication to the causes he believes to be just.

Where else could a college president be found who would uphold the right of college students to protest against civil defense drills if the students acted out of moral sincerity and stood ready to answer for their actions. Last May Dr. Gallagher acted to have notations entered on the permanent record cards of students who acknowledged their participation in the civil defense demonstrations, but the President declined to take any further action because he felt the students were acting out of deep conviction.

Other college presidents were quick to suspend students and we were gratified to see our own president not mirror their folly.

Where else could a college president be found who sincerely believed that the editor of a student newspaper was either a Communist or a Communist sympathizer and yet upheld the right of that person to not only remain in the College but remain as editor of the newspaper. There were many cries to oust Peter Steinberg, editor-in-chief of Observation Post last semester, when Dr. Gallagher publicly expressed doubts as to Steinberg's political inclinations. At the Baruch School, students who read distorted and sensational stories in metropolitan newspapers were quick to say that Steinberg should be removed from his position.

Yet Dr. Gallagher did not wish Steinberg to give up his position and actually asserted Steinberg's right to remain in office.

Another stand which we applaud is Dr. Gallagher's opposition to the Administrative Council's ban on speakers at the College who have been convicted under the Smith Act. Dr. Gallagher has frequently argued for the lifting of this ban and unfortunately has not been heeded.

Furthermore, Dr. Gallagher has been understanding and considerate in his dealings with the student press and has always encouraged us to seek complete explanations on all controversies.

We present these examples as proof of the President's dedication to the establishment of an atmosphere of academic freedom at the College.

The Board of Higher Education is now confronted with the ponderous burden of selecting a successor to Dr. Gallagher. We say "ponderous" because we believe that there are few people available who combine the high educational achievement, sharp intellect and strong liberal convictions of Dr. Gallagher. We need such a person as the next president of City College and we hope the B.H.E. will be successful in finding a person who meets those requirements.

City College will lose its finest president when Dr. Gallagher's resignation becomes effective on August 31. We wish him the best of luck in his new post and we wish the B.H.E. the best of luck in finding his replacement.

Gallagher to Resign...

The statement also said "we know Dr. Gallagher will bring to California the same dynamic educational leadership that he brought to The City College and our heartfelt good wishes will go with him."

When Dr. Gallagher was asked if his impending resignation had anything to do with his recent threat to quit if the State Legislature failed to establish a City University he answered no. "It [the threat] was just to push the Legislature along."

The City University was passed by the State Legislature recently but the bill still has to be signed by Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Dr. Gallagher came to City College in September, 1952, during the aftermath of the basketball scandals. He de-emphasized big-time athletics at the College and stressed adherence to high moral and ethical standards in all endeavors.

Under his administration the College expanded its educational program, opened new divisions and established adult education branches in many parts of the city. Last year a faculty committee appointed by Dr. Gallagher drafted plans for the introduction of courses leading to the Ph.D. degree at the College.

Dr. Gallagher, who is 57 years old, was born in Rankin, Illinois. He received the Bachelor of Arts degree from Carleton College in Minnesota in 1925 and the Bachelor of Divinity degree from Union Theological Seminary in New York in 1929. He later received his Ph.D. from Columbia University in 1939 and his Doctorate of Divinity from Oberlin College in Ohio in 1943.

The B.H.E. inquiry found that Sand had conducted himself improperly by writing a letter to a player about a proposed South American tour indicating that he would share any of the money earned with his players.

At the time of his reinstatement to an administrative post in 1954 Sand stated, "... I'm happy to be back at the school, and I'm grateful to the Board and President Gallagher for the opportunity to return to my duties. I've always loved teaching at City College where they have the most stimulating student body in the world."

The voice of the third performer, Miss Renzi, has been described as a "distinguished one... of warm and flexible timbre."

The last entertainer, Miss Luvoy, made her professional debut at Carnegie Hall at the age of 12. Last semester Student Council sponsored a concert which featured noted violinist Zvi Zeitlin and his accompanist, Mayne Miller.

Insignium

Students interested in running for the three vacant seats on the Insignium Committee should submit letters of application to Student Council President Art Schreiber by Friday at 12. All applicants must appear at Friday's Council meeting in 1221.

The Insignium Committee reviews all Insignium applications and makes recommendations to Student Council for the award

The Activities Coordination Board's Calendar is now available in the Student Center and the first floor of the main building. All copies are free.

The Accounting Society will sponsor a field trip Thursday to Robert Simons and Co., C.P.A.s. The firm is located at 20 E. 46 Street. Interested students should meet in front of Pauline Edwards Theater at 12 in business attire. They should sign the sheets posted on the Accounting Society's door between the 6th and 7th floors by today at 1.

