Mr. Eamon McCann, chairman of the Derry Northern Labour Party, spoke at York College on Friday, March 20. Mr. McCann has been traveling throughout the United States for purposes of both observation and to gain financial and moral support for his party. He and his workers had attempted to get him onto a nationally televised program with poor results, Both Johnny Carson's and Merv Griffin's representatives dismissed him by claiming that the subject did not have enough public interest or attendance. Dick Cavett had scheduled a speaker on the subject.

McCann is an outspoken, well-versed, and sincere representative of his country's needs. He takes this position that the hope of Ireland lies in radical economic building in order to begin elimination of racial animosity. He believes that the entire equality question is perpetuated by the economic situation in the whole of Ireland. If there were to be jobs and housing of sufficient number, inequalities in today's Ireland might vanish.

"...troops are still separating Catholics and Protestants, with the Protestants fighting the British to get to the Catholics."

The Nationalist Party developed, led by the Catholic middle class, with the parish priest usually the local chairman of the Party. The Catholic community wants reunification, and has created the Irish Republican Army, active in both parts of the country. The IRA initiative terror campaigns, the last one being in 1956-1963, destroying much government property and bringing as a result much repression against Catholics.

The Northern Ireland Civil Rights Movement started in fear that a civil war might develop and started to work outside the political institutions. Politics was to be taken to the streets in the city of Derry as a shortage of government supplied housing was in progress. A caravan of uninsured people was formed to express the general feeling of the Catholics that the Protestants were getting more than their fair share of government built housing. The caravan was successful and for the first time Catholics realized that they could win some of their demands. The marchers were mainly working class young people of Catholics and Protestants.

As for the case of this march, the Catholics walked along the Protestant parade routes. Police pushed the march into the Catholic sector in Bogside, and window breaking and rioting then took place. Catholics were outraged by the police's action of beating the marchers, chairman of the Derry Northern Labour Party, spoke at York College on Friday, March 20. Mr. McCann has been traveling throughout the United States for purposes of both observation and to gain financial and moral support for his party.
Social Science Divisional Requirements Established

The Social Science Division of York College has proposed requirements changes for the social science options to be presented next semester for the consideration of the Academic Senate.

The Curriculum Committee is now considering changes proposed. These proposals will be forwarded to the Faculty Council which will act on the recommendations of the Curriculum Committee.

Expansion plans call for sufficient space for social science curricula, which will ensure that students desiring to pursue a major in social science will have the chance to do so.

In past years, a variety of courses for students majoring in political science, psychology, and sociology have been made available.

An effort is being made to ensure that social science courses are of the highest quality and that the faculty teaching these courses are qualified.

The Department of Political Science and Psychology is currently in the process of making changes in the political science curriculum.

In order to provide a more comprehensive political science program, the new courses will focus on contemporary issues and problems.

In order to ensure the quality of these courses, the department is consulting with other academic departments to ensure that there is a cohesive approach to the curriculum.

Overall, the changes proposed are intended to provide students with a more comprehensive and relevant social science education.

Some disciplines are preparing proposals for the development of undergraduate and graduate programs in various disciplines of the social sciences.

The Social Science Division is currently in the process of considering changes in the political science curriculum, and the faculty is working to ensure that the new courses are of the highest quality.

In order to ensure that the social science courses are relevant to the needs of students, the department is consulting with other academic departments to ensure that there is a cohesive approach to the curriculum.

The changes proposed are intended to provide students with a more comprehensive and relevant social science education.

Urban Corps Fact Sheet

The New York City Urban Corps is the nation's first and largest social action program designed for university students in municipal government service, and it is operated by the City of New York.

The Urban Corps provides full-time job training for the summer and part-time employment during the year while in session.

The Urban Corps is designed to serve three basic goals:

A. To provide an opportunity for York College students to work for City government by working as a field intern in their career interests, and to become personally involved in the problems of the City.

B. To provide a source of financial assistance to students who must work in order to continue their higher education plans.

C. To provide the City with a pool of motivated young workers capable of carrying out the urgently needed assignments.

The Urban Corps offers students a valuable experience and an academic background as indicated in the appendix of this program.

The program is designed to prepare students for graduate education, and it is expected that they will complete their professional course work while attending college.

The 1970 summer program will begin June 8, and continue until August 29th.

The program may, however, be extended for a number of weeks.

The academic year program, 1970-71, will begin at the end of September, 1970.

The Urban Corps Program is conducted through the College Work-Study Program, which has enabled it to implement programs and provide services which would otherwise have been impossible.

Urban Corps students have been a study of municipal ambulance service, a survey of vacant pocket housing needs, tutoring in Catholic schools, participation in Theatre Arts, and expansion of recreation programs in City parks and housing projects.

Placement is based on the student's own assignment preference, career experience and academic background as indicated in the application. Students are referred by mail for an interview at their respective jobs.

The Office of Higher Education of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare which supervises the program, encourages college students to seek off-campus jobs with public service organizations for their students.

In response to questions about the action of students and others regarding the Bi-Linguistic Program at Bronx Community College, the Chairman of the Board of Higher Education, Mr. Frederick Burkhardt, cited the following facts:

Students yesterday (March 9) undertook to present a series of complaints and demands in conjunction with the operation of the Bi-Linguistic Program at Bronx Community College, which had been temporarily suspended by President James Colston on Friday afternoon, March 6, because of social disturbances.

The list of grievances was made available to the Chairman of the Board, President Colston and several members of the Chancellor's staff who were available at the Board headquarters. As a result, Colston was made aware of the student grievances.

In the case reassignment will be made.

The City of New York meets all Federal criteria of an off-campus work program, which are urgently needed assignments. It is hoped that the interns after graduation will return to City employment and complete the job they started while attending college.

Organizations which have unions in the City will be asked to consult the Work-Study office to arrange for a negotiation of the terms of employment to complete the job started by the interns.

The Political Science Department is currently in the process of making changes in the political science curriculum.

In the political science curriculum, the following resolution was passed: "The Political Science Department has been making changes in the political science curriculum to provide a more comprehensive and relevant political science education."

The changes proposed are intended to provide students with a more comprehensive and relevant political science education.

Some disciplines are preparing proposals for the development of undergraduate and graduate programs in various disciplines of the social sciences.

The Social Science Division is currently in the process of considering changes in the political science curriculum, and the faculty is working to ensure that the new courses are of the highest quality.

In order to ensure that the social science courses are relevant to the needs of students, the department is consulting with other academic departments to ensure that there is a cohesive approach to the curriculum.

The changes proposed are intended to provide students with a more comprehensive and relevant social science education.

Urban Corps Fact Sheet

The City of New York meets all Federal criteria of an off-campus work program, which are urgently needed assignments. It is hoped that the interns after graduation will return to City employment and complete the job they started while attending college.

Organizations which have unions in the City will be asked to consult the Work-Study office to arrange for a negotiation of the terms of employment to complete the job started by the interns.

The Political Science Department is currently in the process of making changes in the political science curriculum.

In the political science curriculum, the following resolution was passed: "The Political Science Department has been making changes in the political science curriculum to provide a more comprehensive and relevant political science education."

The changes proposed are intended to provide students with a more comprehensive and relevant political science education.

Some disciplines are preparing proposals for the development of undergraduate and graduate programs in various disciplines of the social sciences.

The Social Science Division is currently in the process of considering changes in the political science curriculum, and the faculty is working to ensure that the new courses are of the highest quality.

