College Electrician Crosses Flowers, Plants and Currents

By Homer Franklin

The East River in New York City is not a place where one might expect to find flowers, plants, and electricians. However, that is exactly where they were found this past week.

The flowers and plants were being used to decorate the City College for a special event. The electricians were working to ensure that the lights and electrical systems were functioning properly.

The event in question was the annual Spring Festival, which is held to celebrate the changing of the seasons. The festival includes a variety of activities, such as music, dance, and food, and attracts a large crowd.

The electricians were not the only ones working to make the event a success. The florists and landscapers were also hard at work, creating beautiful displays of flowers and plants. The gardeners were busy tending to the outdoor gardens and greenhouses.

The festival is a great opportunity for the college to showcase its talents and hard work. It is also a chance for students and faculty to come together and celebrate the beauty of the natural world.
