The Madison County Health Department has been notified of a person who found a dead bird, apparently of natural causes, to collect the specimen and refrigerate them until they can be picked up by public health personnel for testing.

The Health Department wants birds that have died no longer than 48 hours, are not badly decomposed, and have not been avian or cause of death.

"Madrid's death was a terrible loss to the sports community that he was so involved in," said Steph Engel, a close friend of Madrid's.

Madison County Board Chairman Alan Dunstan is expected to call a special meeting to discuss the matter.

Pita

Now he’s opened his own Pita Pit restaurant at Edwardsville Crossing, 215 Harvard Dr., in the space formerly occupied by Dippin’ Dots.

Hettler developed a taste for shawarma, a concoction of sun-dried meat, vegetables and sauces wrapped in pita bread, in Israel during his tour of duty in the Air Force service.

"I knew this was an interest of mine, so I traveled throughout the Middle East and learned as much as I could about how to make the sandwich," Hettler said.

Pita Pit offers a broad choice of meats, cheeses, vegetables, and sauces.
