SIUE alum finds great talent in Cuban artists

Aldemaro Romero Jr.
CUNY Bernard M Baruch College

How does access to this work benefit you? Let us know!
Follow this and additional works at: https://academicworks.cuny.edu/bb_pubs
Part of the Arts and Humanities Commons

Recommended Citation
Romero, Aldemaro Jr., "SIUE alum finds great talent in Cuban artists" (2013). CUNY Academic Works.
https://academicworks.cuny.edu/bb_pubs/772

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Baruch College at CUNY Academic Works. It has been accepted for inclusion in Publications and Research by an authorized administrator of CUNY Academic Works. For more information, please contact AcademicWorks@cuny.edu.
Friday, February 22, 2013 — www.theintelligencer.com

Among the most important — but often times unsung — heroes of colleges and universities across the country, especially in the Midwest, are the police officers who protect and serve the students, faculty, and staff.

This year, the police officers at SIUE will celebrate their 10th anniversary. The department was founded in 2003 with the goal of providing a safe campus environment for all students, faculty, staff, and visitors.

SIUE alum supports women in art

Diane Schrag (center) while visiting Havana recruiting a mini-taxis.

The arts should be on background checks.

The sad thing is the embargo," Schrage said about the now 50-year-old trade embargo between the United States and Cuba. "That's like part of who they are," Schrage said.

"One thing that I noticed in Cuba is that the artists are very lovely and passionate people." Schrage said about the now 50-year-old trade embargo between the United States and Cuba. "That's like part of who they are," Schrage said.

"One thing that I noticed in Cuba is that the artists are very lovely and passionate people." Schrage said about the now 50-year-old trade embargo between the United States and Cuba. "That's like part of who they are," Schrage said.

"One thing that I noticed in Cuba is that the artists are very lovely and passionate people." Schrage said about the now 50-year-old trade embargo between the United States and Cuba. "That's like part of who they are," Schrage said.