The YMCA group composed of the men and thirteen women, is considered one of the outstanding gym performances of the East. Their repertoire was immensely popular, and certainly balanced the figures involving twenty persons. Rally for Peace Tomorrow

The stories of ruthless aggression and violations of the human rights emanating from Europe in the past year have done more than awaken the American people to the horrors of Fascism. They have served to bring forth the citizens to work for civilization and have created an active demand for a more positive peace program to halt these fascist provocations. The Student Council recently held a legislative conference, and fewer than six hundred delegates from every class and section in the school, have adopted a program to meet these demands. This program which will be presented at the Student Council rally Thursday in the auditorium is the only program that can halt the Axis powers in their mad drive towards catastrophe, which former Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson prophesied before the Senate last week.

"I weigh my words when I say that I believe that our present Canadian civilization is threatened with grave danger by which it has been confronted for centuries."

The program calls for the adoption of the Thomas Amendment to the Neutrality Act to halt all shipments of weapons and aid and send aid to the democratic victims. In the name of humanity the council has called for aid to the refugees and adoption of the Wagner Act to admit 20,000 refugee children into the United States.

"There are methods short of war but stronger and more effective than mere words"—President Roosevelt.

The counterpart of a forceful, progressive foreign policy must be an equally forceful and progressive domestic policy. There are many echoes to the peace of the United States within and without it. It is significant the Hearst papers list as the 'Peace Party,' advocating strict neutrality, such great liberals as Hoover, Kuhn, and other leading names are advocating strict isolationist, program. They seem to be on the wrong side of the issue.

It is not uncommon for reporters of the New York Times to be suspected of bias, but we are not referring to the writing of the reporter himself, but to the influence of the publisher. It is important for the public to know that the Hearst papers treat the issue of neutrality as a 'value judgment' problem, not a world problem. They advocate strict neutrality, but they do not advocate strict isolationism. They advocate strict neutrality, but they do not advocate strict isolationism.

For the record, we quote from the New York Times: "It is not uncommon for reporters of the New York Times to be suspected of bias, but we are not referring to the writing of the reporter himself, but to the influence of the publisher. It is important for the public to know that the Hearst papers treat the issue of neutrality as a 'value judgment' problem, not a world problem. They advocate strict neutrality, but they do not advocate strict isolationism. They advocate strict neutrality, but they do not advocate strict isolationism.

As the general public is aware, the Hearst papers, like all the other newspapers, are subject to the same pressures as the other newspapers, and it is important for the public to know that the Hearst papers advocate strict neutrality, but they do not advocate strict isolationism. They advocate strict neutrality, but they do not advocate strict isolationism.
