OT GRADUATE MANAGES "HOTEL" FOR CREEDMOOR MENTAL PATIENTS

During the day patients, who live two to a room in the hotel, participate in rehabilitation programs at the hospital or elsewhere. A few go to jobs or to hospital workshops. After returning to the hotel for dinner, they take part in group therapy sessions and other evening activities. With Mr. Grace serving as leader, the hotel treatment-team includes a psychiatrist, a psychologist and a social worker. Aids and housekeepers make up the rest of the staff.

Mr. Grace is one of 20 members of LaGuardia's first OT graduating class who were placed in jobs in psychiatric facilities, developmental centers, nursing homes and hospital rehabilitation departments upon receiving their degrees last year. Ten other graduates went on to senior colleges.

In almost all cases, these jobs were newly created for the LaGuardia graduates, who have been certified by the American Occupational Therapy Association.

Several graduates chose to attend York College, and more will doubtless do so in the future because of a new articulation agreement that will soon strengthen the ties between the OT programs at the college.

Dr. Groman served on a committee which reviewed fellowship applications...Dr. Nick Rossi, Coordinator of the Music Program in the Division of Language and Culture, will be included in the 1976 edition of the international "Who's Who In Music." Dr. Rossi has also been asked by Harcourt, Brace Jovanovich to write a freshman level textbook for use in community colleges for the “Introduction to Music” type of class.

BHE Appoints Millett Consultant on Restructuring

The former Chancellor of the State University system in Ohio, Dr. John D. Millett, has been appointed consultant to the Board of Higher Education's Committee on the Restructuring of the City University of New York, Board Chairman Alfred A. Giardino has announced.

Dr. Millett will assist the Board in evaluating various proposals for restructuring the City University. This will be done as part of a long-range educational planning effort designed to preserve the University's educational viability and help it fulfill its educational mandate during a period of extreme fiscal difficulty.

Dr. Gurston D. Goldin, Chairman of the Board's Committee on Restructuring, said that the Committee is expected to make a report in February on the ways that the University can reach its major restructuring objectives in an orderly and timely manner. He added that the Committee will consider all plans which have been made to restructure CUNY, as well as new plans that may be proposed.

FOUR ART FACULTY EXHIBIT IN SOHO

Four members of the LaGuardia Community College Art department have had one-person exhibitions of their work in New York City. All four shows have been in Soho art galleries, located in lower Manhattan, south of Houston Street.

Mr. Bruce Brooks exhibited paintings and drawings at the Lotus Gallery, 81 Spring Street. Mr. Brooks uses heavily-textured acrylic paints to produce abstract images of great force and energy. His colors, often raw primaries, are balanced by textures in neutral tones and by a subtle, yet strong, sense of design.

This is his third one-person exhibit, his second in New York City. Since 1966, his work has been seen in a number of group shows at galleries and universities, Pratt Institute and Hofstra University among them. He has work in the collection of Skowhegan College, Maine as well as in several private collections. Mr. Brooks is a graduate of Pratt Institute. He joined the LaGuardia staff in August 1975 as a lab technician.

Ms. Barbara Zucker has taught studio art and art history as an adjunct at LaGuardia College since 1974. She exhibited highly personal sculptures at 112 Green Street during January. (The gallery has the same name as its address.) Ms. Zucker's work, which includes both floor and wall pieces, is often quite organic. One, extending down from the ceiling, is made of electrical conduit. About four feet from the floor, the conduit curves transforming itself into an amorphous shape constructed of black velvet. Many of her sculptures have dream-like associations.

Ms. Zucker has lived in New York for the past twelve years. She studied art at the University of Michigan and at Cranbrook Academy in Detroit. Her art work has been exhibited in many galleries, museums and universities including the Whitney Museum, the Jewish Museum, Rutgers University and Sarah Lawrence College. She is an editorial associate of Art News and a contributor to the Village Voice. This is her third one-person show.

