

COLLEGE LIBRARY
BARUCH SCHOOL
MCCCLXXXIII

"Twenty-Nine Years of Responsible Freedom"
Baruch School of Business and Public Administration—City College of New York

Friday, March 30, 1962

April Fool's

By Subscription Only

SC Approves $1,000 Fee Increase; Mandatory Free Tuition to be Upheld

Student Council, having nothing better to do at its Friday evening meeting, decided to raise student activity fees $1,000 per semester, increasing the total registration fee term to $1,016. The motion was passed, 1-0-22.

The reason that so many representatives abstained was their belief that although the Council members favored the increase, many of their constituents might be against it. Also, election time was around.

At the same time Council approved the fee increase, it voted to write letters to almost everyone, asking for the restoration of mandatory free tuition. The motion was unanimously approved. Representatives felt that a $300 tuition is a constant and that free higher education should and must be upheld if they would cry.

Getting back to the fee raise, the motion must be approved by Dean Manny Laxe, Dean Clementine, Dean Wrong, Dean Manny Laxe, Dean Manny Laxe, Dean Manny Laxe.

Get It?

A photo wallet containing six pictures of the owner has been found in the Student Center. She can get it if she wants it any time after 8 in THE TICKER.

Friday Eve Fertilizer To Maintain Grass?

Student Council, having nothing better to do as usual, having nothing to picket against, was in a complete state of shock. So they decided to picket rather than to cry.

However, what could they picket? One said, "Let us picket the bridge until a toll is charged for fees." However, this was killed when someone informed that Council members utilize the bridge more than anyone. So why tax themselves?

Ken Klein (why change the this is funny enough) set up a motion to picket Dean Laxe's office in order to get down the rug. It was clearly denied, 0-1-22.

Finally some astute representatives said, "Why not picket the whole New York City in order to have grass grown on Twenty-third Street?"

One representative, completely overwrought with emotion, tears streaming from his eyes, burst out. He stated that he Dean Manny Laxe is on the extreme left. (Nothing political meant). The other men? Who knows. They just came along for the ride.

President Cool Buell and the Bored of High Education. If anyone of the abovementioned vetoes the increase, Council has threatened violence, and even worse, picketing. So there.

Neil Caramba, chief embezzler of Council, was the only individual to vote for the fee increase. Smiling very naively, he argued that the extra money could be used to good advantage. When questioned about two tickets to Europe that he had in his pocket, Caramba answered,

"Europe si, Baruch School no." No one understood, but what can you expect?

Paul Pushup, president of the group, also spoke in favor of the motion. Being a coward, however, he abstained on the final vote. He stated, "I really don't care. I'm graduating soon. Ha. Ha."

Babbling Brooks, editor-in-chief

Dr. Red Palestine Out; Hot Dog Bunch Suspect

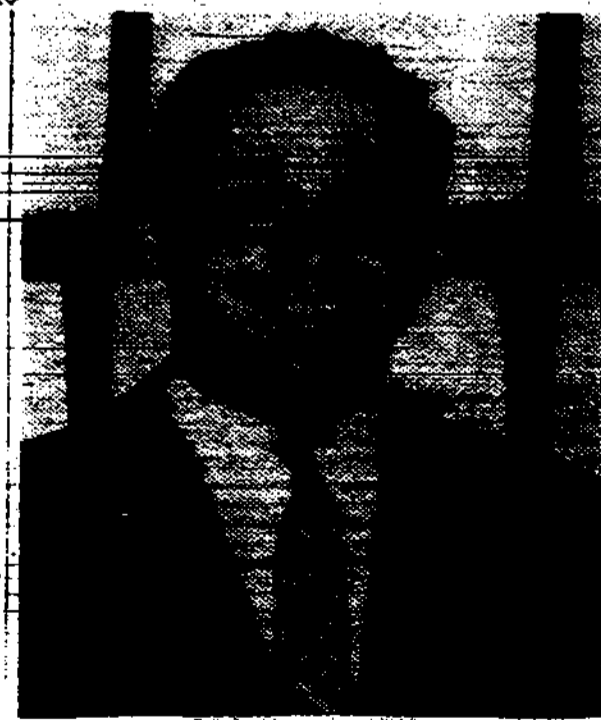

Dr. Red Palestine, hysterical attaché of the Nathan's Fan Club, has resigned from that organization in a blaze of controversy. He has accused the hot dog organization of being subversive and dangerous and informed the F.B.I. about it.

