Tucker Deserts Met Papers; Price Back at Two Cents

Because of an alarming drop in circulation and the consequent decline of advertising, which is the life blood of newspapers, the price of a regular issue is reduced to the former price of two cents.

Following the lead of the better metropolitan newspapers, the Tucker issue was raised to three cents, but without the necessary cooperation of the publications of other colleges the Tucker was forced to rescind a legitimate method of profit.

Berle Pens For "Bar"

Kid. Chaplin Flame Anew: '39 Shags -- Woo, Woo!

An anticipatory glimpse into the life of the City College graduate was afforded recently by thirty-three on Bowery Night. Saturday at this center. Hobo met hobo, Greek met Greek, and Friar met friar. To start the carousel off with a smash, the group gathered through four reels of Jackie Coogan in the "Kid" at a million dollars a reel. He was on his list. Charlie Chaplin in his derby, and Wallace Barry in an ash can. Then the old Bowery night life was resurrected when Harry Auerbach's musical orchestra gave the cue and all the boys started playing pool. What a Night! Dancing started and Bowery dances did not predominate.