In order to ensure that the social science courses are relevant to the needs of students, the department is consulting with other academic departments to ensure that there is a cohesive approach to the curriculum.

The changes proposed are intended to provide students with a more comprehensive and relevant social science education.

Students Score Plan

In response to questions about the action of students and others regarding the Bi-Linguistic Program at Bronx Community College, the Chairman of the Board of Higher Education, Mr. Frederick Burkhardt, cited the following facts:

Students yesterday (March 9) undertook to present a series of complaints and demands in conjunction with the operation of the Bi-Linguistic Program at Bronx Community College, which had been temporarily suspended by President James Colston on Friday afternoon, March 6, because of social disturbances.

The list of grievances was made available to the Chairman of the Board, President Colston and several members of the Chancellor's staff who were available at the Board headquarters. As a result, Colston was made aware of the student grievances.

In the case reassignment will be made.
by Steve Lynch

In reaction to the rapidly worsening drug problem at York College, Dean of Students Richard Green appeared in the cafeteria last Thursday to explain the seriousness of the problem. Speaking at the impromptu Student Body meeting, Dr. Green explained the seriousness of the problem. He stated briefly that heroin addiction and death in New York City, he said, last Thursday at 1:15 and explained the seriousness of the problem. Speaking at the impromptu Student Body meeting, Dr. Green replied that it was twice as potent as morphine. No one treatment for heroin addiction works in all cases, and there are almost as many approaches to the problem as there are experts.

One method is the so-called "British system," which was established in England as a methadone substitute and suppressor. Only later was it realized that it was twice as potent as morphine. No one treatment for heroin addiction works in all cases, and there are almost as many approaches to the problem as there are experts.

...

HERION was believed to be harmless when it was developed in Germany in 1910 as a morphine substitute and cough suppressant. Only later was it realized that it was twice as potent as morphine. No one treatment for heroin addiction works in all cases, and there are almost as many approaches to the problem as there are experts.

The essence of Dr. Green's speech was anticipation of this event in the college. He stated briefly that heroin addiction and death in New York City, he said, last Thursday at 1:15 and explained the seriousness of the problem. Speaking at the impromptu Student Body meeting, Dr. Green replied that it was twice as potent as morphine. No one treatment for heroin addiction works in all cases, and there are almost as many approaches to the problem as there are experts.

The essence of Dr. Green's speech was anticipation of this event in the college. He stated briefly that heroin addiction and death in New York City, he said, last Thursday at 1:15 and explained the seriousness of the problem. Speaking at the impromptu Student Body meeting, Dr. Green replied that it was twice as potent as morphine. No one treatment for heroin addiction works in all cases, and there are almost as many approaches to the problem as there are experts.

The essence of Dr. Green's speech was anticipation of this event in the college. He stated briefly that heroin addiction and death in New York City, he said, last Thursday at 1:15 and explained the seriousness of the problem. Speaking at the impromptu Student Body meeting, Dr. Green replied that it was twice as potent as morphine. No one treatment for heroin addiction works in all cases, and there are almost as many approaches to the problem as there are experts.

The essence of Dr. Green's speech was anticipation of this event in the college. He stated briefly that heroin addiction and death in New York City, he said, last Thursday at 1:15 and explained the seriousness of the problem. Speaking at the impromptu Student Body meeting, Dr. Green replied that it was twice as potent as morphine. No one treatment for heroin addiction works in all cases, and there are almost as many approaches to the problem as there are experts.

The essence of Dr. Green's speech was anticipation of this event in the college. He stated briefly that heroin addiction and death in New York City, he said, last Thursday at 1:15 and explained the seriousness of the problem. Speaking at the impromptu Student Body meeting, Dr. Green replied that it was twice as potent as morphine. No one treatment for heroin addiction works in all cases, and there are almost as many approaches to the problem as there are experts.
An Educational Living Experiment

They're coming. They will be a mass of new students, and this campus is prepared. The administration and faculty are frightened of open enrollment and the problems that may come. Some are alarmed about situations that have not yet happened. It is surprising that certain students are actually looking forward to the "quality" of these admitted under the new program. Just as to fame to academics, a secret that one is the most outrageous experiment in an educational setting. Perhaps freedom is more alluring than restricted atmosphere of the lower grades and high school, in any case, they perform. For too long such students have been denied the chance to try the situation open enrollment in offering them the chance. Only those who believe that a grade school may mean a person's worth can dissent.

On a non-academic level, students are arriving at the prospect of open enrollment because it threats the basic character of the College. At present, this campus is a giant mirror in which you see yourself and what is happening. Open enrollment could provide an enlightening experience for those who are made uneasy by an afro, and perhaps underclassmen, and the fact students will have to abandon their carefully guarded fantasies in the car. The new program will gradually increase the number of blacks on campus, and the total increase of the student body will force black and white to mingle. The wall of the tomb will have to break under the pressure, and blacks and whites who happily, or haphazardly, isolate themselves from other cultures will stop acting out.

The time is now to realize that the isolation cannot last. Our college career must end, and the white community is running out of islands on Long Island. Open enrollment will force white and black culture to mix and to date on one in the world has died from a case of culture shock. It could be a new experience for many, but that is what this campus should be all about; it could offer the kind of education that no other institution on campus can offer. Perhaps blacks and whites shall teach each other important lessons that they form a fruitful and exploited people, separated only by degree, and those who wish to remain in power.

So, if the program is going to work, students must get together; but the ultimate success of open enrollment rests with the faculty. Reactions ranging from mild concern to horror have emerged about situations that have not happened. It is surprising that certain students are actually looking forward to the "quality" of these admitted under the new program. Just as to fame to academics, a secret that one is the most outrageous experiment in an educational setting. Perhaps freedom is more alluring than restricted atmosphere of the lower grades and high school, in any case, they perform. For too long such students have been denied the chance to try the situation open enrollment in offering them the chance. Only those who believe that a grade school may mean a person's worth can dissent.

The academic goals of the College, as an institution have been undermined by an ever-increasing tendency to game. There are some who have come to believe that the distinction between various courses of study is blurred, that these courses are identical in substance, cheap, eligible, acceptable, and available at little or no cost. Such standards are hard to attack by an increased number of studies.

There are serious students here as well, students who care about anyone else's, his or her welfare, and those who wish to remain under the pressure, and blacks and whites who happily, or haphazardly, isolate themselves from other cultures will stop acting out.

The time is now to realize that the isolation cannot last. Our college career must end, and the white community is running out of islands on Long Island. Open enrollment will force white and black culture to mix and to date on one in the world has died from a case of culture shock. It could be a new experience for many, but that is what this campus should be all about; it could offer the kind of education that no other institution on campus can offer. Perhaps blacks and whites shall teach each other important lessons that they form a fruitful and exploited people, separated only by degree, and those who wish to remain in power.

The academic goals of the College, as an institution have been undermined by an ever-increasing tendency to game. There are some who have come to believe that the distinction between various courses of study is blurred, that these courses are identical in substance, cheap, eligible, acceptable, and available at little or no cost. Such standards are hard to attack by an increased number of studies.

There are serious students here as well, students who care about anyone else's, his or her welfare, and those who wish to remain under the pressure, and blacks and whites who happily, or haphazardly, isolate themselves from other cultures will stop acting out.