Jerome Brothstein, so-called Founder of the group, has retaliated and called Dr. Palestine a nasty vegetarian, who just likes to doodle in coloring books.

Brothstein also alleged that Dr. Palestine was making the accusations out of jealousy. "Wanting to be the Founder and having to settle for the hysterical attaché post was too much a shock for him. He is just a nasty, meany, little boy, trying to desecrate the name of Nathan's," he declared.

When informed of Brothstein's remarks by a reporter of this great paper, Dr. Palestine thought for a moment and then came out with a very astute statement: "Sticks and stones can break my bones, but names shall never harm me." Yeah, yeah.

When queried as to how he arrived at his accusation, Dr. Palestine cried, "Many of the subversives, including the nasty Founder, are in my class. I was suspicious from the beginning when these frankfurter men sat on the left side of the room. Then sabotage began. One boy ate the apple that had been placed on my table by a good student. Chairs were shuffled in the room, with my desk placed in the middle in order to prevent me from escaping," added the Doc.

Dr. Red Palestine

J. Edgar Hooligan, head of the F.B.I., said he could find nothing subversive about the organization.

At the same time that he made the statement he was eating a (Continued on Page 4) of this great paper, babbled as to why this great paper needed additional sums. He stated, "If Ticker is to ever be able to print ninety-six page issues daily, more money is needed." Yeah, yeah.

Council also did several other good things during the evening. They took a fifteen minute seated recess. However, some representatives raised their hands and informed Pushup that they had to go. Pushup asked where and being told, called for a ten minute non-seated recess.

After the recess much debate occurred when the so-called founder of the Nathan's Fan Club, Jerome Brothstein, wanted to send a letter to Nathan's. The letter stated that Nathan's had the best hot dogs in the world. Some nuts actually disagreed. They were quickly exterminated.

Council then adjourned to Rathskellar's. The members rejoiced at their work, kissed each other, drank beer, sent postcards and went home.

And thus, folks, ends another chapter in the life of Student Council.

Dr. Bowell Lectures On Pre-Marital Sex Before Huge Crowd

Before a capacity crowd in the Student-Faculty Men's Powder Room, Dr. John Bowell lectured before an eager, drooling and glassy-eyed audience on the topic: "Pre-Marital Sex, and Why It's Here to Stay, and Why It Started."

[This lecture was not pre-censored by the Department of State, or any other organization of that kind.]

Dr. Bowell was emphatic about his topic. "I don't think that it would be wise," he noted, "for children to practice pre-marital sex." A burst of applause came from all corners of the room, except from the House Plan section.

[Alvin "Chipmunk" Silverman, well-known matzoh ball peddler, told THE TICKER—this great newspaper—after the lecture that he thought if children were eliminated it would mean the end of Friday night socials.]

The main part of the lecture came to a smashing, albeit revealing, climax when Dr. Bowell put his reputation on the line and stated: "Pre-marital sex is best practiced with single people. After the wedding, the sparkle is gone."

The Ticker

Forty-Nine Years of Responsible Freedom... Bernard M. Baruch... School of Business and Public Administration... The City College of New York... 17 Lexington Avenue, New York

Vol. XLVI—No. 9

Friday, March 30, 1962

- Normal Iceberg - Circulation Editor
Marilyn Darlin - Naughtily Editor
Joe Trauma - Finicky Editor
Dave Popoff - Mr. Siggy - Hungers On

Babbling Brooks - The Great One

- Marty Sandpaper - Manipulation Editor
Steve Rappapish - Indoor Sports Editor
Tuna Fisch - Mike Kracker - Associate Manipulators
Harvey Wittlesky - Ego Editor

Marty Sparker - Mugs Editor

(The editors of this great paper are not responsible for the following copy. We were pretty boozed up at the time it was written).

Higher Learning?

