Students Elect New Senate for Sepf. Accepted on the senate. These nine students will be representing York students who are tired of the antiquated faculty council. If they decide that yes, we want to play in the decision making at York, then the Senate will simply carry on without them, transforming itself to another version of the antiquated faculty council.

The Senate has provided students, for the first time, a real voice in the decision-making process of York College. In the past elections, they had represented only 30 percent student turnout. This year's candidates, for the first time, a real student turnout, has now reached 70 percent student turnout, indicating all comers to feel at home. If they decide that yes, we want to play in the decision making at York, then the Senate will simply carry on without them, transforming itself to another version of the antiquated faculty council.

The Senate has provided students, for the first time, a real voice in the decision-making process of York College. In the past elections, they had represented only 30 percent student turnout. This year's candidates, for the first time, a real student turnout, has now reached 70 percent student turnout, indicating all comers to feel at home. If they decide that yes, we want to play in the decision making at York, then the Senate will simply carry on without them, transforming itself to another version of the antiquated faculty council.

The Senate has provided students, for the first time, a real voice in the decision-making process of York College. In the past elections, they had represented only 30 percent student turnout. This year's candidates, for the first time, a real student turnout, has now reached 70 percent student turnout, indicating all comers to feel at home. If they decide that yes, we want to play in the decision making at York, then the Senate will simply carry on without them, transforming itself to another version of the antiquated faculty council.

The Senate has provided students, for the first time, a real voice in the decision-making process of York College. In the past elections, they had represented only 30 percent student turnout. This year's candidates, for the first time, a real student turnout, has now reached 70 percent student turnout, indicating all comers to feel at home. If they decide that yes, we want to play in the decision making at York, then the Senate will simply carry on without them, transforming itself to another version of the antiquated faculty council.

The Senate has provided students, for the first time, a real voice in the decision-making process of York College. In the past elections, they had represented only 30 percent student turnout. This year's candidates, for the first time, a real student turnout, has now reached 70 percent student turnout, indicating all comers to feel at home. If they decide that yes, we want to play in the decision making at York, then the Senate will simply carry on without them, transforming itself to another version of the antiquated faculty council.

The Senate has provided students, for the first time, a real voice in the decision-making process of York College. In the past elections, they had represented only 30 percent student turnout. This year's candidates, for the first time, a real student turnout, has now reached 70 percent student turnout, indicating all comers to feel at home. If they decide that yes, we want to play in the decision making at York, then the Senate will simply carry on without them, transforming itself to another version of the antiquated faculty council.
ELECTION OF STUDENT SENATORS

The election of student representatives to the York College Senate will be held on May 3 through 7.

All students interested running for office must submit their nominations and a petition of 25 signatures between April 12 and April 21.

Students must run within one of the following constituencies:

- Social Science
- Humanities
- Natural Science
- Freshman
- Seek
- At-Large

For further information see a member of the elections committee:

Ted Weinberber
Tony Caruso
Paul Paskoff
Edward Rogowsky
Peter Scheiner

HERE! TODAY!

AT YORK!

the man who is protecting our environment

JEROME KRETCHMER

of

the city's Environmental Protection Agency

TODAY, 11:45 S-111

York College Film Program*

"High School"

Thursday, April 15 1-115

Club hours, 10:45 - 12:30 p.m.

Discussion To Follow

* Paid for by Student Activity Fee
Open Wide for Tuition

The calm before the storm is coming. Light winds from the north promise another hot spell.

The attempt to institute tuition at the City University has begun. The seemingly endless struggle to end tuition has been met with resistance from the students and the government.

The State Senate, in response to the calls for tuition, has proposed a bill that would charge students $550 per term. This bill has been met with opposition from the New York City Council, who have expressed their concern about the implementation of such a system.

The University Student Senate has also expressed their opposition to tuition, stating that it would be unfair to the students who are currently paying for their education.