The time is now to realize that the isolation cannot last. Our college career must end, and the white community is running out of islands on Long Island. Open enrollment will force white and black culture to mix and to date on one in the world has died from a case of culture shock. It could be a new experience for many, but that is what this campus should be all about; it could offer the kind of education that no other institution on campus can offer. Perhaps blacks and whites shall teach each other important lessons that they form a fruitful and exploited people, separated only by degree, and those who wish to remain in power.

The academic goals of the College, as an institution have been undermined by an ever-increasing tendency to game. There are some who have come to believe that the distinction between various courses of study is blurred, that these courses are identical in substance, cheap, eligible, acceptable, and available at little or no cost. Such standards are hard to attack by an increased number of studies.

There are serious students here as well, students who care about anyone else's, his or her welfare, and those who wish to remain under the pressure, and blacks and whites who happily, or haphazardly, isolate themselves from other cultures will stop acting out.

The time is now to realize that the isolation cannot last. Our college career must end, and the white community is running out of islands on Long Island. Open enrollment will force white and black culture to mix and to date on one in the world has died from a case of culture shock. It could be a new experience for many, but that is what this campus should be all about; it could offer the kind of education that no other institution on campus can offer. Perhaps blacks and whites shall teach each other important lessons that they form a fruitful and exploited people, separated only by degree, and those who wish to remain in power.

The academic goals of the College, as an institution have been undermined by an ever-increasing tendency to game. There are some who have come to believe that the distinction between various courses of study is blurred, that these courses are identical in substance, cheap, eligible, acceptable, and available at little or no cost. Such standards are hard to attack by an increased number of studies.

There are serious students here as well, students who care about anyone else's, his or her welfare, and those who wish to remain under the pressure, and blacks and whites who happily, or haphazardly, isolate themselves from other cultures will stop acting out.

The time is now to realize that the isolation cannot last. Our college career must end, and the white community is running out of islands on Long Island. Open enrollment will force white and black culture to mix and to date on one in the world has died from a case of culture shock. It could be a new experience for many, but that is what this campus should be all about; it could offer the kind of education that no other institution on campus can offer. Perhaps blacks and whites shall teach each other important lessons that they form a fruitful and exploited people, separated only by degree, and those who wish to remain in power.

The academic goals of the College, as an institution have been undermined by an ever-increasing tendency to game. There are some who have come to believe that the distinction between various courses of study is blurred, that these courses are identical in substance, cheap, eligible, acceptable, and available at little or no cost. Such standards are hard to attack by an increased number of studies.

There are serious students here as well, students who care about anyone else's, his or her welfare, and those who wish to remain under the pressure, and blacks and whites who happily, or haphazardly, isolate themselves from other cultures will stop acting out.
Women Tire of Prone Position

by Roberta Dorry

"The only position for women in SINC is prone." This statement of Shubly Caruthen sums up the attitude of radical men toward the women in their organizations. When women realized their own oppression in groups fighting people's oppression they formed the Women's Liberation Movement. Membership in these women's organizations has spread from radical high school and college students to white middle-class formerly non-political housewives.

Women are asking questions and demanding answers. Why do women get paid less than men for the same amount of work? Why are women who work expected to clean, wash, and cook? What does society come up with? Why are there so many secretaries? Why must women bear the responsibility of raising children that men help to make? Why don't women have the right to have an abortion? The answer to these questions is that women are an oppressed class.

Benign Neglect and All That

by Paul Fine

You have dreamed this before: to which heights of provincialism are the people going to rise, and you, there is no way of knowing. A woman's theoretically inevitable downfall is akin to the Nixon regime. A well-aimed pogrom, it slowly rolls over on itself, its possibilities and culminations. From the recession of the White House and the grip interior of the Ministry of Justice, devoid of direction, and in the main, a heap of propaganda, one can conclude that society is fused with the unforeseeable and the unforeseeable becomes a reality.

The same as Nixon's egophish and triviality, with a strong smell of soap opera, diction and crafty protest, Carrawell is a model of the type of government that has been let down by the government, man or a woman. Those who would read like Simple Simon's diary, it is a deliberate, almost criminal attempt to nauseate the Illustrious Majority caricature, a more salutary organization of the John Doe-Sammy Smith idea. These lower-middle-class and working class grumblers desperately are those who their dissatisfaction are divorced from those of the college and high school professionals. They have never been socialized- either by the schools, by their probable authorities, religiously moral parents, by their friends - that the problems of social justice, of layoffs, discrimination, and factories, the oppressors, the tax revolt, the corruption - that its value is in a post-industrial society is fused with the middling results of industrial, governmental, and political budget over the decades. To cite one case, the Reconstruction period should never be ended; it should have been planned on national basis, and society should arrange to meet the social and personal needs of the people. But none of this was done. Corporations and politicians made their blood-soaked profits without caring about the working people, and those who were left to sift for themselves, other groups did not encourage the public, and the public was not so much perverted, and the myth of the Melling Machines, the All-Seeing Empire, or the like, is still with us.

One of the lawyers involved in the abortion repeal case was present at the meeting. She said that even if abortions are legalized in New York State they will still cost about four hundred dollars. Doctors in New York hospitals were asked whether they are equipped to handle abortion cases if the law is repealed. Most doctors said little research has been done on abortions and that they are not equipped to handle them properly. They also said they found abortions boring and that they would rather perform deliveries. One woman who worked in a hospital said male doctors refer to women patients as "cattle."

Fear and guilt surround the women who have an illegal abortion. She never knows if she will come through the abortion unless the women decides to give up her child. If there were more doctors who were capable of handling these cases, child is for the rest of her life. Unless, there is any doubt about the New York state abortion laws are declared unconstitutional. Women will never be free from the threat of unwanted pregnancies.

On March 25th at 12 Noon there will be a demonstration at Union Square against New York State abortion laws. All women who want the right to control their bodies should come to this rally.

Dean's List

Fifty-seven sophomores and juniors and twelve freshmen of York College of The City University will be honored for outstanding academic achievement at the next meeting, Monday, April 3, 8 P.M., on the college campus.

Dr. DuMont F. Kennedy, president, will be among the faculty and administration who will join with the students and their parents in marking this noteworthy occasion.

The following are sophomores and juniors who make the Dean's Honor List which reflects the top 4% of their class academically or those who have attained at least a 3.57 index (4.00 in equivalent GPA) for the past semester.

TRAILER #1 OFFICE HOURS

MON. 9-12 & 1-2

TUES. 12-4

WED. 9-10 & 1-2

THURS. 9-10 & 12-4

TO ALL MOTORISTS

IF YOU FAIL TO STOP BEFORE LEAVING THE Lot, THE COPS WILL GIVE YOU A TICKET.

---

Pandora's Box

Takes Great Pleasure in Announcing

The Establishment of The Firm of:

Hartenberg, Rutenbergs, & Gross, Inc.

office hours will be available from the secretary at 591-1200 or by mail at 156-11, Jewel Ave., Flushing, New York, 11365

"When critical philosophers point their finger to reality, orthodox philosophers study the finger..."
Assimililated Adaption

Daybreak. Sunlight enters through the shuttered windows. Polluted by smog the sightless coruscations of yellow, spotlight dusting dirt particles that occupy the spaces. Reflective, once burning goldish track surfaces, are no where to be seen. The mental exudes, once heroes of proud streets, are now skittering - like mad, like ants.

