Landau Retains Presidency In Class Council Elections

Jerome Landau will be next term's president of the senior class. Mr. Landau received 129 votes, while the other candidates for the Class of '64 presidency, William Miller and Max Wendel, received 76 and 37 votes, respectively, in one of the Class and Student Council elections Wednesday.

Mark Zuckerman will be vice-president of the senior class, receiving 110 votes, topping Harvey Sandler, with 87 votes, and Henry Bromberg, with 32 ballots cast. Steven Levenherz garnered 124 votes for class treasurer, defeating Lewis J. Sperber, with 90 votes. Nancy Kerstein was elected class secretary, with 63 votes. She overcame Lynn Edward Kenner, 60 votes; Frank Goodman, 43 votes; Paul Schattner, 38 votes; and Ann Reich, 30 votes.

All candidates for Student Council seats from the Class of '64 were elected in "yes-no" elections. They were Zachary Dyckman, 186 "yeas" and 34 "nays"; Stuart Newmark, with 181 for and 35 against; Jeffrey Feuer, with 175 "yes" and 34 "nays"; David Shulman, 175 affirmative and 42 negative; and Paul Koster, who received 173 "yes" and 38 "nays".

Barry Epstein was re-elected president of the Class of '65. He received 111 votes, defeating Andrew Radding, with 81 votes. Stanley Brunman was elected vice-president, with 148 "yeas" and 37 "nays". Rosanne Coten will be class treasurer, having received 147 positive and 36 negative votes.

Candidates for Class of '65 Student Council seats, David Zeidman, Sheldon Weill, and Patrick A. Tripp, all won "yes-no" elections. They garnered 151, 138, and 130 "yeas", and 23, 32, and 41 "nays", respectively.

In the Class of '66, Michael Potack, with 96 votes, defeated Richard Glantz, with 75 votes, for the presidency. Steven Winokur garnered 139 affirmative and 32 negative ballots to be elected vice-president. Lawrence Zeff, receiving 137 "yes" and 33 "no" votes, will be secretary. Fred Kurtzman was elected class treasurer, winning 145 to 31.

In Student Council races in the Class of '66, Susan Manasse was victorious with 131 votes. Other winners were Melvin Katz, with 116 votes; Jeffrey Levenberg, with 111 votes; Joel Kaufman, who received 99 votes, and Irving Yoskowitz, with 97 ballots. The winner of the sixth Council seat in the Class of '66 will be decided in a special run-off election next term between Harvey Rabinowitz and Kenneth Wolfe, both having received 96 votes. Defeated were Ezra Steglitz, with 86 ballots, and Stanley Lanzet, with 75 votes.

The freshman class president will be Irwin Zaretsky, who garnered 17 "yeas" and 5 "nays". The sole Class of '67 Student Council candidate, Andrea Bykofsky, received 23 affirmative and 4 negative votes, for election.

Baumgarten, Traum NSA Delegates

Mark Grant

Jeffrey Levitt

Mark Grant '64 and Jeffrey Levitt '64 captured the top Student Council posts of president and vice president, respectively, in the school-wide elections held Wednesday. Others that ascended to the S.C. executive board were Fred Schwartz '64, treasurer; Robert Horn '64, corresponding secretary; Ronald Novita '65, recording secretary; and Lawrence Handelsman '65, Activities Coordination Board Chairman.

The schoolwide referendum, to determine whether students desired another club break to be held Tuesday from 12-2, was resoundingly defeated 637-174.

In addition, Daniel Baumgarten

'64 and Joseph Traum '64 defeated Steven Eagle '65 in the contest for the two open seats as National Student Association delegate. Mr. Baumgarten and Mr. Traum received 518 and 493 votes respectively, while Mr. Eagle polled 268.

Mr. Grant, current Council vice president, polled the largest total number of "yes" votes, 625. Mr. Levitt received 587 "yes" votes, and only 105 "no" votes.