Mr. Terence LaNoue will have his sixth one-person exhibit at the Nancy Hoffman Gallery, 429 West Broadway. It opens on Saturday, February 7th, and runs through February 27th.

Mr. LaNoue is an Associate Professor and Coordinator for art at LaGuardia where he has taught since 1972. He exhibits large, half-circle wall sculptures (cont. on p. 5)
DAY CARE CENTER: REGISTER EARLY

LaGuardia students, faculty and staff members who wish to enroll their children in the college’s Day Care Center are urged to apply early for the spring quarter.

Ms. Frieda Archer, coordinator of the center, says two weeks before the end of the winter quarter will not be too early to apply.

“We can handle only 15 children at any given time,” explains Ms. Archer, “and we are completely filled for the current quarter.”

The center, designed for children between the ages of 3 and 5, is open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. each day. The cost is $1 per day for children of students and $1.50 for faculty children.

With the assistance of teacher Michael Stritzak and others, Ms. Archer offers a complete pre-school program, including structured play. The center facility includes a library and areas devoted to art, housekeeping, and blockbuilding.

The children receive morning and afternoon snacks but must bring their own lunch.

For more information, call Ms. Archer at Ext. 451 (S-150).

EXHIBIT OF ORIGINAL JEWELRY—by Claude (in lobby)

made of latex rubber, tobacco cloth and acrylic color. These constructions, approximately eight feet wide and five feet high, function both as sculpture and painting. They present a variety of subtle textures and delicate color relations. Much of the imagery in Mr. LaNoue’s forthcoming exhibition was influenced by his recent travels in Mexico and Guatemala where he studied at Aztec and Mayan archaeological sites. The exhibit will also include several large drawings.

Mr. LaNoue studied art at Ohio Wesleyan and at Cornell. He has had a dozen individual shows in the Midwest, New York and West Berlin. Group shows include the Whitney Museum, the Newark Museum, the Chicago Art Institute and the Corcoran Gallery of Art in Washington, D.C., as well as numerous galleries and universities. This work has been recognized by many critics and writers on contemporary art. A new article by Ellen Lubell will appear in the February issue of Arts Magazine entitled, “Light Painting—Terence LaNoue.”

Mr. Peter Brown will exhibit recent paintings at the Lotus Gallery, 81 Spring from February 14th to March 5th. The opening is on Saturday, February 14th. Mr. Brown is an Assistant Professor and has taught studio art and art history at LaGuardia College since 1973.

He will exhibit paintings approximately six feet square which deal with abstract imagery in an illusionistic space. The form of these paintings is based on line patterns which overlap and twist in and out to create a sense of space, at times quite deep space. The linear quality is reminiscent of West African textile patterns while much of the imagery is based on studies of Tantric painting from northern India. The colors in these works are often dark and mysterious.

Mr. Brown studied painting and printmaking at Cranbrook Academy in Detroit and has an undergraduate degree from Ohio Wesleyan University. He has also studied in Mexico and at the Art Student’s League in New York City.

His art work has been exhibited in a number of group shows at galleries, universities and museums, including the Cincinnati Art Museum, the Detroit Art Institute and the Philadelphia Museum of Art. His work is included in several private and university collections including Ball State University (Indiana) and Baldwin Wallace College (Ohio). This is his fourth one-person exhibit; his first in New York City.

The college community is invited.
CRAFTS TIME—With some help from Bob Grace, LaGuardia OT student Bridget Lamey, who has just begun an internship at the hotel, prepares for an evening crafts-group session.

The articulation will also involve sharing of faculty, equipment and space. It is the result of efforts, on LaGuardia's part, by Dr. George S. Hamada, associate professor of natural environment, and Prof. Greenberg, both of whom will continue to work on the articulation during released time made possible by the federally funded CUNY Allied Health Sciences Consortium. The consortium consists of representatives from LaGuardia, York, and Queensborough colleges.
