Student Council and Class
Elections Stir Keen Interest

TICKER’ TO RUN EXTRA
Special Election Supplement
To Be Published Next Monday

By David Wasserman

The upshot of the presidential campaign is that the Student Council executive committee is attempting once again to accumulate their political strength for recognition by the students. At least six of the candidates are running for positions in the Student Union, and are already at work trying to persuade other students of their qualifications.

Applications Due Friday
Candidates for class offices must hand in their applications to the Student Council before 3 p.m. on Friday, February 14. Each application should display the signatures of twenty-five classmates, with the exception of the upper sophomore, junior, and senior students. Applications may be submitted to Saul Brawerman, 37; Al Montano, 38; Seymour Weisberg, 39; or the student in charge of the English Library, room 822.

TICKER’’s office must be handed in by Thursday, February 13.

Representatives on the Student Council have each one vote, except for the student in charge, who has no vote. The president of the Council votes only in case of a tie.

Girls Plan Festival

The Girls’ Club will hold a party for the women students Thursday in room 212 A. The Club invites the ladies to come and lunch there. Coffee and doughnuts will be served.

THE TICKER

ELECTIONS at the School of Business have been continuously marked with characteristic idiosyncrasies. The Student Council has supported candidates in the past two semesters, with the previous elections being marked by much confusion and speculation. The candidates at this time are running for positions in the Student Union, and are already at work trying to persuade other students of their qualifications.

Elections for the Student Council will be held on February 18. The Student Council executive committee is attempting once

R.O.T.C. Unit Moves Here;
Uses Room 1406 For Class

Increased Enrollment Expected with New Arrangements: Major Macadam to Be in Charge of 23rd Street Unit

For the first time in its history, the Military Science Department will hold classes in the School of Business and Civic Administration. The classroom, designated Room 1406, will be used for the Military Science Department's instruction during the current term.

Major Macadam will be in charge of the downtown group of cadets and will be assisted in this capacity by an instructor of City College.

CLUBS ON PARADE

The various clubs and societies of the School of Business will, in the next two weeks, hold their initial meetings and begin programs in numerous outside speakers are included.

There are many clubs and societies in the School of Business which offer to the student many opportunities to pursue extracurricular activities and to satisfy those ambitions which are supplementary to their regular careers for which the students have come to college.

Increased Enrollment Expected with New Classrooms

The hall of the school of business will have an increased enrollment expected with new classrooms. The hall is large enough in which to hold evening classes. It is in close proximity to the school and there is plenty of room to hold these evening classes.

WHERE'S FRED?

He's away to 105 Flick Ave., to raise the mortgage money by selling his last year's texts. But we guess he could not resist the bargains on used books which are selling at discounts up to 50%. In fact, the oic skin-flint villain himself decided that he would go to college when he learned that he could buy almost any new text here at a 10% discount.