All other uncontested candidates won handily. Mr. Schwartz polled 583 "yes's", Mr. Horn, 505, Mr. Novita, 598, and Mr. Handelsman, 591. Only Mr. Horn had a high (Continued on Page 3)

Weiner, Vanderman Win CHP's Election

Howard Weiner '65 was elected to the presidency of Central House Plan for next semester in elections held Wednesday. He was victorious with 107 affirmative votes and two negative votes. Catherine Vanderman '65 won for vice-president, receiving 104 "yes" votes and four "no" votes.

David Biegelson '64 triumphed over Joel Berlin '65 for treasurer. They received 75 and 30 votes, respectively.

Rhoda Kurlander, uncontested for the position of corresponding secretary, won with 91 "yes" votes and 18 "no" votes. Irene Condos, also uncontested, won for recording secretary, receiving 105 "yes" votes and four "no" votes.

Fire Drill Causes Students To Evacuate Baruch School

The Baruch School was completely evacuated yesterday as a result of a fire drill called by Dean Emanuel Saxe.

The results of the drill were only "fair," Dean Saxe announced to students in the auditorium, after the exercise.

Starting at 11:46, the students took ten minutes to leave the building, according to the dean. He noted that if there had been a real fire, there would have been "serious difficulties." Dean Saxe also berated those students who acted "as if going to a party," as they descended the stairs.

He added that the drill would have been better if students didn't stop on the stairs for conversations, and used the proper stairway, as designated in each classroom.

In addition, the dean noted that the drill was necessary because many students in the School had never participated in a fire drill. The same was true for new faculty members, he added.

Annual Charter Day Cancelled for Spring

There is no Charter Day this term," Dean Emanuel Saxe declared Thursday. When asked by THE TICKER if there is any possibility that the decision could be changed, he added that it is off indefinitely.

The reason for the cancellation of the annual ceremony this year, the Dean noted, the refusal of the speaker "we wanted" to attend. Last year, the sudden cancellation of Supreme Court Justice (then Secretary of Labor) Arthur Goldberg, who was scheduled to speak, caused the Charter Day festivities to be cancelled.

Trophies, Tradition and Tri-State

By Steve Rappaport

Over the years City College has won many trophies. So many, in fact, that the newer ones are no longer displayed in the original trophy case in Wingate Hall. But this three-shelved cabinet encases the College's athletic tradition built up for more than 100 years.

Scattered among the trophies are mementos of the past: a soccer ball painted blue and white and lettered in Old English, "C.C.N.Y. Yale '0, November 17, 1917"; a baseball inscribed "C.C.N.Y. Princeton 8, April 1, 1939"; and a tattered football heralding a Beaver romp over Brooklyn, 43-13, on November 15, 1941 are among the most noticeable.

In the lower left-hand corner a golden trophy does not even attract average attention. But it should, because this trophy represents one of the greatest underdog achievements in sports history. It was presented to the College's basketball team after they completed the "grand slam" championship of both the N.I.T. and N.C.A.A. tournaments. It is emblazoned, "City College of New York, National Collegiate Basketball Champions, 1950."

Today, a meeting will be held by the Tri-State League to decide whether the conference should be divided into "A" and "B" divisions. If approved, the "A" bracket will include stronger teams, the "B" group will include weaker (non-athletic scholarship) teams.

It is in the best interest of the College's tradition and present status that C.C.N.Y. join the "A" league or drop out of the conference altogether. The "B" group should not even be considered.

After a disastrous (2-7) first season in the league four years ago, the Lavender improved and compiled a respectable 14-13 record. Against the stronger clubs (Fairfield, L.I.U., Rider, Adelphi, Bridgeport, and Fairleigh Dickinson) the Beavers had a 8-10 slate over the last three seasons. Win or lose, many of the games were close.

Against Brooklyn, Hunter, and Yeshiva City owns a 6-3 mark over the same span. These three teams want to join the proposed "B" league. The possibilities to replace these teams in the "A" bracket include Wagner, Hofstra, and Southern Connecticut.