The Citizens' Committee on Tuition has proposed a system that would charge students a fee based on the number of credits they take, rather than a flat fee for all students.

Davis Demands Washington Campsites

Organizers of a spring anti-war demonstration have called for the establishment of public campsites in the nation's capital.

Ronald B. Stafford of Putnam and Duchess Counties, a member of the People's Committee, has called for the establishment of public campsites near the White House.

The State University system has approved $40 million dollars to cover the cost of the proposed public campsites.

The university has also approved a bill that would allow the students to participate in the decision-making process regarding the establishment of the campsites.

City Holds Council on Environment Issues

The City Council has held a meeting to discuss environmental issues. The meeting was held in response to the increasing concern about the environment and the need for action.

The council held a discussion on the need to reduce pollution and to protect the environment. The council also discussed the need to promote public awareness of environmental issues.

The council has approved a bill that would require all new buildings to meet certain environmental standards. The council has also approved a bill that would allow the city to make use of federal funds to finance environmental projects.

The council has also approved a bill that would establish a permanent Environmental Protection Agency in the city.

Farm Workers Face Bosses, Union, Pentagon

On Thursday, April 15, two representatives from the National Farm Workers' Association, the United Farm Workers, spoke at York College. The film, "Decision at Delano," was shown. The film tells the story of the struggle, led by Cesar Chavez, to organize the migrant grape and lettuce pickers, which ultimately led to the establishment of the United Farm Workers union.

The purpose of the visit by Mr. Joel Friedman and Mr. Manuel Vasquez was to educate the program. The program was sponsored by the Rockefeller Foundation, AmeriCorps, and the Ford Motor Company.

The organization would also appreciate any canned goods that can be spared. They have asked that voters write their representatives in Congress asking for an investigation into the use of farm labor taxes by the government.
Dear Pandora's Box,

While I thank you for publishing the proposal for alternate degrees submitted by five members of the Humanities division, I must call to your attention the error implicit in your headline, "Cooper Proposes Alternate Degrees." The proposal was not mine alone. Moreover, if any member of the group deserves singling out it would be Professor Nancy Fischer, with whom the idea originated and who worked out most of the details.

Sincerely yours,
Alan Cooper

Letters to the Editor

Measuring up to the community's needs

With College Senate passage of the Academic Standards Committee's recommendation that "X" grades produce permanent minus points on student's records, Dr. David Eckroth, and his committee, have struck another blow for punitive education.

Supposedly, the college is undergoing "major curriculum reform," to quote President Newton, in order to make education here responsive to student needs. However, in recent months, the Academic Standards Committee has made it look like it has been doing everything in its power to increase the number of obstacles and stumbling blocks a student must overcome to make his way through an already horribly corrupt, and massively oppressive system.

Several months ago, the comm...
Sheinkopf

Strike?

There will not be a strike on April 15. It's easy to understand why. There is something very eerie about the reasons. There is no viable curriculum, and no real basic changes in the Core. The new proposals for majors in Institutional Care and Urban Studies were passed and for this we can be joyous, but we cannot applaud the continuance of the roadblocks to attempting these majors. There will be no strike on April 15, 1971, the same way that too few students showed up at curriculum committee meetings. Maybe that occurred because young people know the real nature of college committees and bureaucracies. That they blunder with each step, filled with political ineptitude, and have all the verve of dead fruitflies, and are lost in the shuffle of the pomposity attributable to each individual member.

There will not be a curriculum strike on April 15, 1971, or maybe ever, and that may turn out to be a fortunate occurrence. Students can graduate, leaving York as they came, worried totally about themselves, forgetting that there are others that will come after them and suffer probation and abuse at the hands of those who govern and believe that they have all the answers. Because it would be improper to get involved in anything that does not become part of the personal realm of card playing, sex, and getting stoned. We may also include skin-swatching and complaining in this category.