Professor Andrew Lavender, Dr. James Mirolo and Professor Walter Nadlin will discuss "Opera—As Music and Drama" Thursday at 12 in 1113-14.

The following students have been elected to the Beta Chapter of Mu Gamma Tau, the National Honorary and Professional Fraternity in Industrial and Personnel Management at the Baruch School:

- Gerald Beber, Stanley Berkowitz, Selig Bernstein, Daniel Bertram, Arthur Dirschenbaum, Eugene Lenisman, Thomas Lengyel, Vincent Marrano, Robert Meyer, Martin Plotkin, Rudolf Schieritz, Paul Urban and James Woods.

Coeds to Compete April 29 For 'Queen' of Mardi Gras

Mardi Gras Coeds: (L. to R.), Amelia Giordano, Leni Penner, Vera Kinrativ, Marlene Watznik and Elizabeth Lesnick.

Amelia Giordano, Vera Kinrativ, Elizabeth Lesnick, Leni Penner and Marlene Watznik will compete in this year's Mardi Gras Queen Contest at the annual Mardi Gras Festival, April 29. The Queen will be given a dinner and a date with her choice of personalities, including Johnny Mathis, the Kirby Stone Four and Tony Bennett. Each of the finalists will choose her escort now and the winner will date her choice.

David Kleinman, coordinator of Mardi Gras, has announced that the Mardi Gras theme is "Hawaii." The School will be decorated with posters and ornaments in a Hawaiian motif. The Queen will be presented to the audience by WINS announcer Murray Kaufman. Mr. Kaufman will also introduce the entertainers. The five finalists will receive perfume by Faberge, a gift from Lord and Taylor, a $35 certificate from the Arthur Murray Dance Studio and an expected gift certificate for a weekend at a well-known hotel. Ship 'n' Shore blouses, Sea Nymph and Lee beachwear and Decca recordings will also be given.

Sand...

(Continued from Page 1) suspended in 1952 after the brazen scandal became known. Neither Sand nor Holman, however, were linked with any of the point-fixing bribes, nor charged in any government prosecution.

It was a separate inquiry by the B.H.E. in 1954 that led to a reprimand of Sand and his reinstatement after he had been suspended for more than two years. Holman was dismissed, but was reinstated to coaching duties a few months later. Last year he officially retired.

The B.H.E. inquiry found that Sand had conducted himself improperly by writing a letter to a player about a proposed South American tour indicating that he would share any of the money earned with his players.

At the time of his reinstatement to an administrative post in 1954 Sand stated, "... I'm happy to be back at the school, and I'm grateful to the Board and President Gallagher for the opportunity to return to my duties. I've always loved teaching at City College where they have the most stimulating student body in the world."

Retailing Group to Host UMOG Drive Programs on Fashions Set By APO

The Retailing Society, in cooperation with the Retailing Division, will present a series of lectures on Fashion Design this semester. The meetings will begin Thursday from 12-1 in 1220 and will be continued April 20 and April 27 in the same room.

Three noted American fashion designers will speak and demonstrate their work at the lecture series.

Bill Blass, vice president and designer for Maurice Rentner, will highlight the first lecture. In 1959 he won the Fashion Award for outstanding achievement in the category of "best interpretation of current trends for the American woman."

Oleg Cassini, official designer for Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy, President's wife, will speak to Baruch School students April 20. In the last lecture of the series Sofina, buyer and designer of junior dresses for Saks Fifth Avenue, will discuss fashion.

The lecture series will be culminated with a fashion show the evening of May 2. At last year's show a collection of imported footwear and sportswear from Europe was featured. The fashions were modeled by Baruch School students.

Screening for models will take place Friday from 9 a.m. to 11 p.m. in 1320B. Models must be at least 5-2. Cards of admission for all or part of the series may be obtained from the Retailing Office (1320B), from Student Life and from members of the Retailing Society. Tickets are free, but students are urged to take only the amount they will use.

Arluck, Levy Discuss 'Moby Dick' Aspects

The Ugly Man on Campus drive, run by Alpha Phi Omega, will be held this semester April 12-14. The proceeds will be donated to the Lighthouse for the Blind Scholarship Fund.

Pictures will be taken of students today in the Student Center Lobby. Students should wear costumes to disguise their features. These pictures will be placed on canisters and the student who collects the most money in his canister will win the Ugly Man plaque. Canisters will also be given by the brothers of A.P.O. All canisters must be in by Friday at 11 a.m. so that the winners may be chosen and prizes may be awarded.

Professor Edward W. Arluck Professor William T. Levy

Professor Edward W. Arluck of the Psychology Department and Professor William Turner Levy of the English Department discussed "The Psychological Significance of Moby Dick" Thursday, March 30 before a group of students in 4S.

