Beavers End Season With 20-13 Defeat

By Nick Rabou

The City College football ship encountered a stormy weather scene as it crashed into the St. Joseph sea-dogs at the Home Athletic Park yesterday. Swirling in the vortex of the St. Joseph maquinon, the Beaver crew, though struggling valiantly, was finally tossed for a 20 to 13 washout. This defeat was a fitting finale to a disastrous lavernder football season.

Especially noteworthy in the losing team was the panegyric efforts of linemen Van Frank and Bill Wallach who played hard, brilliantly with effect, thus perhaps justifying the work of these two men that resulted in City College's two touchdowns.

The boys from Philadelphia were heart broken to see their team suffer defeat. St. Joseph eleven led by Robbins, who was a constant source of excitation to the New Yorkers, crashed through for their team's first score in the beginning of the second period. The St. Joseph team tallied once more before the end of that period to make the score 13-0 in their favor.

It was only in the 3rd quarter that the seemingly Beavers galvanized into action. The scene for a touchdown was set when the ever-alert Bill Wallach and Joe Engle struck. In for the first play Stan Rosenthal hurled a beautiful, long pass which was cut down at the ten yard line. Shaking off an enemy tackle, Van Frank was a spur-of-the-moment touchdown. The completion was successful making the score 13-7.

The circumstances of the second touchdown, surprisingly enough, were identical as the first.

ASU Gives "Pens and Pencils" An All-Collegiate Revue

By Jason Sweet

A music revue filled with gay satirical songs, a chorus of uninhibited comedians galore will be presented every day and Saturday evening, November 24 and 25 by the New York Chapter of the American Student Union at the Palooza Theatre.

College Varmites have united to make this show the collegiate rival to "Pins and Needles." The Brooklyn Boys, who achieved such a tremendous success with their "You'll Rock," the Hunter College Drama Soce, and the stars of the up-to-date Nora, Washerman and Joe Engle, will combine their talents in this glorious extravaganzas.

City's own special contribution to the cast will be the incomparable Irwin Wescott and Marty Rosenblatt, whose reputation is widespread. The boys say the material they are using for "Pens and Pencils" is the best they've ever done. That statement is based on the Wescott-Rosenblatt motto, "Nothing we do may not be original.

In addition, two scenes from the "Broadway hit," "From Vienna" will be presented. The rushes entered in the original cast in their first appearance since the play closed.

There will be dancing Friday and Saturday. The sophomore class will celebrate Christmas night with the "Glede Society." Tickets for the "ASU Retracts Misstatement in Leaflet"

The American Student Union last week publicly retracted a positive report on the Theatrical Hay and the School of Business. This committee, which is the only official body not controlled by the faculty to make the decision, has reached no conclusions and has no plans for any action in this matter. The decision was announced by Dr. Raymond E. Lisle, secretary of the Survey Committee, stated.

The majority of the faculty favors a four-year course. There is no course in the curriculum of the School of Business which states that the business community feel that a proper function of a school of business is to give undue emphasis to narrow vocational training since technical details can best be taught in extensive programs.

The view is upheld by the results of a questionnaire sent to and filled out by 50 members of the faculty. The price has been reduced to 50 cents per person for tickets, which are now being used by the New York Daily News, the New York Times and the New York Standard.

ASU Retracts Misstatement in Leaflet

The Faculty Survey Committee on Thursday considered a statement issued on the American Student Union. It was announced this week that the faculty favors a four-year course. The statement was issued by the American Student Union in a leaflet distributed Wednesday, November 8. Acting Dean Mayes called this statement to the attention of the College.

A discussion of the threat to the world's peace

by Dr. H. J. K. Meeks

The discussion on the threat to the world's peace was marked by the presence of Professor Meeks and a number of other prominent speakers. The discussion was sponsored by the World Peace Foundation, and was held in the auditorium of the college.

Crow's Nest

By Jack Reynolds

Business in the social sciences was brisk today, as students sought ways to relieve the tension of final examinations. The most popular spot for socializing was the Crow's Nest, a small room in the basement of the Science Building. The atmosphere was electric, with students laughing, chatting, and playing games.

Mead Denies "Cheap Labor"

Dr. Mead denied the charges of "cheap labor" brought against him by the local labor union. "We are not interested in exploiting our students," he said. "We believe in providing a quality education that prepares them for success in the job market." He went on to explain the benefits of the current system, which allows students to work while attending school.

Theatrical Rehearsal Ended By Efforts of Saboteurs

The play was saved... by the efforts of a group of dedicated students who worked tirelessly to prevent the props from being destroyed. The audience was thrilled by the performance, which was a testament to the power of collaboration and teamwork.

Dr. W. T. Smith, supervisor of the library, addressed the students, thanking them for their efforts. "We are grateful for your contributions," he said. "Your hard work and dedication have made all the difference in the world."

"teachers and students were expelled wholesale, in the context with which I have been impressed that teachers and students were expelled by reason of the situation they were in," the ASU president said. "And I'm very much inclined to agree with the statement that was made in the context of the situation they were in.

When the six students representatives were called before the Fact Finding Committee, the ASU president informed them that the Fact Finding Committee would be held at the ASU office on Tuesday, November 25, at 10 a.m. The Fact Finding Committee was composed of the ASU president, the ASU vice president, and the ASU secretary.

Anniversary Attack Jr. Prom Reveals Possible Change

At their meeting Wednesday, ASU members heard Mr. Schnei-der, Assistant Executive Secretary of the American League of Women and Democracy, speak on "The Activities of the Dies Committee." He stated that Dies Committee was not working for the purpose of piling the way for American entry into the war. To the contrary, the Dies Committee stands opposed to all youth organizations, all churches, and all liberal organizations.

The first plan was for a formal Prom at The Hotel Pennsylvania that would feature an informal prom. A second plan was for the 1939 Prom plus the cost of formal attire, the $41 Council announced that a questionnaire would be distributed among the members of that class to decide whether a less expensive informal prom fee or the original prom fee be retained.

Because of protests concerning the high cost of the Junior Prom plus the cost of formal attire, the 41 Council announced that a questionnaire would be distributed among the members of that class to decide whether a less expensive informal prom fee or the original prom fee be retained.
