SC Screen Festival
To Offer 'Pagliacci'

By Rox Geller and Don Sachar

Pagliacci, acclaimed by the New York press as a brilliant milestone in film musical history, brings all its vibrant drama to City College's Pauline Edwards Theater Thursday at 12, under the sponsorship of the Student Council.

Richard Tautber, world-renowned tenor known to all opera enthusiasts for his vocal brilliance, was accompanied by the pianist who accompanied him last November. They performed Pagliacci, the opera created by the great Italian composer Ruggero Leoncavallo, with the help of the plaudits of audiences and critics throughout Europe, the United States, and South America.

European Federalists

Mr. Tautber scored a great personal triumph playing the role of Pagno, a high school student, and the sentiment receiving the loudest applause were with Steffi Dunav, whose cornet playing accompanied the opera and brought the entire audience to its feet.

Social Lab Studies Students' Opinion

The Social Research Laboratory of the City College Department of Social Research has taken this term a comprehensive study of student attitudes on the establishment of cooperative housing ventures for veterans, Professor Samuel Josephs, chairman, and discrimination studies.

Discrimination Studies

Included in the project to determine student opinions on the question of a New York State University Law School for vegetables. The students, in an investigation into cooperative housing ventures for veterans, Professor Samuel Josephs, chairman, and government's Commission on Housing, were divided into several groups. The purpose of the conference was to bring student leaders together for a discussion on the need for a State University housing law.

AVC Plans Annual Dance for Nov. 16

A gala First Annual Dance, featuring stage, screen, and radio personalities, will be presented at the American Veterans Committee's meeting on November 16 at 8:30 in Hansen Hall. The dance, which marks the first AVC social event of the season, is similar to that held at the school earlier in the year, which was attended by the students, faculty, and non-students.

The past week has seen an increasing number of students registering for the dance. The registration is open to all students, regardless of affiliation with the AVC.

MISCU Sponsoring Student Conference

Prof-Student Show Mimes School Quirks

With every organization in the school contributing its bit to the Student-Faculty Show this past week, the Frontier was filled with the show's spirit as it took its place in the list of events. The Frontier plans to present a complete opera on the subject of the show's theme, "MISCU Sponsoring Student Conference".

Harris Medals Given To Five Noted Alumni

Townsend Harris medals for outstanding postgraduate achievement are presented for the first time to 15 alumni in New York City. The medals are presented by President of the School Board of Education, Dr. Stephen Dolan, and are given to alumni who have made outstanding contributions to the field of education.

MISCU Sponsoring Student Conference

Sponsoring a student conference composed of delegates from the metropolitan colleges, the Metropolitan Intercollegiate Student Council will launch its activity during the next meeting of the student council, scheduled for December 1. The conference will be held in the City College's Pauline Edwards Theater.

Hansen Hall Recruit For Frosh Reception

Hansen Hall will recruit with the purest forms of laughter and dancing. The Frosh Orientation Committee is calling for 100 girls to act as hostesses at the Frosh Orientation Reception Saturday at 8:30.
City's Complex

"My Lord, why did you come to City when you could have gone to some other college?" This comment from a non-veteran to his veteran classmate has been heard time and time again in this building.

"We would very much like to know what these people are sad about. They are under the impression that the fact is that they are going to City College is only to be whispered from a non-veteran to his veteran classmate." (Continued on Page 42)

Uproar Again

By Norman Unrath

We are not to be disappointed in the thinking of the editors of the City College newspaper, "The Tickler," in their recent issue. They have decided to take up the matter of the "City College" name and have published an article entitled "City College Complex." The editors state that they are in favor of the present name but believe that it is time for a change. They suggest that the name "City College" be changed to "City University."

They argue that the name "City College" is too narrow and that it should be changed to reflect the fact that City College is a major university.

The editors also point out that the name "City College" is not distinctive enough and that it should be changed to reflect the fact that City College is one of the leading universities in the country.

Finally, the editors state that the name "City College" is not appealing and that it should be changed to reflect the fact that City College is a major university.

In conclusion, the editors of "The Tickler" are in favor of changing the name of City College to "City University." They believe that this change will reflect the fact that City College is a major university and that it is not too narrow or too distinctive.

For all those intellectually curious young souls who have been wondering just how the young packer known how many sardines to squeeze in a can, a dynamic working (7) solution is presented each and every day at our own School of Business.

And, fellow college citizens, should you be unaware, of the fact you are this reason, experimental raw materials, sacrificing your all so that the future may be packed in dignity and in confidence.

According to the latest statistics, approximately 4000 students have been enrolled for Day Session terms. Two thousand seats in the building excluding lecture halls, labs and P.E.T. Entailing the assistance of a graduate student in statistical analysis, the profound conclusion has been reached that every fourth student must be dissected to permit an equitable distribution of one and one-third per chair. A measurement of the building has been reached that every student must be dissected to permit an equitable distribution of one and one-third per chair. A more attractive solution might be to distribute a blond to every third hair isn’t a problem.

Special note to instructors: Means, examinations will do no good to relieve crowded conditions, as the capacity will be to reallocate the students into the gap in direct proportion to casualties. It might be well to give the students a break. At least they know the eleventh hour.

Section 8 Material: At the first meeting of the Psychology Club held on Tuesday, Dr. Ageeley of the Sociology Department, spoke on "Personality and Marriage." He compared the mating habits in the Maritimes islands and Japan with those in the United States.

Beaver Dispatch

(Continued from Page 1) After some deliberation, it was decided that a special dance floor should be provided for the beholders, to prevent the little creatures from being stepped on. The route from Beaver City to Brooklyn, Oct. 12, Mr. Baker, president of the Class of '49, in an interview with the press today, stated that he was confident that the affair would be a huge success and that the Republic of Beavers was on its way to becoming one of the most influential powers in the fur industry. "I must, however," he added, "inflict that my classmates submit pledges, priced at one dollar and available from any class officer, before this will be installed in this installation."