The last supply of gas masks are used by the sanitation crew. There is so much work to be done, Abandoned cars, petrified trees, anachronistic sidewalks, all must be cleared. Pollution is settling rapidly into every crevice and every corner. Old newspapers containing anti-smog editorials roam the streets, fleeting, down boulevards of human "worms", snarling at - and - you, as you walk through their yellowed folds. Open manholes bid callous, stumped; people wildly searching for "an" place of escape. But pollution was bred in those alleys of pipes, and as such Death is our only escape.

There was a time when Earth was free from interdimensional existence. However, man has created out of his own hands, a mad clearly eternal, contaminating soul. Industries deep into rivers and oceans. Unneeded military and commercial transportation systems were built, thereby removing airborne dust, choking air and moving lands. Many of the day old polluted remnants set against those glowing manholes. Meanwhile, there was no suffering. Only satiation - in drawing larger and faster engines in faster trips to London. In inescapable irresistible alternatives. Crisis of cars, "Progress" they called it.

Life is being strangled out. Ultraviolet sometimes rise on the public's attention. Street corner preachers are forced to crawl away. On their backs the race of science try to calm their public's fainting hearts. Their lives of imminent change will die, on more suffering, thus must evolve with his environment - or die. Perhaps, the force will be further modified to exist in larger amounts of carbon dioxide. Or, maybe that will become immune to his deadly surroundings - one never knows what will happen. After all, polluted water may have served as some sort of 'shoddy' vaccination to its own subjects and give change. Who knows? (They seemed to say).

"Night falls, and in doing so lowers the image of the earth's surface. The end is drawing near, and with no sign of the prophesized "remonstrant" - metamorphosis; the new beginning. Life can not make love. All breathable air must be saved. Even the strong will not survive here. Only the quiet, new, now, pale, hypocritical, blooming prayers of gull and religion, still with more to speculate the dark black air. All men, "reading" in this horizontal man is equal - and all love it. Soons are having the Earth farce for those that we may not be able to hold. Possible But, perlish "preparing" national supplies similar to air supply, and by trained persons on these are now available. They seem to be from the old and new prayers - again men into absurdity. Some gods lower with their own God, C. A. child in prayer, Desde, could never have experienced, these are getting lower...POP.

4:02 and Counting

My life-time shadows
My every step
Is a body, cold, and waiting
For someone or something to happen.

But nothing does; and yet she Stays,
Not out of idiocy but only folly
She waits for me to fail...

She is some mad nonsense
A miserable, stubborn old thing...
Based on the need of something
She denied the rest and denied, before me in countless circumstances.

Love, I am as cold as her
I wish I could be cold and comfort the rest of you but your delicate hands overpower me.

So I must away to the line
To where two things bear the heat
And like each time I climate
Give up the office on the line
And I will not wait for you
To only check your mental state, and

R. Brinn
Letters to the Editor

Concerns on Conspiracy

Dear Editor,

Although it appeared to be a great shock to many observers, the trial of the Chicago Conspiracy Trial actually were not as mysterious an event as it was believed to be. It was simply a case of the police receiving a tip and the demonstration leaders prior to the Democratic Convention. Whereas the police received inspiration from Mayor Daley, so too did the judge allegedly receive his instructions from higher-up sources.

This bias from the impartial bench is just as disgusting as the police riots of 1968. Since porters, besides placing the judge in alienating many potential supporters, their approach and then if there are no fascist policies to protest?" Minister Pimpleton questioned.

"Oh, no," explained the school’s officials, "we certainly have enough things designed to make students sick, but we’re too smart to be subject to that student takeover crap. Take, for instance, the idea of taking over the Administration Building - it’s impossible."

Whether the danger from the Right is another matter entirely, so as not to give him the impression that the whole of American students were campus revolutionaries, visionaries, hallucinators and bunk room creating effective fetishes. In short, the United States was ready to be attacked to cordially invite Minister Plimpeton (for that is his name) to a guided tour of Stork College, Minister Plimpeton graciously accepted.

Dean Wimpleton was busy thinking, "And how about the academic facilities? Do your courses respond to student needs?" He then reminded me of the courses that students want simply because the conditions are so bad and numerous they are going to be given enough thinking. He went on to say that the students were not very interested in talking about how we are going to go about it. His primary concern was to try and understand the causes of college violence. The government, on receiving his application for visa decided that it was best to limit his tour to a model university, so as not to give him the impression that the whole of American students were campus revolutionaries, visionaries, hallucinators and bunk room creating effective fetishes. In short, the United States was ready to be attacked to cordially invite Minister Plimpeton (for that is his name) to a guided tour of Stork College, Minister Plimpeton graciously accepted.

Dean Wimpleton was busy thinking, "And how about the academic facilities? Do your courses respond to student needs?" He then reminded me of the courses that students want simply because the conditions are so bad and numerous they are going to be given enough thinking. He went on to say that the students were not very interested in talking about how we are going to go about it. His primary concern was to try and understand the causes of college violence. The government, on receiving his application for visa decided that it was best to limit his tour to a model university, so as not to give him the impression that the whole of American students were campus revolutionaries, visionaries, hallucinators and bunk room creating effective fetishes. In short, the United States was ready to be attacked to cordially invite Minister Plimpeton (for that is his name) to a guided tour of Stork College, Minister Plimpeton graciously accepted.

Dean Wimpleton was busy thinking, "And how about the academic facilities? Do your courses respond to student needs?" He then reminded me of the courses that students want simply because the conditions are so bad and numerous they are going to be given enough thinking. He went on to say that the students were not very interested in talking about how we are going to go about it. His primary concern was to try and understand the causes of college violence. The government, on receiving his application for visa decided that it was best to limit his tour to a model university, so as not to give him the impression that the whole of American students were campus revolutionaries, visionaries, hallucinators and bunk room creating effective fetishes. In short, the United States was ready to be attacked to cordially invite Minister Plimpeton (for that is his name) to a guided tour of Stork College, Minister Plimpeton graciously accepted.

Dean Wimpleton was busy thinking, "And how about the academic facilities? Do your courses respond to student needs?" He then reminded me of the courses that students want simply because the conditions are so bad and numerous they are going to be given enough thinking. He went on to say that the students were not very interested in talking about how we are going to go about it. His primary concern was to try and understand the causes of college violence. The government, on receiving his application for visa decided that it was best to limit his tour to a model university, so as not to give him the impression that the whole of American students were campus revolutionaries, visionaries, hallucinators and bunk room creating effective fetishes. In short, the United States was ready to be attacked to cordially invite Minister Plimpeton (for that is his name) to a guided tour of Stork College, Minister Plimpeton graciously accepted.

Dean Wimpleton was busy thinking, "And how about the academic facilities? Do your courses respond to student needs?" He then reminded me of the courses that students want simply because the conditions are so bad and numerous they are going to be given enough thinking. He went on to say that the students were not very interested in talking about how we are going to go about it. His primary concern was to try and understand the causes of college violence. The government, on receiving his application for visa decided that it was best to limit his tour to a model university, so as not to give him the impression that the whole of American students were campus revolutionaries, visionaries, hallucinators and bunk room creating effective fetishes. In short, the United States was ready to be attacked to cordially invite Minister Plimpeton (for that is his name) to a guided tour of Stork College, Minister Plimpeton graciously accepted.

