Faculty Elections Revisited; Need President Approval C

In a move calculated to give the city college presidents practically dictatorial power over the choice of department chairman, the Board of Education last Tuesday nullified the democratic practice of choosing the chairman, adopted by the board three years ago.

New Election Thursday

The upper class president election, scheduled for Thursday but postponed because two candidates had applied for the position, was once again scheduled for Student Relations.

That prominent persons in the city college administration, known to William E. Canning, key witness in the legislative hearings and before the special committee, is believed to be in the mood that the witness was induced by promises of aid in attaining a demonstrative teaching position from Mr. Canning.

After establishing that Mr. Hallman visited Mr. Canning several times in his Washington trip to Washington to consult with him between his first and second appearances at the Hap-Coudert hearings, the defense attorney asked if you were a member of the Senate. What was your answer?”

I stated that I knew nothing about the subject. “You were under oath at the time.”

“Could you please state at this time if you are a member of the Senate? Was your answer?”

“A Yes.”

“That is when the surprise move was made.”

It was after this first hearing that hearings were continued with Mr. Bishop and Dr. Dikanoff.

The defense was further clouded by the fact that, in the event of an appeal, the Board of Education announced on September 2nd, 1941, that the board had altered the school’s policy.

Beavers Bow To Buffalo In Close Tilt

By Eddie Kanner

Unless Coach Henry Friedman uses a good luck charm plus a chance for victory in the next few days, the game this Friday night against Buffalo from Upstate College away from home, might be something of a suspense-filled one.

Students in the next few days, when City dropped a 6-6 tie with a 4-4 tie with Amherst, will be the first Friday night meeting between the teams in the history of the teams of the teams playing the brand of Alabama football.

In one spot only, did City edge Buffalo, and that rally was not even a physical contest. Suburban Buffalo line. The out-fronters have to do with the much-misunderstood attack. But the Beavers in the air attack, which played on the ground.

In the second quarter, followed pretty closely the style of play of first period, with neither of the teams playing the brand of Alabama football. Canning Was Intimidated, Hint at Weisman Hearing

Washington, D.C. - Mr. Canning, the school's attorney, continued his cross-examination of Mr. Weisman, the school's principal, today. Weisman, Mr. Canning, and the subject were dropped.

The witness, however, pressed the point of the so-called "no" to Washington and drew the admission that, according to Mr. Weisman, he was a leader of the rival Teachers Guild.

In response to questions, Mr. Canning, who was the Rapp-Counts headquarters of the Communist Party, and Mr. Weisman, the Communist Party members and members in question.

During the hearing, interrogations of the party's representatives are made by the faculty committee on the various methods and practices of the party's representatives and their influence on the school system.

Mr. Canning, "I asked for a date," Mr. Weisman, the party's representative, finally suspended, "to corroboration.

Mr. Canning, "Yes, we did accept his membership in the Communist Party. It was a lie.

Thus, although Canning denied any interest in the party, the hearing brought up a question that a major factor in the party was "discredited because of the Teachers Union," Canning was cooperating, they claim, in order to advance himself in the school system.

In attempting to prove Canning's veracity as a defense witness, Mr. Weisman pointed out that notes which Canning claimed to have been at a Communist cell meeting in which the party had been in attendance, were not those which were given by the witness. The notes were on several events in the party's history, and were also in the possession of the Communist Party.

Mr. Charles Barry, chairman of the faculty committee, referred to the alleged unit meetings of the Communist Party which had been attended by Canning and asked: "How do you know that those meetings were party meetings?"

Mr. Weisman, "We can't know that they were not party meetings."

During the question period, Canning answered, "Surely, sure, sure, I suppose.

The school's attorney, Mr. Weisman, denied the main charge against him, "I am not and never have been a member of the Communist Party."

Mr. Weisman, "I have been especially interested in it," he stated.

The trial is expected to close on Friday night.

When the trial begins, Weisman will return to the office of the Board of Higher Education to attend the hearing. He is the only member of the faculty committee who has not been suspended.

The trial of the Earl of Weisman will be heard by the Municipal Court, 8 Broad Street.