We were left totally aghast when we secretly discovered last week that the administration plans to convert the Baruch School into a college of higher learning. That's right folks. No joking, that was the Baruch School mentioned. We hope the students at the College can stand the shock.

Letters to the Great One

In the past few weeks we have been plagued with many crummy letters to the great one. As a result of this terrible plague we must set down several ground rules. First of all, the letters have been much too short. It seems everyone is trying to outdo everyone else by writing as short a letter as possible.

Next all letters must be handwritten with not more than ten words per line. All letters must be written with Water-woman's Black and Blue Ink, mixed with a little green shade. The 'l's must be taller than the 't's, but the dot of the 'i' should not be more than a teeny-weensy bit above the crossed 't.' In this way, one will think twice before writing some of the tripe that the great one receives and the editors will have something to do by measuring letter size.

Finally, and this is the most important point especially in a one newspaper college, all letters to the great one must be favorable or they will not be printed. In addition, the great one will curse the terrible person for life by labeling him a meany. No greater curse could befall an individual. Everyone knows what a great newspaper this is and it would take nuts and Baruchians to disagree with our word. So instead of being called a nut and eventually a meany just write long praise letters about this great paper. Remember, no others will be accepted. So there! Where? It's just a saying you nebish, so there! Where? Oh, forget it. Forget what? It. Oh.

Why Not?

Why not? Why not, what? Why not write an editorial called "why not?" Roses are red, Violets are blue, The Baruch School has sixteen floors, So what?

A Crying Shame

It's a crying shame. Yes, sir, a crying shame. It's unbelievable that it could happen at the Baruch School. Unbelievable. Yes, it's a crying shame. Almost wants to make you cry. That means shed a tear or something. Happened right here in our own backyard. Really shocks you. Terrible, terrible. It's a crying shame. Let's hope the thing never happens again.

Guess What

It happened! It happened! Ha, ha! Ha, ha! Crying shame, that's what it is. A real tear jerker. Twice in the same week! Hurts the name of the school a teeny-weensy. Ha, ha! Ha, ha!

Mock Council Drinks to Bar

Bob Solidhead announced that the Mock Student Council will be held at 12 in 4 West. Delegations will represent the various classes of the School, such as the Class of '63 and the Class of '64.

Various school organizations will comprise the delegations, with House Plan representing '62, I.F.C. representing '63, Boosters representing '64, I.M.B. representing '65, and all unaffiliated students representing the class of '66. Bring interpreters.

Keynote speaker will be Robert Belch, who will deliver a two-hour address on parliamentary procedure as expounded in "Robert's Rules of Order."

After the address, Council will vote on the following motions: 1. The Baruch School should send a delegation to the Helsinki Youth Festival. 2. The 10th Floor Snack Bar should be changed into a library. 3. The library (if someone knows where it is) should be changed into a 10th Floor Snack Bar. 4. The 11th Floor Snack Bar should be maintained. (There has been a move to divide the question here, so that it will first be considered whether or not to keep the snacks, and then considered whether we should have a bar.)

Chairman Solidhead has said that "the purpose of the Mock Student Council is to acquaint the student body with the workings of the U.N." He refused to explain this statement. Paul Pushup, president of Student Council, said, "I think that this will make a mockery of Student Council." Spill Boskin, co-chairman of the event, said that Pushup "makes a mockery of Student Council every Friday night, so why not once on Thursday afternoon?"

Lefty

Senior rings for left-handed people are being sold this week only in the lobby of the Student Center. Bring correct fingers for proper fittings.

A Poym

When I was born My parents were torn by raging conflicts of the sole (they both stepped on a rusty nail, you see) as to whether they should I could or would eventually at least (me, the beast) go to college.

At the end of trip my sweater ripped from BMT friction, my ears' adrip from Brooklyn diction, I, (now the scribe) did arrive at Seventeen Lex where cerebral flecks (or are they chalk dust particles) commingle (for those still single, and not in the Pining Lounge) with those others, children of mothers already a twain their education in vain, transferring to Main where trees greet a campus.