Dean Wimpleton was busy thinking, "And how about the academic facilities? Do your courses respond to student needs?" He then reminded me of the courses that students want simply because the conditions are so bad and numerous they are going to be given enough thinking. He went on to say that the students were not very interested in talking about how we are going to go about it. His primary concern was to try and understand the causes of college violence. The government, on receiving his application for visa decided that it was best to limit his tour to a model university, so as not to give him the impression that the whole of American students were campus revolutionaries, visionaries, hallucinators and bunk room creating effective fetishes. In short, the United States was ready to be attacked to cordially invite Minister Plimpeton (for that is his name) to a guided tour of Stork College, Minister Plimpeton graciously accepted.

Dean Wimpleton was busy thinking, "And how about the academic facilities? Do your courses respond to student needs?" He then reminded me of the courses that students want simply because the conditions are so bad and numerous they are going to be given enough thinking. He went on to say that the students were not very interested in talking about how we are going to go about it. His primary concern was to try and understand the causes of college violence. The government, on receiving his application for visa decided that it was best to limit his tour to a model university, so as not to give him the impression that the whole of American students were campus revolutionaries, visionaries, hallucinators and bunk room creating effective fetishes. In short, the United States was ready to be attacked to cordially invite Minister Plimpeton (for that is his name) to a guided tour of Stork College, Minister Plimpeton graciously accepted.

Dean Wimpleton was busy thinking, "And how about the academic facilities? Do your courses respond to student needs?" He then reminded me of the courses that students want simply because the conditions are so bad and numerous they are going to be given enough thinking. He went on to say that the students were not very interested in talking about how we are going to go about it. His primary concern was to try and understand the causes of college violence. The government, on receiving his application for visa decided that it was best to limit his tour to a model university, so as not to give him the impression that the whole of American students were campus revolutionaries, visionaries, hallucinators and bunk room creating effective fetishes. In short, the United States was ready to be attacked to cordially invite Minister Plimpeton (for that is his name) to a guided tour of Stork College, Minister Plimpeton graciously accepted.
The moral of history is... that the capitalist system works against a rational agriculture, or that a rational agriculture is incompatible with the capitalist system (although it later promotes technical improvements in agriculture)... —Marx/CAPITAL, III

Capital manifests itself as capital through self-expansion. —CAPITAL, III

The military industrial complex which governs the greatest empire in human history, and which is making the earth unfit for human habitation, operates through a logic of domination that is both "rational" and irrational. Its rationality expresses itself through the conclusion that the rich nations which are in a positive feedback loop involving technological development, wealth, and political control should continue to deprive the underdeveloped nations of their own resources. If these resources are limited, and if the people of the "third" world are starving and illiterate, then the new species of technology, the political/economic high tech, can be sold. The power to devour the inferior pre-technological elements of nature is the new godhead. The new technology can turn industrial products into nature's own commodities, forcing the "third" world to compete with itself. In this way, the new technology destroys the enemy while guaranteeing that the ruling class that has created the present situation.

The study of ecosystems, of the interactions between organisms and their environments, teaches us that we can never change only one element of the system. The study of human social relations teaches us that no structural change in the way social resources are produced, distributed, consumed, or reproduced can be merely technological or "new". Those who would imply that the remedy for environmental pollution is more technology are actually arguing for more power for the ruling class that has created the present situation. All social changes in ecological relations are made by political groups embodying definite value priorities. Capitalist logic is a logic that subordinates qualitative relations to the quantitative relations of the market. The profitable production of death now threatens all forms of life on earth. Necessary adaptive changes depend upon an evolutionary break, a new logic alone can create the opportunity for a fundamental reorientation of attitudes toward political, living space, social health, education, communication, transportation, and administration of global energy resources. To comprehend the political meaning of ecology is to see particular problems in the context of the present social system. Those who would see the present social system as self, the experience of limits as virtue and its goal must always be the seizure of state power and its fundamental sociological causes or creates new elements of state power and the transformation of relations of production based upon private ownership and profit into social control of the means of production which maximizes participation from all social strata and all geographical regions without cultural lag.
When the young Marx wrote that the criticism of religion is the premise of all criticism, his perspective was necessarily different from what our own must be. In his time, religion appeared in the form of powerful organizational forms which offered abstract illusion and hope that reconciled men living their lives as shadows of their hopes and their real sensual and spiritual potentials. Men make religion as part of their progress toward more internalized and satisfying modes of social regulation. Religion has always functioned as an environmental technology, mediating between instinct, law, and reason. The dialectical way of perceiving correspondence to the extent that the structures created by the processes of human evolution tend to impede further evolution. Religious forms must be destroyed to realize their essential aspirations as practice on earth. The central aspiration of religion is toward open intercourse within the self, between the self and others, between the self and nature, between the biological message and the environment. The evolution of life has been a continuous process of the self-modification of the biosphere as well as the extension of the biosphere through the modification of the environment.

Human evolution has occurred primarily through the development of the sociogenetic system, especially through the development of language, systems of social coordination, and the production of new energy resources. However, the fact that cultural evolution has been more important than genetic evolution does not mean that the biological evolution of mankind has stopped. Rather, the very intensity of cultural change makes it certain that genetic effects will result. Because men are SO adaptive, they can degrade themselves into the behavior of the third world will starve while we consume our resources.

The United States “Defense” budget guarantees that the people of the third world will starve while we consume our resources.

Political ecology is the science of the biosocial determination of the continuous planned production and distribution of natural and social ecological relations. Political ecology is evolution conscious of its own processes and directed by real human needs.

The evolutionary system may be divided into four main sub-systems. First is the genetic system, the transmission of information from one generation to the next in the form of heredity, including mutation. Second is the natural selection system, the differential reproduction of all processes that determine that some individuals of a species will leave more offspring than others. Third is the epigenetic system, the development of an individual organism into an adult through the activation of its biological program by a specific environment. Fourth is the sociogenetic system, including all the methods used by organisms or social organizations to maintain an adaptive equilibrium with their environment. The main theme of evolving ecosystems is the appropriation and utilization of energy resources. The central motive of the evolution of life into complex forms is the greater adaptive value of organization in the maintenance of control of the environment and determination of the energy fluctuations that may be achieved through rapid population turnover and recombination of genetic variants or through modification of the properties of organisms and their social organizations. Greater size means more internal environment, more internal energy, more internal organization, and more potential for regulating the external environment. Each new level of organization makes possible a new degree of freedom with regard to both insulating the organism and providing new opportunities for interaction between organism and biological message and the environment. The evolution of life has been a continuous process of the self-modification of the biosphere as well as the extension of the biosphere through the modification of the environment.

Pondering St. Francis or even appointing him patron saint of the ecologically oriented movement is not likely to change the investment priorities of the Chase Manhattan Bank.

The needs, limits, and potentials of organisms in their ecological relations must govern our science and our social being, not the needs of a market system or the fantasies of technicians.
The year's squad is the strongest in club history. Returning from last year's squad and participating in four scrimmages with the opposition are held at Fresh Meadow Park with the emphasis on fundraising. The Lacrosse Club has started.

York College Basketball Club 1969-70

Hampered by Lack of Height

The York College Basketball Club ended its initial season on the winning side, by defeating George's JV 101-64 on the losing team, the New York Tech JV team with a 9-8 slate. The season was highlighted by the 92-60 pasting of Englewood Cliffs College. The club performed brilliantly at times, mediocre at others. Hampered throughout the season by lack of height, the club found itself up against competition so stiff that Mr. Bailin commented, "We were over our heads in some of these games. The teams were too tough." Nevertheless, the Nomads covered the control ball and managed to put up a good fight.