There is no reason to get upset about a curriculum that is jammed down the throats of students and will be jammed down the throats of thousands of others because it represents the needs and aspirations of a few, and is forced against many. There is no need to become involved in something as nebulous as a strike or any kind of action because they do no good and Lyndon Johnson is still President of these United States. There is no reason to remain in a fight against those things which oppress you, and psychotherapy or any kind of rehabilitation is a sham, and there is no reason to change because change does not bring anything usable except the need to experiment and live out the change, only possibly to be forced into another change. There is no reason to grow and prepare for the real future a future in Jamaica and a commitment to the community in our curriculum, and a commitment to ourselves that is binding and brings all things together. There is no meaning to an education when you have learned many facts and can only assemble them for a cocktail party audience made up of faculty that has been known to eat, breathe, digest and ex-pell their individual discipline.

Man cannot live by English alone. There is no need to fight against a mentality that feels it is the last protection of Western tradition against the oncoming hoardes of Open Enrollment students and other idiots who have come up to Olympus not to learn in the tradition of Socrates but to learn in the tradition of PS 48.

And if all these reasons are true, there is no reason to live, to fight for those things that are real, that are alive, that are all part of the creature that commences each day to strangle all those things that are wholly human. There is no reason to survive, when there is no compromise, because if they can govern for themselves through you, then the future is only one long strike, waste in sweat on a hot summer day. Because, if anything, without a fight, we can surrender our own valiant humanity, to those who could not do better, and more importantly, worse.
ANNOUNCEMENTS

The Case For The 51st State

Joe Roskin

In the 1969 Democratic primaries, Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller and Jimmy Breslin ran for mayor and city controller. Their platform was simple: separate New York City from the rest of the state in order to obtain political, as well as financial independence for the city. While this concept struck somewhat of a responsive chord in New York, Rockefeller ran fourth to Mario Pucci, Breslin fell sixth to Francis X. Smith. Now, it is two years later and Breslin, Smith and Rockefeller are back to writing, and the question: all right, go it alone or not, they were right has come up many times.

Were they right? In many cases, yes. One of the reasons Norman Mailer gave for his stand was the amount of tax 'money' the individual city resident would save each year. The logic in the case has become much clearer ever since Governor Rockefeller proposed an increase in state income and sales taxes.

In regard to the different aspects of the separation, there would be a few results. The first would be that the city itself would separate, with the five boroughs reverting to the individual city status they had before 1898. It is quite conceivable that the city, bearing these circumstances, would split into smaller towns and villages.

The second result of the separation would be a financial benefit to the people of the city. With a smaller state, with state money spread out less than in New York State now, there would be a substantial decrease in taxes. This, of course, is not including federal aid. A division of boroughs into separate cities would bring separate educational, welfare, and transit systems, as well as individual police and fire departments which would create smaller budgets.

Another possibility is that the city would probably be sufficient to bear the responsibility and the expense of the Metropolitan Transit Authority is showing this.

An interesting situation would come to pass with what would happen to CUNY. One possibility would be that the City University of New York City, and both carried the city in the elections. The congressional contingent would also remain the same (if, as a matter of fact, New York City alone is counted in the city, and both carried the city in the elections. The congressional contingent would also remain the same (if, as a matter of fact, New York City alone is counted in the city) on the local level where the separation would be the most felt.

It is interesting to see how little power the city has in determining its own future. Many city programs, such as the school decentralization act which was watered down, or just plain voted out of existence by Assemblymen and State Senators who have nothing to do with life in the city, if the city was to succeed from the rest of the state, things like community control could become a reality. In terms of a legislature, the governor-state assembly system utilized in this state would be sufficient for the city. The constituencies in this city would probably be sufficient for assembly and state senate districts. On the city-borough level, the current constituencies probably would be divided up in order to gain more representation.