Mr. Siggy, corresponding secretary of Student Council and hanger on of THE TICKER—this great newspaper—plans to submit to the Student-Faculty Committee on Student Activities a series of articles entitled: "Why the programs of Student Council are essential for the well-being of THE TICKER," a great newspaper. He will do this as soon as he destroys a copy of a letter he wrote to the committee last term when he was editor-in-chief of the newspaper, entitled: "Why the well-being of THE TICKER—etc.—is essential for the programs of Student Council."

The Women's Department of Physical and Health Education has decided that next term the girls can wear any type bathing suit in the pool they wish, as long as it's a tank suit and the color is black.

The Mathematics Department has asked girls who wear Bermuda shorts to class to refrain from volunteering to put homework examples on the board. Last term several instructors were unable to finish the syllabus because they couldn't hold the class' attention

The Society for Advancement of Labor will meet Thursday at 12:12. Three films will be shown. (Continued on Page 4)

Letters to the Editor

We have recently been informed by the Post Office that because of a mistake on their part, several letters over the years which were originally earmarked for THE TICKER—this great paper—have been delivered instead to Ted Ticker, a handwriting analyst who lives several blocks away. Luckily, Ted has retained most of the letters, filing them under "Handwriting of Psychotics."

When we saw some of these letters, our mouths were agape with wonderment. If they had reached us and had been published at the time they were sent, perhaps several phases of Baruch School life would be different. Below are two examples.

To the Editor of THE TICKER: (December 29, 1958) It has been brought to our attention that earlier this month the Board of Estimate approved expenditures to convert the Children's Court into a Student Center for the Baruch School. As an interested party, we deplore this action!

This means that the 9th floor of the 23rd Street building, which is now the center for extra-curricular activities at the College, will be converted into classrooms and lecture halls. Although we believe the academic life of the College to be important, we ask the administration to consider the rich non-academic culture which has sprouted and been nourished in these hallowed lounges on the 9th floor. There are students who look upon the 9th floor as a very dear friend; yes, even as a way of life.

The political discussions, the lectures, the warm spirit of comradeship which is an integral part of the 9th floor lounges—these are cherished possessions which are close to our hearts. If the hub of these non-academic affairs is moved to the Student Center, it may take

Yuri Gagan

Petition to Oust Classes Circulating Like Wildfire

B.A.T.S., the Baruch Association of Troubled Students, circulating a petition throughout the School. The petition passed at the group's meeting last week.

Popoff, the association's agent, stated the petition's use in an exclusive interview with THE TICKER, a great news-

We all know that to get a course into the curriculum," he said, "twelve students must be in writing that they are able to take the course. Our petition would work the way except it would eliminate students from the School. If twelve students so desired, any course could be dropped from the curriculum."

Popoff felt that a minimum of signatures would be needed because this matter could come to the attention of the proper authorities. He said that he believed there would be no trouble in getting the

Bolt Realizes Death and 'Existentialism' Have Silver Lining

Edmund Volt of the English Department will discuss "Ten Modern Brief Novels," a book he compares (so he says) with the "slight advance of Leo Mammalian, who half the royalty money."

How to Lose Weight Without Really Trying

A lecture will be presented by the Literary Society, Tuesday at 8 in P.E.T. The anthology includes the works of Camus, Spillane, Faulkner, Robbins, Eros, Ross, Moravia, and Gide. Recurrent themes of the book are death and existentialism.

Steve Bird, an upper freshman majoring in nothing in particular, was almost squashed to death in the elevator last week. However, Bird had no qualms about it since much of his pot belly was stretched upward and everted out.

During that one ride, from the first to the twelfth floor, his waist went from a huge forty-eight inches to a downright skinny twenty-nine.

Bird gave the following account of his exhilarating ride: "Duh, I was on me way to, duh, me class. I calmly entered duh elevator and went to duh right to express me political leanings."

THE TICKER, great newspaper, has its many affiliated organizations across the nation (S.O.S. USA-1, SBI and Women's Wear Daily) wish to express their gratitude to the following people who have devoted standing service, far and Why Join in the Orientation If Wheels Get the Dames?

Freshman Disorientation Society President Ira Turncoat yesterday announced that his organization is planning several new programs for next semester. The first and most important will be a statistical research project in the art of random sampling, to insure that all F.O.S. members will have an equal chance to act as Big Brothers to the freshman girls next semester.