York Cagers Nutshell Scoreboard

The 2nd half of the season in a nutshell: Coming off two straight victories, the Nomads went up against a strong Barnard squad and were turned back 80-64. Richie Sabella led all scorers with 27 points. The following game saw the Nomads undergo their worst defeat of the campaign at the hands of Southampton 95-59. Again Richie Sabella was high with 27 pts, while Billy Bruse and Bruce Epstein each contributed 18 pts. Rebounding from this setback, York defeated John Jay for the second time by a 90-66 score. Leading the high scoring attack was Billy Bruse with 21 pts, followed by Bruce Epstein with 18 pts and Richie Sabella and Charlie Mardis with 15 each. Travelling to the Bronx, the Nomads overcame a 24-25 halftime deficit, and went on to defeat the Lehman freshman, 73-60. The game was up for grabs when newcomer Rich Brown came off the bench to hit 4 clutch points and did a yeoman job off the boards. Bert Arbitman played a fine game, hitting 14 pts, 10 in the 2nd half. Richie Sabella led the scoring parade with 22 pts. Bruce Epstein and Charlie Mardis added 16 pts and 13 pts respectively. Facing N. Y. Tech for the first time, the Nomads, playing a strong ball control game, trailed by only 6 pts at the intermission. However, the York cagers succumbed to the Tech press in the second half and bowed 85-52. Lack of board strength led to the undoing. In the return match at home, York fared better as they held the Nomads to 69 pts, but were again stifled by the more respectable score of 86-76. Four players hit for double figures led by Richie Sabella (23) and followed up by Billy Bruse (16), Charlie Mardis (10) and Bruce Epstein (11). In the season finale, the club found itself up against opponents in Southampton with 37 pts, Bruce Epstein 17 pts, and Billy Bruse 10 pts.

Thanks Extended all Around

The Club would like to extend its thanks to Mr. Bailin for a fine coaching job and to those who came out to watch the games and support the team. Also, a special note of thanks to our fabulous cheerleaders who performed brilliantly on the court, Your presence and support meant a lot to us all.

Basketball Season Ends on High Note

Individual High Game - Rich Sabella - 29 points against Englewood Cliffs College

Least Points Allowed - 44 points vs. Englewood Cliffs College

Team Defense - 71.7 ppg

The Intramural Basketball program is midway through the second round. The current leaders are the Soul Brothers, with a 5-1 record. A strong team on the boards, the Soul Brothers are led by their high scoring guards, George Vah and Tommy Bell. Close behind are the Tigers highlighted by the all around performance of Bobby Serro. Pete Orlando has contributed heavily to the Tiger offense. The surprise team of the league has turned out to be the York Faculty, currently in third place with a 3-2 record. Dr. Von Burg does a fine job off the boards, while Mr. Bailin is the league's leading scorer unofficially and the playmaker for the team.
Blacks Challenge Committee

There had been a mistake in the membership list of the Afro-American Studies Committee. We want retention of those Black Studies teachers already here. These teachers must be retained to keep existing courses and expand. King said Bill Thomas in regard to the demand for the retention of all qualified Black teachers, President Kenny replied saying that "if you (the students) take them, (the Black Studies Course) the teachers will be available. We do want the programs. Put into the College machinery material needed and help make this." In response to the demand that Black courses not be cut due to budgetary problems, President Kenny said that the present course would not be cut, that the "Black Studies area will continue to grow. The process will not reverse." Bill Thomas said that "the faculty at large is not qualified" to know what the Black students want. "You black people can really know what is good for themselves." Black students present wanted to form a committee with different members then those on it now, Kenny replied, "Get your star and committee together. You have come up with something that is better."

Civil Rights Struggle

In Ireland

On Aug. 15, British troops opened fire on Catholics in the Bogside. Thousands of Protestants went to Derry for the celebration and the Derry Catholics realized that trouble would develop. The Catholic development committee had procedures, weapons, and strategy. Rights. On Aug. 12, 1969, in Derry, at 3:30 PM on Aug. 15, armed open fire started. On Aug. 14, and then to all of Northern Ireland. In Derry there was 51 hours of continuous fighting between Catholics and police. The outbreak in Northern Ireland was a reaction to the British government's decision to grant the Catholic community limited self-government rights. The British troops were stationed in the city to maintain order and prevent further violence. The conflict between Catholics and Protestants had been ongoing for years, with both sides asserting their rights to the city of Derry.

In the face of increasing violence, the British government faced pressure to act. The outbreak of violence in Derry provided an opportunity for the British to assert their authority and demonstrate their commitment to maintaining order. The British troops were activated to provide security and prevent further violence. The actions of the British troops were seen as a symbol of their commitment to maintaining order in Northern Ireland.

The Real Issues in the Fee Increase

It comes as no surprise that CUNY students face another fee increase in the 76-77 year. What is surprising is that everyone including students appears willing to accept the hypocrisy of free tuition while paying fees. The Student Federation at York College has been a leader in fighting for free education. If CUNY is to maintain free tuition in the light of Open Admissions, then it becomes incumbent upon the city and state to reach agreement on the funding of the University without charging students. Of course, a compromise might be to charge tuition to those who are able to pay. In any event, the problem is not met and the issue remains unresolved.

CUNY students should make their views known to City Hall, Albany, and the Board of Higher Education. There's no sense in protesting fee increases to the University. The real authority to solve the problem lies with City Hall and Albany. The ultimate responsibility for higher education lies with the state legislature. It is the state's unwillingness to meet this responsibility that forces the Mayor to impose and consequently, students pay fees.

(Continued from page 1)

Party, in speaking at York College on Friday, March 20, expressed his hope that Ireland has, he said that radical economic policy must take place in order to begin eliminating of racial animosity. The entire situation is created by the economic situation. The economic situation is the result of the economic situation. The economic situation is the result of the economic situation.

YORK COLLEGE STUDENT ASSOCIATION

presents

FILM SERIES

April 10 The Subject Was Roses
April 24 The Film-Flam Man
May 15 Planet of the Apes

Showings Fri. evenings - 8:00 p.m. - YORK Caf.

Further Information - Trailer 1, Student Gov. Off. or Rm. 107 F.O.B.
Cork and wedge insteps, silver heels, crushed patent leather and plenty of sandals are the featured looks in shoe fashion this spring.

The "bygone days" have influenced the shoe scene as well as coats and dresses, and many styles popular now are reminiscent of the 20's, 30's, 40's and 50's - with some streamlining here and there.

Sandals are back in a very big way with the focus on the wedge. Cork is being used in many shoe collections as an effective substitute for the leather sole. It is also a lightweight material which emphasizes the "chunky" look in shoes. The sandal styles for this year will feature lots of straps - wide and narrow - and the platform sole in a variety of heights.

Just for fun and sportswear, the track shoe has become very popular and will be shown in suades, leathers and other materials as well as in a wide variety of colors. Clogs also remain as an asset to your shoe wardrobe, and have begun to appear in many colors, fabrics and styles for spring. These shoes look great with pants - especially dungarees - and are comfortable and versatile additions to a shoe wardrobe.

Dress shoes will emphasize a variety of skins - alligator and lizard, particularly - in their synthetic counterparts in an assortment of bright colors and styles. The new silver heel - the metal look - combined with crushed patent leather will also be very popular in shoe dress-wear this spring. Silver heels will also serve to accentuate the clean, modern lines of Scandinavian silver jewelry which will soon be an important fashion accessory.

