125 Apply for Farm Work This Summer; Quota to Be Filled 200

Answering the call for farm workers, 125 B.C. students, mostly girls, have registered thus far to pick vegetables this summer.

The two hundred students will trek upstate to Morrisville, New York, come June 15. They will pick peas and string beans while studying one 3 or 4 credit course at the New York State Agricultural and Technical Institute at Morrisville.

Brooklyn's contingent will be expected to work as much as eight hours a day, seven days a week, and to remain until September 15. Poor weather will cut into this amount, however, and most students will pick vegetables for no more than forty hours a week.

Piece-work salaries, ranging from one dollar a day upwards will be paid out. Each student should earn an average of $3.50 a day, however, and be able to save at least forty dollars during the summer.

Amusement facilities—limited in Morrisville, a town of five hundred population—consist of an athletic field and a nearby swimming pool. The nearest movie house is located at Syracuse, twenty miles away. Students may travel to this city by bus on their days off.

Applications for these farm jobs will be accepted in the Placement Office, Room 2215B for the remainder of the term.

Anyone interested in learning more about plans or desirous of asking questions should attend one of the four following meetings scheduled for this purpose:

Friday: 12 o'clock and 1 o'clock —Room 3129B.