All of the "A" division teams, with the exception of C.C.N.Y., give financial aid to athletes. There is a good possibility that additional athletic scholarships will be given to meet the tougher schedule. Furthermore, several of the "A" teams are intent upon gaining that elusive "big time" reputation. However, the Beavers are improving and will have a fair chance of hitting the .500 mark in the "A" group. In addition, the winner of the "A" division gets an automatic spot in the N.C.A.A. small college championships.

If, however, the burden of athletic scholarships becomes too great, then City can drop out of the "A" league. But at present, this does not have to be done.

Playing in the "B" bracket offers City few advantages. Besides Brooklyn, Hunter, and Yeshiva, this league will include Queens, Pratt, Pace, Brooklyn Poly, and Fairleigh Dickinson (Madison Branch) among others. Beating most of these teams would mean little regarding athletic achievement. Even if the Beavers copped the crown — which they would have a good chance of doing — the trophy would look puny and insignificant compared to the athletic accolades of the past. The Beavers will never again behold their "big time" name, but at this time they do not have to play in a "B" league to insure victories.

Also of importance is City's famous role as the underdog. With every "A" team offering athletic aid, C.C.N.Y., the darkhorse, must battle hard to win. But this is when victory means something. The team feels a sense of accomplishment when the favorite falters. When you are the underdog, both players and fans are "up" for the game.

In the past decade, four out of City's first six men lacked high school experience. Despite this handicap, the Lavender upset many small college teams as well as St. John's, St. Francis, and Fordham (twice). This is when you see City College in headlines. This is when the spectators appreciate the hard work of Coach Dave Polansky and his hustling players.

There may come a time in the future when the farce of athletic scholarships will force City to fall from the "A" league. But that time has not yet come.

Fred Grospin

Grospin Hits All-American

"I wasn't surprised. I knew I made it after the sectionals," said Fred Grospin, C.C.N.Y. rifle team captain after he was named all-American Wednesday.

In the National Rifle Association sectional tournament, Fred fired a 291 to pace the Lavender to first place. Grospin, in the individual contest, shot 295. His Metropolitan Conference average was 290 out of a possible 300.

Grospin became the third Beaver player in recent years to receive national honors. In 1961 Don Nunns and Bernie Renios were named to the all-American second team.

Harriers Boost Competition To Enter Met, NCAA Tilt

City College boosted its track competition by applying for readmission to the Metropolitan Conference and entering the N.C.A.A. college division championships. The announcements were made yesterday by Dr. Arthur DesGrey, faculty manager of athletics.

The Beavers were charter members of the Met Conference, but dropped out when the Korean War curtailed the College's athletic program. Included in the conference are St. John's, Fordham, Manhattan, N.Y.U., Fairleigh Dickinson, Iona, Seton Hall, and Rutgers.

According to Dr. DesGrey, "We've been improving and we can now meet this high caliber of competition once again. I'm not sure if we'll be able to participate in the fall, since the conference's schedule may already be made-up. However, I requested that the conference consider our application at its next meeting."

LoDolce Vita

Bob LoDolce, Beaver second sacker, is having a sweet season. He leads the team in runs scored (14), hits (21), and is third in batting (.339). LoDolce, a junior, attended Brooklyn Tech.

The N.C.A.A. meet will be July 7 and 8 in Chicago. C.C.N.Y.'s participants will be Owen Mast, Lenny Zane, John Bourne, Norman Jackman.

September Weekends Set At Falls Village

Baruch Camp, the annual City College September weekend, will be held September 6-8 at Camp Friedman, Falls Village, Connecticut.

Included in the program for year are canoeing, rowing, swimming, baseball, volleyball, and dancing. Special shows and inter-collegiate activities will be held.

There will be an innovation series of seminars on ethics, morality and their importance. A student of today are planned.

The total cost this year will be $17. A $5 deposit, to insure reservations, may be placed in the Student Center (first floor) between 2 and 2 every day.