For sportswear or dresswear, shoes can be a vital, exciting part of your fashion wardrobe, and will serve as an important accent to any ensemble. Select your shoes for comfort, style and durability and they will wear well.

The U.S. National Student Association today released the rules and regulations of the 5th National Student Film Festival - this year awarding $82,500 in prizes and grants. The Festival is being sponsored this year by the Jos. Schlitz Brewing Co. of Milwaukee, in cooperation with the American Film Institute and N.S.A.

This year's Festival, which is expected to attract more than 300 entries, will award $22,500 in prize money and $60,000 in fellowships, and will permit winning filmmakers to negotiate their own distribution arrangements.

The Festival judges — five professionals selected from outstanding directors, editors, producers, educators, technicians, and critics — will each name their own $2,500 winners at fall premieres in New York and Los Angeles. The judges will also grant 20 other films $500 each by a weighted ballot system.

All filmmakers who enter the Festival will be eligible for two American Film Institute Schlitz Fellowships worth $10,000 each. The Schlitz Fellows will study for two years at AFI's Center for Advanced Film Studies in Beverly Hills. AFI will award the fellowships based on the filmmakers' comprehensive background qualifications.

In announcing Schlitz's support of the Festival, Robert A. Uihlein, president, said, "We feel the 5th National Student Film Festival is a significant way to support creative activities on the college campuses of America. We feel growing enthusiasm for film activity among young people and wish to encourage it to the full."

Films qualified for entry are those made on a non-commercial basis by American college students or by any student enrolled in a U.S. college, university, art institute, or professional film school. Films submitted to a previous National Student Film Festival sponsored by NSA, or films already in commercial distribution prior to the end of the judging period, are not eligible.

The Festival is administered by National Academic Services, Inc. CONTACT: Ron Honderam, National Academic Services, 515 La Guardia Place, New York, N.Y., 10012, 212-532-9424, or Ed Cott, Barin, Herman Associates, 565 Fifth Avenue, New York, N.Y., 10017, 212-986-2110.
Sifting clues, Joplin, so-called "Queen of Blues," others should know, wins in the future to be known as "Queen of the Jungle" (sharing the vines with Missiphi), Miss. Joplin has left the states for the Brazilian jungles with David Nilsen, a true friend of Joplin's. Joplin's apparent ignorance about the Brazilian jungle came about when she was on vacation in Rio de Janeiro, and dug on the natural wild environment of Brazil. Joplin's future will play jungle role for the few next weeks.

Sharp, truly a woman bluesman, died of a heart attack, Jan. 23, in Fort Allen, Maine. Joplin's hometown, at the age of 45. Sharp was one of those typical black men who his career didn't really start until the British rock groups discovered his material. After the Rolling Stones had his songs like "King Bee" known to white audiences, Harpo finally became known to a generation that is now growing up with the knowledge of the blues.

Many of Harpo's tunes were basically country blues, with an electric guitar and a group of sidemen. He had scored a couple of times on the national scene with such hits as "Painting in My Heart," "Maya, Sorata My Back" and "Nobilil Jam," etc. So it must be the last scene in "Easy Rider" was most fictional than the role in the manner is portrayed the South and was used as an emotional release by Fonda and Hopper, etc. or was it? An article appearing in the New York Post brings "Easy Rider" to life. Harlan Cornelius, a guitarist in a Georgia group called the Bank Heroes Movement, was shot, and evidenced by an unidentified motorist on a freeway outside of Atlanta. According to Harlan, the motorist yelled "freak" and then shot him. Doctors report that Harlan may lose his left eye as a result of the shooting. "Is the word "freak" in this sense used to degrade anyone with a long hair as the word "nigger" is used to degrade Black People? If so, the apparent mistreatment of long-haired people will probably continue, because, as one of the Chicago 7 said "We are the new niggers," etc. Fonda and Hopper hop in the studio producing "Hello's Angel's Kick Ass in Texas." Also with Mike Bloomfield's musical spectrum was sold "Mr. (Moby)" and country vocals "Moby Grape" 45's were sold on Columbia ads as "an attempt to get back what was once so pure and innocent." In other words, they admitted that "Wow" was a mistake and that this new album would be better than their first record, and "Moby Grape '69" was successful in gaining those good vibrations. From hard rock like "Truck Driver Man" (with a Jerry Lee Lewis piano) to the softness of "It's a Beautiful Day Today" and "You Can't Learn From My Mistakes," the musical and vocal sections were again tops.

More Jamming

a concert of Washington, D.C., 2) A Convention Hall, The rebirth was a definite political reaction by the DAR and thanks, Jan. 23 Bess gave her famous free concert in the Washington Monument. Well, the DAR has struck again, they have instructed the management to suspend all bookings of rock groups. This re-active move on the part of the DAR is in response to a small protest that broke out at a recent Sly and the Family Stone concert. To boycott the Daughter's of the American Revolution, want part in the rock revolution, but only to limit their revolution to themselves and their meeting rooms. This move is based on the anti-Constitutional Rights.

The latest album from the Beatles, "Hey Jude" is a collection of their old material that hasn't yet appeared on albums to date, plus a couple of cuts of present material. Please notice the ever changing John Lennon, going through his disguises. Who is the real John Lennon?

Captain Ahab Peels Moby Grape

Moby Grape has broken up, leaving five records behind them. The albums tell the story of the group's talent and originality destroyed by hypes and egos.

Moby Grape began as a quartet consisting of Jerry Miller, lead guitar, Bob Mosley, bass, Peter Lewis, rhythm and lead guitar, Don Stevenson, rhythm guitar, and Skip Spence, drums. In 1967, the Grape released an excellent debut album simply entitled, "Moby Grape." It is the best record to come out of the mid-60's San Francisco scene. The group demonstrated their ability to play a wide variety of music, from heavy rock and folk tunes, such as "Bloom" and "No Time," to the softness of "Moby Grape," and Peter Lewis's deep, booming voice. "Moby Grape' has to be one of rock's finest albums.

Then came 1968 and disaster. Moby Grape released a second album containing a regular album entitled "Wow," and a session record called "Grape Jam." Promoters attempted to hype the Grape, and "Wow" shows it complete with sound effects, strings, and a gimick rock song "to be played at 78 RPM," called "Just Like Gene Autry," a "Festivity." Also included in their vast musical spectrum was soul "Moby Grape." "One Last Album" consisting of Jerry Miller, lead guitar, Don Stevenson, rhythm guitar, Peter Lewis piano, and Skip Spence, drums was panned all over the album for the large number of old Grape as well freaks to see. "Wow"/"Grape Jam" was not such a horrible album but considering the group that produced that record, it was a disaster.

"Moby Grape '69" was billed on Columbia ads as "an attempt to get back what was once so pure and innocent." In other words, they admitted that "Wow" was a mistake and that this new album would be better than their first record, and "Moby Grape '69" was successful in gaining those good vibrations. From hard rock like "Truck Driver Man" (with a Jerry Lee Lewis piano) to the softness of "It's a Beautiful Day Today" and "You Can’t Learn From My Mistakes," the musical and vocal sections were again tops.

"Moby Grape" 45's were sold on Columbia ads as "an attempt to get back what was once so pure and innocent." In other words, they admitted that "Wow" was a mistake and that this new album would be better than their first record, and "Moby Grape '69" was successful in gaining those good vibrations. From hard rock like "Truck Driver Man" (with a Jerry Lee Lewis piano) to the softness of "It's a Beautiful Day Today" and "You Can’t Learn From My Mistakes," the musical and vocal sections were again tops.