The lecture was sponsored by the Psychology Society. Professor Arluck asserted that "Moby Dick," a novel by Herman Melville, lends itself to interpretation on several levels. He said that the novel depicts the inward turning of the libido toward the great ocean—the sea—the mother image. "The object of such inward turning is rebirth, a more adequate adjustment to the world," said Professor Arluck.

Professor Levy discussed the book primarily from a literary viewpoint. He said, "Looking at it from the viewpoint of a creative writer, there are simpler ways to understand certain factors that are presented in the novel."

"Melville always wrote about the sea," answered Professor Levy to Professor Arluck's reference to the sea as a mother image, "because it was the only thing he knew well." Every writer, in order to have his writing accepted, must be recognized as authoritative, said Professor Levy.

"Every writer starts from the concrete," he said. Melville found in the Pequod, its crew and the sea the freedom to express himself, he continued. Professor Arluck stated that Melville had a great respect for fact and detail. "The astounding thing with Melville is that he can take the dry facts and use them as a point of departure in the creative process," he said.

The novel depicts the beginning of a quest, a setting out upon a journey for mankind, said Professor Arluck. On the journey, men encounter all kinds of dragons, whales and leviathans, he said. The journey is not so much a journey into the "stomach of a whale" but a question of death. It does not depict literal death, but death in the form of suicide, he said.

Hofstra, Manhattan Top City in Baseball Games

By Mel Bernhardt

Wildness plagued City's pitchers this week as the baseball team dropped two games to Hofstra and Manhattan by 5-0 and 7-3 scores, respectively. In another encounter, the Beaver batsmen walloped Brooklyn College 19-6 in a game called after six innings due to darkness.

The Beavers will try to regain their winning ways this week when they play N.Y.U. today at University Heights, Columbia University, at Baker Field Thursday, and Wagner College at Macombs Dam Park Saturday.

In the Hofstra game, wild pitching and four errors in the field contributed to the whitewash jobs. Dennis D'Oca, a junior southpaw, stretched his unbeaten streak to eleven in guiding the defending Metropolitan Collegiate Conference champions to victory. D'Oca fanned five, walked one and gave up four hits in a seven-inning stint. Terry Kosens finished up for Hofstra. Howie Friedman pitched the entire game for City, fanning four, walking six and allowing seven hits.

In the Manhattan game, Friedman returned to the mound against Tom Leder, the Jasper's ace pitcher. The Jaspers broke the game open in the seventh inning when they scored four runs, featured by homers by Tom O'Leary and John Cury. City's runs came on a two-run homer by Baruchian Kenny

Spoiler

Fairleigh Dickinson spoiled City College's debut in dual-meet track and field competition by defeating the Beavers 91-40, Saturday.

C.C.N.Y. hopes to hit the winning trail against Adelphi Saturday at 11 in Garden City, Long Island.

Howie Friedman, solo homer by

In the encounter against the Kingsmen, City sent seventeen batters to the plate in the fourth inning against four pitchers. A bases loaded triple by Bill Botwinik and a grand slam home run by Art Goldner were the big hits of the inning.

Stickmen Lose First Contests

The City lacrosse squad, in its first two games of the season, lost to Harvard and Adelphi by scores of 23-3 and 6-5, respectively.

The strong Harvard team completely outplayed the Beavers who very seldom had possession of the ball. Al Derby, City's goalie, made thirty saves compared to six by Harvard's Gil Leaf.

John Orlando scored two goals for the Beavers in a losing cause.

In the Adelphi game, Adelphi scored three goals in the final quarter, one with ten seconds remaining to take the win.

Tennis Team Wins Opener By Conquering Queens, 8-1

City College's tennis team opened its season Wednesday against Queens with an 8-1 victory. CCNY is the defending Metropolitan, Conference champion. According to coach Harry Karlin, "the boys looked very good."

Returning veterans from last year include Stan Freundlich, a downtown student, Alan, Smith, Sy Silver, Joe Borowsky, also a Baruchian, Nelson Paler and Vinnie Catrini. Newcomers to the squad are Bernie Wasserman and Jay Bochner.

City took all six singles matches. as Freundlich beat Lee Skelly, 6-0, 6-0; Smith blanked Mark Rush 6-0, 6-0; Silver defeated Richard Lerner 6-2, 6-0; Borowsky blanked

Bob Bittman 6-0, 6-0; Paler outlasted Bob Miller 6-3, 6-4; and Catrini vanquished Dennis Guwitt 7-5, 6-0.

In doubles, Freundlich and Smith, who were the Metropolitan Conference Doubles Champions last year, were victors, 6-1, 6-0; Wasserman and Bochner combined to win 6-2, 6-0; and Borowsky and Paler were upset 7-5, 6-4.

Tomorrow City plays Adelphi and Saturday City comes against Kings Point.
