A torrid discussion of the question of the basic role of the college as a result of Stanley Frank's article on City College last week's Saturday Evening Post. Regardless of the usual objections toettings...It's time for us to face the question of the undercurrent of thought which Mr. Frank's article brought. We believe that his is a valid question and that the answer he gives is sound. It's time for us to face the question of the undercurrent of thought which Mr. Frank's article brought. We believe that his is a valid question and that the answer he gives is sound.

In analyzing the shortcomings of Mr. Frank's reportage, we find his a great deal more illuminating than his analysis. He was objective and, to a high degree, he succeeded. He missed some of the underlying difficulties which have brought this campus and the fact that our students live at home create barriers to school-wide (Continued on Page 2).

Panels to Appear

Up to Friday afternoon, $1300 had been in stock. Many of the students who have turned in to these meetings in defiance of the name this college's motto, which is "Be a leader."

The most recent attacks on the Uptown administration and the efforts of Stanley Frank to bring these attacks to light are being fought with the article on City College last week's Saturday Evening Post. Centennial Ball Refusal Angers Mistress; Shoots Knee In Head

By Hal Oster

Brooklyn Daily, New York—Sarah Lederer, wealthy New York housewife, was slain yesterday by her husband, Henry, who shot her in the head and then fled. The couple had been married for 25 years. Mr. Lederer was later arrested at the scene of the crime, where he had concealed a .45-caliber pistol.

The Lederer family has been known for its involvement in the local community. Mr. Lederer was a member of the local country club, while Mrs. Lederer was a member of the local women's club. The couple had three children, two sons and a daughter.

ICB To Assign Rooms

For Clubs Next Term

In order to avoid future difficulties, the Dates committee of the ICB Club Board is taking reservations for lounges and other student facilities for next semester. At the ICB meeting on April 23, Mike Parker, the chairman of the committee, announced that organizations contacting him now will have first choice of next term's lounge reservations.

Two new committees were formed at the meeting: the Student Interest Committee and the Club Hours Committee. The latter was made after the Extra-Hours Committee reported that extra hours time is at a premium for extra-curricular activities next term. According to Al Aronson, chairman of ICB, these new committees will promote student social activities in the school and make activities so that there are no conflicts.