According to authoritative sources, the project stems from the reactions of several rank and file members of F.O.S. to the procedures which have at times been used by the society's executives. During past pre-registration assemblies, it is alleged that these executives directed most of the female freshmen to sit in specified rows in the auditorium, and then assigned the people in these rows to be in their Big Brother groups.

It was reported that when several of the lowertermers in the organization threatened to resign and join fraternities instead to further their social life, this planned reform was instituted.

A second project to be adopted by F.O.S. is a "Topsy-Turvy Day" in which the freshmen will perform the duties of seniors. F.O.S. feels that such a change will be good for the morale of the freshmen. During "Topsy-Turvy Day" F.O.S. plans to have the freshmen perform such senior privileges as cap

A Female Freshman

New Dept. Titles Reflect True Baruch Corruption

In a decision to keep the Baruch School up to date, Dean Manny Laxe has announced new departmental titles for several of the departments in the School.

The Accounting Department has been changed to the Manipulating to the Public Corruption Department, according to its chairman, Professor Riderman. "We feel this new name is more in keeping with the true function of our department," Dr. Riderman enthused. "Now there can be no confusion regarding the real purposes of our department."

The Credit and Collection Department, under the auspices of the Business Administration Department, has been renamed the Bad Debts Department, "which is more in keeping with reality," stated Chairman Attaboy.

Professor I. Harold Killer has changed the title of his department from International Trade to International Colonialization, because in his words, "Isn't that what we're really trying to do, boys?"

Personnel and Industrial Relations, under the chairmanship of the B.A. Department, has been retitled the Personal Relations Department. This was done, according to Professor Attaboy, to give the students "a greater feeling" for their work.

The Political Science Department has had its name changed to the Political Science Department. This was done, according to Professor Attaboy, to give the students "a greater feeling" for their work.

RED PALESTINE BEWARE YOUR STUDENTS REBEL NATHAN'S FANS AND "35" WILL GIVE YOU H...

Annual Survey Makes City Heavy Favorite Over State

By Lew Setlip

The Ticker staff, for the second consecutive year, has proven in their annual survey that City College's basketball team is superior to the Ohio State's first-rated Buckeyes.

The true relationship between the teams can be illustrated by that infallible method of deductive reasoning—comparative scores. It should be remembered that City annihilated Fordham by one point, while Fordham defeated Manhattan, 68-66. Manhattan had already topped Temple, 70-65, which had earlier trampled St. John's, 52-51. (We're better than St. John's already).

The Johnnies defeated Carlsins by thirteen points; the latter avenged this loss by toppling Villanova, 80-76. Villanova squeaked by Duquesne and their star sophomore Willie Summerfall—on St. Winterset, by an 82-61 score. The Dukes in an early encounter toppled Dayton by twenty points. It may be remembered that Dayton defeated the Wichita team, 79-71, which had completely manhandled the Cincinnati Bearcats and their star, Ron Bonbon, 52-51. Cincinnati, in one of the year's closest games, beat Wisconsin, 101-71. The Badgers were the only team to defeat Ohio State, smashing the Buckeyes, 86-67.

The preceding should show why the Beavers are considered to be 123 points better than those over-rated Midwesterners. When Beaver coach Rave Sklonsky was told of a prospective C.C.N.Y.-Ohio State game, he ran out the door, stormed down 137th Street and when last seen was swimming up the Hudson River towards Canada. (He was that happy).

The Great Ones in Action

Arrangements are now being made for promoting the game. It is expected that Thunder Heelsin and Bones Cohen will guard the Buckeyes' two top scorers, Jerry Mucas and John Hasachick.

When and if this game is played, THE TICKER will not be responsible for any losses incurred by students on bets.

BULLETIN: Rave Sklonsky has just set a speed record. He has swum to West Point in three minutes and 52.3 seconds, and is still going strong.

Cagers Win in Capitol Basketball, Jackie Too

The Chief, a former P.T. boat commander, and his wifefeted the Beaver cagers after their upset victory over American University.

Palestine . . .

