Impressive Ceremonies Mark Charter Day

By Winnie Ginzberg

Ceremonies marking the centennial of City College were presided over by President Harry N. Wright, who welcomed guests and gave a talk on the institution of the university.

Student leaders of the school-wide rally were in attendance, including the President of the Student Council, Robert Sussman, who presented the program to the students. The rally was held in front of the college's main entrance and was attended by thousands of students.

The highlight of the event was the awarding of the FDR Medal, which was presented to Robert F. Wagner, former President of the United States, for his contributions to education and the arts. The medal was bestowed by the City College administration and was presented by the Student Council. The event was attended by over 10,000 students and faculty members.

In addition to the awards ceremony, a centennial program was presented, featuring performances by various student groups, including the College Choir, the City College Orchestra, and the City College Drama Club.

The centennial events concluded with a fireworks display, which was watched by thousands of students and faculty members. The event was sponsored by the City College administration and was attended by over 15,000 people.
The Significance of This Moment
In the Life of City College

The consecration on Wednesday at the Great Hall served as more than the simple crowning of an academic year. For those who were fortunate enough to have been present, the ceremony brought home to them the meaning of the achievements that they have accomplished.

The achievements of our school are by no means the accomplishments of the college, but the achievements of all of us who have attended this school.

Wallace Tells School Editors
Of Europe Students' Politics

Mr. Wallace, editor of the The Ticker, has been given the opportunity to express his views on the Student Movement in Europe.

"I believe," he said,
"that the student movement in Europe is a natural reaction to the situation abroad. It is the expression of the desire for freedom and independence among the young people of Europe."

The Ticker is planning to publish articles on this subject in the near future.

Old Timer Retires
City Bids Doc Bradford Adieu

The students of City College had a chance to bid farewell to Dr. Charles Bradford, who has been associated with the college for many years.

"I have been associated with City College for many years," Dr.
Bradford said,
"and I have enjoyed every minute of it."

The Ticker is planning to publish a special issue in honor of Dr. Bradford.

City Nine Drops Pair; Faces Redmen, Jasper

After a heart-breaking 3-1 loss to NYU on Thursday night at the College, the City College men of the future continued their winning streak with a 3-0 victory over Seton Hall on Saturday. The win was a much-needed one for the City College men, who had been struggling in recent games.

The Ticker is planning to publish a special issue in memory of the late Dr. Bradford.