Will this ever come about? Not for the next few years, or so. However, if the financial plight of the city is not alleviated, and the lack of aid that the city is getting could bring about such a feeling of frustration, because these problems are not being solved, and the bringing about of Norman Mailer’s idea as the eventual cure to the city’s problems. This is practically the only cure to the economic and political plight the city is in.

College Senate elections for Student Representatives will be held during the week of March 5-7. Nominations will be accepted from April 15 thru April 20. Self-nomination forms are available in the cafeteria and in Pandora’s Box (Trailer #1). 25 signatures are needed on the Nominating Petition, and the petitions are due on April 27 at 11:30 in Room 18. Representative will be elected from the following constituencies:

- Pre-Engineering
- Social Sciences
- Humanities
- Fine Arts
- Natural Sciences & Mathematics

The next meeting of the Music Club will be on April 20 at 11:30 in Room 18.

College Senate elections for Student Representatives will be held during the week of March 5-7. Nominations will be accepted from April 15 thru April 20. Self-nomination forms are available in the cafeteria and in Pandora’s Box (Trailer #1). 25 signatures are needed on the Nominating Petition, and the petitions are due on April 27 at 11:30 in Room 18. Representative will be elected from the following constituencies:

- Pre-Engineering
- Social Sciences
- Humanities
- Fine Arts
- Natural Sciences & Mathematics

The next meeting of the Music Club will be on April 20 at 11:30 in Room 18.

College Senate elections for Student Representatives will be held during the week of March 5-7. Nominations will be accepted from April 15 thru April 20. Self-nomination forms are available in the cafeteria and in Pandora’s Box (Trailer #1). 25 signatures are needed on the Nominating Petition, and the petitions are due on April 27 at 11:30 in Room 18. Representative will be elected from the following constituencies:

- Pre-Engineering
- Social Sciences
- Humanities
- Fine Arts
- Natural Sciences & Mathematics

The next meeting of the Music Club will be on April 20 at 11:30 in Room 18.

College Senate elections for Student Representatives will be held during the week of March 5-7. Nominations will be accepted from April 15 thru April 20. Self-nomination forms are available in the cafeteria and in Pandora’s Box (Trailer #1). 25 signatures are needed on the Nominating Petition, and the petitions are due on April 27 at 11:30 in Room 18. Representative will be elected from the following constituencies:

- Pre-Engineering
- Social Sciences
- Humanities
- Fine Arts
- Natural Sciences & Mathematics

The next meeting of the Music Club will be on April 20 at 11:30 in Room 18.
Mr. Bailin has been teaching, coaching, and playing sports for many years. As an undergraduate at the State University of New York at Cortland, Mr. Bailin was a three-letter man in varsity sports. He was a graduate student at the University of Massachusetts while working for his Masters Degree. At the State University of New York in 1967, Mr. Bailin is now working for his Doctorate at Columbia University.

Speaking about a football and/or baseball team, Mr. Bailin feels that it is up to the students to push for the sport. Right now there is a football club trying to get off the ground, but the football club is not listed as a team yet. Basketball at York is a team sport not a club activity, yet it is scheduled on a varsity level. There is a good possibility that York will enter the NCAA or the ECAC shortly. Provided more money and additional support is forthcoming, Mr. Bailin is committed upon the basketball team to start making plans and prospects for the future to be good because he feels it is "a disciplined team to win and we are disciplined.''

Everyone loves a good laugh. Most people enjoy making others laugh, but only the selected few can say funny things while trying to be serious. In sports, this seems to be a particularly easy thing to do, since sports are a combination of seriousness, competitiveness, and the unusual. For instance, when 4th quarterback John Seidlo was recently asked why a million-dollar-dollar quarterback had to hold the ball for the kickoff he quickly replied: "If I didn't, it would roll all over."

Stu Bailin, Physical Ed. Instructor, and coach of York's ever expanding Basketball and Lacrosse teams.

