STUDY FOOD EFFECTS—Students in the farm project class at Brooklyn College, which will move to Morrisville, N. Y., this month, are pictured weighing white mice in the college laboratory. The effects of feeding with white bread and whole wheat bread was the object of the test. Left to right are Joseph Katz, Elois Reinhard and Gene Brown, three of the 200 students scheduled to work at farming up-State while continuing their college studies at night.