"Moby Grape" 45's were sold on Columbia ads as "an attempt to get back what was once so pure and innocent." In other words, they admitted that "Wow" was a mistake and that this new album would be better than their first record, and "Moby Grape '69" was successful in gaining those good vibrations. From hard rock like "Truck Driver Man" (with a Jerry Lee Lewis piano) to the softness of "It's a Beautiful Day Today" and "You Can’t Learn From My Mistakes," the musical and vocal sections were again tops.

"Moby Grape" 45's were sold on Columbia ads as "an attempt to get back what was once so pure and innocent." In other words, they admitted that "Wow" was a mistake and that this new album would be better than their first record, and "Moby Grape '69" was successful in gaining those good vibrations. From hard rock like "Truck Driver Man" (with a Jerry Lee Lewis piano) to the softness of "It's a Beautiful Day Today" and "You Can’t Learn From My Mistakes," the musical and vocal sections were again tops.

"Moby Grape" 45's were sold on Columbia ads as "an attempt to get back what was once so pure and innocent." In other words, they admitted that "Wow" was a mistake and that this new album would be better than their first record, and "Moby Grape '69" was successful in gaining those good vibrations. From hard rock like "Truck Driver Man" (with a Jerry Lee Lewis piano) to the softness of "It's a Beautiful Day Today" and "You Can’t Learn From My Mistakes," the musical and vocal sections were again tops.

"Moby Grape" 45's were sold on Columbia ads as "an attempt to get back what was once so pure and innocent." In other words, they admitted that "Wow" was a mistake and that this new album would be better than their first record, and "Moby Grape '69" was successful in gaining those good vibrations. From hard rock like "Truck Driver Man" (with a Jerry Lee Lewis piano) to the softness of "It's a Beautiful Day Today" and "You Can’t Learn From My Mistakes," the musical and vocal sections were again tops.

"Moby Grape" 45's were sold on Columbia ads as "an attempt to get back what was once so pure and innocent." In other words, they admitted that "Wow" was a mistake and that this new album would be better than their first record, and "Moby Grape '69" was successful in gaining those good vibrations. From hard rock like "Truck Driver Man" (with a Jerry Lee Lewis piano) to the softness of "It's a Beautiful Day Today" and "You Can’t Learn From My Mistakes," the musical and vocal sections were again tops.

"Moby Grape" 45's were sold on Columbia ads as "an attempt to get back what was once so pure and innocent." In other words, they admitted that "Wow" was a mistake and that this new album would be better than their first record, and "Moby Grape '69" was successful in gaining those good vibrations. From hard rock like "Truck Driver Man" (with a Jerry Lee Lewis piano) to the softness of "It's a Beautiful Day Today" and "You Can’t Learn From My Mistakes," the musical and vocal sections were again tops.

"Moby Grape" 45's were sold on Columbia ads as "an attempt to get back what was once so pure and innocent." In other words, they admitted that "Wow" was a mistake and that this new album would be better than their first record, and "Moby Grape '69" was successful in gaining those good vibrations. From hard rock like "Truck Driver Man" (with a Jerry Lee Lewis piano) to the softness of "It's a Beautiful Day Today" and "You Can’tLearn From My Mistakes," the musical and vocal sections were again tops.

"Moby Grape" 45's were sold on Columbia ads as "an attempt to get back what was once so pure and innocent." In other words, they admitted that "Wow" was a mistake and that this new album would be better than their first record, and "Moby Grape '69" was successful in gaining those good vibrations. From hard rock like "Truck Driver Man" (with a Jerry Lee Lewis piano) to the softness of "It's a Beautiful Day Today" and "You Can’t Learn From My Mistakes," the musical and vocal sections were again tops.
Silver Wonder (or) The Beatles

"Come Back"

It's been about a year since The Beatles have released "Get Back" and "Don't Let Me Down" as singles and it's been just as long since we've first heard about the album (probably to be called "Let It Be") that was to include these two cuts. Originally the album was supposed to have been released in September, but due to some technical difficulties its release has been postponed until April or May. For those who feel that they can wait until the official album is released, there is a bootleg LP which is going under the name "Silver Wonder" and in some parts of town, "Come Back," contains nine songs from the upcoming album and one cut that will not appear in the album. The sound quality on "Silver Wonder" is uneventful and almost every song is bothered by tinny tape splicing. It would be unfair of me to judge these songs on the basis of their presentation in this LP. If I'll hold off until I see the official album is released. By the way, the song that will not be on the official album is called "Across The Universe" and was written about two years ago by John Lennon for a satiric/documentary album. It's a beautiful song with heavy instrumentation and the Beatles should release it as a single now that ecology is commercial.

Ten Years After

I've seen Ten Years After in concert twice; once at Woodstock and a second time at the Fillmore concert. This is basically due to tar playing. Lee is one hell of a organist Chic Churchill could have a happy vacation Alice would like to wish everyone there is one word to describe the band: bedrock. You know what they say about Ten Years After. They did a medley of the choruses of all their songs and "Get Back," the last cut on their album. Alice would like to wish everyone there is one word to describe the band: bedrock. You know what they say about Ten Years After. They did a medley of the choruses of all their songs and "Get Back," the last cut on their album. Alice would like to wish everyone there is one word to describe the band: bedrock.

Ten Years After in concert twice; once at Woodstock and a second time at the Fillmore concert. This is basically due to tar playing. Lee is one hell of a organist Chic Churchill could have a happy vacation Alice would like to wish everyone there is one word to describe the band: bedrock. You know what they say about Ten Years After. They did a medley of the choruses of all their songs and "Get Back," the last cut on their album. Alice would like to wish everyone there is one word to describe the band: bedrock.

The Voices of East Harlem have arrived on the scene with a tumultuous sound of the Ghetto and its life within. Their music is a mixture of street corner harmony, gospel, and moving R. & B. The Voices of East Harlem have arrived on the scene with a tumultuous sound of the Ghetto and its life within. Their music is a mixture of street corner harmony, gospel, and moving R. & B.

The Beatles have released "Get Back" and "Don't Let Me Down" as singles and it's been just as long since we've first heard about the album (probably to be called "Let It Be") that was to include these two cuts. Originally the album was supposed to have been released in September, but due to some technical difficulties its release has been postponed until April or May. For those who feel that they can wait until the official album is released, there is a bootleg LP which is going under the name "Silver Wonder" and in some parts of town, "Come Back," contains nine songs from the upcoming album and one cut that will not appear in the album. The sound quality on "Silver Wonder" is uneventful and almost every song is bothered by tinny tape splicing. It would be unfair of me to judge these songs on the basis of their presentation in this LP. If I'll hold off until I see the official album is released. By the way, the song that will not be on the official album is called "Across The Universe" and was written about two years ago by John Lennon for a satiric/documentary album. It's a beautiful song with heavy instrumentation and the Beatles should release it as a single now that ecology is commercial.
mineshaft poem

I feel like a man who's been kept in a shaft all his life.
I know there's radiance
up there—someone shouted down to me there was.
by chance a rat fell in with me. I trained him not to chew my toes and face when I slept. And when he died starved I wondered why
I didn't also die.
concerned, I bit his tail and spit it out. when I really comprehend
that you have put me here
I'll climb out.

— robert peters