University, Mr. Bailin was an assistant coach to the Jr. Varsity team and coached at Copage Junior High School, where he was coach basketball and varsity football. After College, Mr. Bailin came to New York s ever expanding Basketball and Lacrosse Stu iBailin, Physical Ed. Instructor, and coach of varsity sports. He was a gradu- ate student at the State University of New York while working for his Masters Degree. At the State University of New York in 1967, Mr. Bailin is now working for his Doctorate at Columbia University.

Intramural Sports Calendar

Volleyball:
- April 20—10:45-11:30
- Volleyball: Intramural Sports Calendar
- After Cooage. Mr. Bailin came to work, Mr. Bailin taught and coached at Copage Junior and assistant coach for the basket-
- April 20—10:45-11:30
- Volleyball: Intramural Sports Calendar
- After Cooage. Mr. Bailin came to work, Mr. Bailin taught and coached at Copage Junior and assistant coach for the basket-

FIELD TEAMS

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>FIELD</th>
<th>TEAMS</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>1-8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>2-7</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>3-6</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>4-5</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

LAW MIXER

Friday, April 21st—9:00 PM

RIPPLES

168-21 Powls Cove Blvd.
Whitestone, N.Y.
T. 7-0106

Admission $3.00

18th Annual Law Student Dance, with Young Lawyers and Law Students. FREE LIVE ROCK BAND

GAY PEOPLE AT YORK

Can she cook? Can she handle money? Can I talk baseball with her?" .. . Harry Jordan, on the late great Vince Lombardi: "He treats us all the same - like animals,"

Finally some Fitchamans, commenting on how his team does against Lew Al-

"Going into a game against Alcindor is like getting into a street fight without a knife."

On how it feels to be a rookie coach: "War is hell, but expansion is worse."

"I feel like a guy who had lock-

... Paul Ma-

ter's for a $50 fine-on being offered

Harry Sinden; "Gee Harry, can't we get to No. 1, we've got to be No. 1-A."

Bowl for Penn State's 27th straight victory; "If we're not

Saturday, April 17th, at 9 p.m.

Coca-Cola, 139th and Convent Avenue

No. 3 bus from right at the gate, M.T.A.

Young Lawyers and Law Students. FREE

'If the dog doesn't get off, I can go home in two weeks?" .. . Chuck Burkhardt,

"We've got to stop meeting this gay organization; we've invited them all."

Young Lawyers and

'Going into a game against Alcindor is like getting into a street fight without a knife."

On how it feels to be a rookie coach: "War is hell, but expansion is worse."

"I feel like a guy who had lock-male's for a $50 fine-on being offered

'If the dog doesn't get off, I can go home in two weeks?" .. . Chuck Burkhardt,

"We've got to stop meeting this gay organization; we've invited them all."

Young Lawyers and

Harry Sinden; "Gee Harry, can't we get to No. 1, we've got to be No. 1-A."

Bowl for Penn State's 27th straight victory; "If we're not

Saturday, April 17th, at 9 p.m.

Coca-Cola, 139th and Convent Avenue

No. 3 bus from right at the gate, M.T.A.

Young Lawyers and Law Students. FREE

'If the dog doesn't get off, I can go home in two weeks?" .. . Chuck Burkhardt,

"We've got to stop meeting this gay organization; we've invited them all."

Young Lawyers and

Harry Sinden; "Gee Harry, can't we get to No. 1, we've got to be No. 1-A."

Bowl for Penn State's 27th straight victory; "If we're not

Saturday, April 17th, at 9 p.m.

Coca-Cola, 139th and Convent Avenue

No. 3 bus from right at the gate, M.T.A. 137th St. stop, walk east along 135th St. to

Live Rock Band

York's skilled Lacrosse team at a recent practice session.

"Gee Coach, we ain't gonna take this lying down."
COME TO WASHINGTON

APRIL 24

FOR INFORMATION
Fifth Avenue Peace Parade Committee
255-1075

Trailer 1
591-1200 Ext. 72