(Continued from Page 1)
frankfurter from Nathan's. He said that the Doc was just a nasty, meany individual and that he would subsequently report him to the savior of the American people, The Un-American Committee on American Activities. He then proceeded to stuff down another frank. The Doc, shaken up by the whole rotten mess, went to his room and cried. With tears streaming from his eyes (where else?) he lamented, "I wish I never started the whole thing. No one can go against the Nathan's Fan Club. They are too strong." Yeah, Yeah.

The Doc did retaliate somewhat. He flunked the Founder and his cohorts. Doc has not been seen since.

The reception took place in the White House which was paid for by Lavender for this suspicious occasion. However, to this report the "House" appeared pink or red rather than Lavender.

The Chief handled the festivities in the front, while Jackie entertained the boys in the back room. The team's fine performance warranted the distribution of several jobs.

Thunder Heelsin, a geology major, was given a job examining rocks in the administration heap.

Mike Winsome and Morty, accounting majors, were given at balancing the budget. Both have been working for the Dizzy D Accounting Company, headed by Manny Laxe. However, they left their jobs when the company folded.

Letter to the Great One

To the Editor of THE TICKER:
(A great paper—Editor)

I would like to take issue with those who have attacked my fellow Baruchian, Joe Trauma. The know-nothings who have dared to attack one of the few true Americans in the Baruch School are either Commies or Communist dupes. Let's look at the facts.

Mr. Trauma has stated, and rightfully so, needless to say, "some Americans are hysterical enough to disregard the facts and publicly embarrass Major General Runner because he is educating his troops to think!" Now that's most obviously so, that the general has been embarrassed. It was all the work of dupes like the like. Who cares if Army regulations forbid generals from publicly attacking past or present government officials? There's a regulation prohibiting attacking traitors, even if they include President Trueman and North Korea to the Commies.

And what's wrong with a general helping his troops to vote? Of the Army's illiterate and so someone's got to tell them. Better a true-blue American General Runner than some Right? After all, those some mighta voted for those Democrats and then we woulda had The Democrats in Washington taking us from Moscow via the U.N.

All I can say is it's a good thing that Nix won, and that we people like Joe Trauma around keep reminding us of that fact.

Spot. Nax

Ticker Tape

(Continued from Page 2)

including one from the National Association of Manufacturers, giving its views on automation. All members are urged to attend to see what the other half thinks.

Applications for the I.M.B. whiffle ball tournament are available in the I.M.B. office or in Locker E-106. The tournament will be held in the Holland Tunnel. It consists of rolling a ball so hard up one wall that it rolls across the ceiling and down the other wall without falling. This may sound easy, but you're not allowed to use your hands.

The French Ogling Society (FOS) will show films Friday night at 225 Lafayette Street. Only male students majoring in French are invited.

The Young Americans for Freedom (Y.A.F.) Baruch School chapter, has announced it will present a list of 10,000 Communists in the State Department Thursday at 12 in 4 East. Professor W. Turnips

Levy of the English Department will read the list, accompanied by the New York Philharmonic playing "Yankee Doodle."

Refunds on Mardi Gras tickets will be given out daily to needy students from 12-3 in the lobby of the Student Center. (See "SC Approves," Page One).

The Retailing Society announces there will be a demonstration in the 10th Floor Cafeteria today at 2 on "How to Use Automatic Vending Machines." J. Fred Muggs will deliver the lecture, and a professor of retailing will do the demonstrating. Bring money.

Planet, the official House Plan newspaper, will hereafter come out on alternate Tuesdays, and on alternate Wednesdays. (That is every other week it will come out on Tuesday and Wednesday). Every third week it will come out on Friday at 12, and the following week at 1, but on Monday. It will come out on Thursdays only when there are no other holidays during the week.

A petition is being circulated which would prohibit Student Council from circulating any more petitions this term.

Girls Wanted:

To Cover Indoor Sports

No Experience Necessary.

We'll Teach You.

PALADIN'S

NEXT DOOR TO CCNY

ASKS ALL CITY COLLEGE

TO STAY OUT

THIS MEANS YOU!!

THE LOVER

seeks his mate

Come Home J. F. All Is Forgiven.

- Paul

Private Sports Editor's Ad