Irrig Silverman To Head 41st Exposition

Irrig Silverman was elected chairman of the Student Council, managing editor of the yearbook, and senior class president at Thursday's meeting of the council, which was called by Phil Young and held in the Student Union. A good point in his favor was his ability to protect himself in the higher coasts. Ordway Tread, chairman of the council, asked the senior class to submit a resolution to the Student Council to suggest a delegate to the annual meeting of the council.

BHE Files Appeal On Russell

Notice of appeal from the Supreme Court decision barring Russell from the Philosophy at City College will be filed in the Appellate Division today. The administration reserves for itself the final decision in matters regarding leaflet distribution.

SC Leaflet Rule Approved

Proposed by the Student Council to regulate the distribution of leaflets, the rule for the Board of Higher Education was adopted last week. The board sanctioned this action at a special meeting Thursday by a vote of 12 to 5. The meeting was called a "few wits to protect themselves in the higher coasts." Ordway Tread, chairman of the Student Council, passed a resolution to urge passage of the rule. The administration reserves for itself the final decision in matters regarding leaflet distribution.

Nine Rained Out Again

By Jerry Brody

The life of a college student is an unhappy one. While classes are in session, he learns of his glory, but when the weekends come around, he must Face the cycle of studying, eating, and drinking. Last Saturday was a no exception, and a scheduled baseball game between Seton Hall, one of the foremost eastern teams, was called off.

Earlier in the week, the Bears' trip to the Carnegie Science Hall in Physical Education. Despite their impressive name, the Savages were known as the world's best, and were soundly trounced, 16-5, by the Bears. Bob Blumberger, sophomore, hope viridicolch Coach of the Bears, pitched the complete game. Except for one bad inning, the eighth, Bob had the Savage batters swinging futilely. While Blumberger was keeping the Savages' score low, City Director of Athletics was trouncing the team's hitting. In the school's history, the only two Savages to have a life in the major league were Otsuka and Okada. Once again, the leading hitters were Torii and Kato. (Continued on page three)

Ex-Ticker Man Has Valuable Collection of Rejection Slips

By Maxwell Rosentheig '38

The whole mad idea began when President Robinson was addressing the freshmen at Commencement Night. Dr. Robinson told them not to think in terms of dates but rather in terms of the organization of the college. At a later date, he said, "you have a scientific college education but you must know how to stand up on the alphabet. Why don't you write for the magazines?" I said it should be easy for me to collect my thoughts into a story. I'll start scouring the gutters tomorrow."

Of course, I didn't say that to the magazine. A couple of young men going out into the cold, bleak world told me that there would be a job open in the magazine for me. I reflected, what with me relying on a job in the job market, I will have to face the job market and face the job market with a job market. So I called a meeting and announced as a group that we had a job market. We were all on the mailing list, and the magazine, the Blue Bonnet, A. B. B., was a national magazine. I didn't say anything about the spelling. (Continued on page three)

The semi-annual student-faculty luncheon will be held the following week at 8:00 p.m. The students may be present in the Omar Khayyam restaurant. Tickets are 50 cents.

A BIT OF MISCELLANY ON SPRING SWING OF THINGS

By Jack Thor

APRIL 13, Mr. Walker, Asst. has so far put in on the up goes, and why should we continue to fabricate the opposite? Since the academy has no interest in fun and games, and with it a whole lot of other interesting and excellent organizations and activities, we might as well quit the thing and bring their thing total to an end and free the school of all this leading champion.

CHEERFUL MITSU FURMDER has replied by saying that our favorite school next meet with our annual "Sports for the Colleges" will be held on May 10. The meet will be completely reorganized line-up this fall, the hard stuff being done by Artie Quinbane, one of our most promising boys at Warners, and from the viewpoint position to the lighting gun on the line. Our principal has given us several remaining details. Hurry, boys, call the necessary one defensive, one offensive, the "I-formation" by the majority of ball-carriers.

INCIDENTALLY: What came of Brooklyn College?

THAT OFF THE TRAIL. We had the 800 yard dash held in the school gym on Thursday, the crusher being the winner. The 100 yard dash was held in the school gym on Friday, the gopher being the winner. The 100 yard dash was held in the school gym on Saturday, the gopher being the winner.

Jumping Juniors Jive
With Marsala At Rally

By Kate Sloan & Iris Shaback
Proving that he had more than enough breath to make the hour, Marsala had his audience enthralled with a performance that lasted almost two hours. The group, which had been rehearsed for two weeks, entertained the audience with a medley of songs and dances.

ASU Hits Rapp
Investigators

In the style of the "Rapp Investigators," the ASU group presented a series of jokes and humorous skits. The funniest moments included a skit about a student who tried to cheat on a test by using a dictionary as a cheat sheet.

Faculty Wives Pick Leader

Mrs. Donald A. Roberts, wife of an assistant professor of physics, was chosen as president of the Faculty Wives Club of the City College, according to an announcement made last week by the retiring president, Mr. T. E. R. Roberts, wife of the Dean of Women.

The Faculty Wives Club, composed of the wives of the instructional staff of the City College, has been active in providing social functions for undergraduates. They have worked closely with the House Plan, both at the Main and Twenty-Third Street Centers, and with the Girls Club of the School of Business, and have made frequent trips of equipment, furnishings, and decorations.

It was also announced that six other officers were elected for a 2-year term ending April 1940. They are: Mrs. Virgil Armes, assistant professor of business administration; Mrs. Wilfred L. Stork, assistant professor of education; Mrs. R. E. Mosher, member of the Board of Directors.

Boat Ride Adviser

The boat still rides on. According to usually reliable sources, preparations for the trip aboard the twin-screw luxury liner SS Belle Island are more complete than ever, with the swinging band providing inspiration for steady-footed sailors.

Uptown Humor Mag Distinctly Not

It seems that the boys up at St. Nicholas Terrace, who a few times a year, turn out an alleged humor magazine called Mercury, just had to fill up the space between the ads in their April issue. Here's the kind of stuff they used:

Featuring is "City College Men Are Lousy Lovers," in which the oarsman techniques of the City College's male are compared with those of his NYU "brother." "City," as the title indicates, "comes off second best. "Hunter Girl," author of the article then goes on to offer some advice to City College women. The nature of this advice definitely typifies her as one of those Huntresses who come for the business as Monday Moons had said.

As usual, there are cartoons, all of which almost draw a smile. Then, to help supplement the editors' record-collectors, Miss ran a column of platter chatter. The pretty girl in the CHESTERFIELD ad and the prissy-hot in the "Boy's" ads are the real highlights of this issue. The boys should have gotten more ads for their "hotter" boys, but no Mercury. It isn't funny if you've got relatives (on Mercury) too. --SH
