GSUC ARCHIVES VIII

DOCTORAL STUDENTS COUNCIL (DSC)

Note: The transfer of Doctoral Students Council files to the Archives was planned in the fall of 2007 and implemented in February, 2008. The files measured approximately 9-10 cu.ft., filling nine standard shipping cartons. The papers were mostly in manila and other folders, but some were in envelopes, others bundled with rubber bands, and still others just loose. Not all the folders were labeled and the files were in no discernible order. After discussions with Rob Faunce, then DSC co-chairman, processing was begun on April 21, 2008, and completed in late October of that year, after one more carton of papers had been transferred to the Archives in July.

As is the case with other record groups, the papers are filed in archival folders labeled with a title denoting their subject content; the folders are then stored in standard archival boxes alphabetically by title; and the boxes are labeled with the titles of the first and last folders they contain. Folder labels (“subjects”) correspond as closely as possible to those used in other record groups, and generally apply to material concerning the GSUC or CUNY as a whole. When the same label applies more narrowly to the DSC itself, it has been used as a subdivision under DSC; thus, for example, “Finances” applies to CUNY or the GSUC, but “DSC—Finances” applies to the DSC’s own funding and expenditures.

As in the other record groups, documents are generally filed in reverse chronological order (i.e., latest to earliest), and subject terms take precedence over personal names. They are normally not inverted to keywords but given in the natural word order; e.g., “National Lawyers Guild” is filed thus, and not as “Lawyers Guild, National.” Personal names are filed under the last name (the family name). Since only a few folders have labels denoting personal names, they have not been segregated in a subgroup but have been filed in their proper alphabetical place among the subject folders. There are no specific cross-references in this Guide from the personal names to the subjects in which they are mentioned. Cross-references are used between synonyms and wherever else it was deemed useful; but the “find” feature of Microsoft Word largely obviates their use.

Serial publications of the DSC and other student organizations in the Graduate Center are in the Periodicals record group.

Many documents are typed or written on the back of other papers. An effort has been made to cross out the unwanted side to prevent or at least minimize confusion that might result when documents are removed from their folder. Also, many documents are undated, but, when possible, a probable date was supplied if it could be deduced from the context.

A small batch of additional papers was transferred to the Archives in October, 2009. In 2010, a large collection of older files was discovered in the DSC and adjacent offices, and a project was undertaken to scan those files, along with more recent documents, into a computer and then transfer the scanned files to the Archives. Seven large cartons of these were transferred to the Archives in September 2011 and the rest, 13 more cartons, in 2012. These files were in no discernible order and in poor physical condition. Many contained an enormous number of duplicates; many other papers were of no archival value (such as receipts for refreshments, an individual's note about not attending a DSC meeting, and the like). All were evaluated; then the duplicates and trivia were discarded, and the remainder processed and integrated into the existing DSC record group.
