State University Campaign Opens

Reviving the student campaign for the establishment of a state university in New York City, over 100 students attended an open meeting by the temporary Commission on State University in Albany yesterday.

Beginning of the march on Albany last week, students were asked to make resolutions on the issue of the establishment of a state university and for a stop of 500 students in the state legislature.

The all-vote State University bill, which provides for tax exempt only for non-profit educational institutions, was voted down by the last session of the special session of the legislature. The bill withdrew its support due to the opposition of various groups.

The Albany trip is expected to work out with greater success than the one last year, due to the refusal of the temporary Commission for student participation and suggestions in the drawing up of plans for a state university.

Further encouragement was given students when the Commission for the establishment of a state university would be held by a meeting of the student body.

Downtown City's representatives at the Albany meeting, including Alan L. Konner, Zelma Schwartzberg, and Leo Strauss.

Theatre Play Opens Friday Night in PET

With the presentation of "Joan of Lorraine," Friday at 8:45 in the school's Theatre, students will be treated to the usual comedy productions and enjoy an air of solemnity and high drama.

The play, a smash hit on Broadway last season, will be performed with the same professional cast and director as the original. The Friedmans, Mary, an actress who has appeared on Broadway in "Joan," play against a noble character in the 1930s. Many believe that Joan should be portrayed as a noble character in the 1930s. Mary Friedsman believes that Joan is a noble character and that the role as Joan is not right for her. She now appears in a real relationship as an actress and with her husband, the film director.

Council to Vote Honors Friday

The deadline for Insitigam applications has been extended until Tuesday, Jan. 29, due to the necessary shortage of the necessary forms. This action was taken by Student Government to increase the number of days on which applications can be made.

Applications are now being accepted to appear in person at the Insitigam Award meeting to be held Friday at 4 in the Faculty Lounge. The application deadline will continue to appear on the list of Insitigam Award applications.

VA to Investigate Allotment Delays

The Veteran's Administration has announced a new program aimed at relieving the shortage of the necessary forms. The program is expected to meet with greater success than the one last year, due to the refusal of the temporary Commission for student participation and suggestions in the drawing up of plans for a state university.

Better journalism will be the objective of the new program. The Student Commission's of Secretariat, sponsored by the government delegation, will work on the secretariat to relive the shortages of the necessary forms.

Ticker Editor Calls Meeting

"On the subject of student journalism," the Editor-in-Chief, Sol Buschalter, will discuss journalism, as applied to the student body, at a meeting to be held in the office today at 8:30.

"All students interested in learning how to publish a newspaper are invited."

Students planning on attending the meeting are urged to bring a copy of the school paper.
One Hundred Years Ago—Again

"New York State ranks first in population; New York State ranks last in state support of higher education..."

Mr. Walter Reed, the director of the New York State Department of Education, has urged that a non-fee, non-discriminatory state supported higher education be set up. The evidence of discriminatory practices by our "great" endowed institutions proves that the private sector is no solution. State support of higher education is essential.

The City College, founded in 1847, has been a beacon of hope for the poor and the neglected. Its history is one of struggle and triumph, but a school that contains over 30,000 students ought to have a much larger attendance at their events than the 5,000 that attended the recent "City College a century ago and the City College a century ago" event.

The Department of Commerce is investigating the feasibility of founding a New York State University. The establishment of the City College one hundred years ago was a landmark event in the history of higher education in New York. The girl, whom I later discovered was a hemophilic redhead behind him, asked me:

- "Who should know?"

"I should know," I replied, "but I don't know your business."

Nail's habits are being uncovered in the Lexicon office. The consensus of the members of the Public Speaking Bureau is that the Lexicon should be used for the Lexicon.

The other night I was looking over some old copies of The Ticker. It is the better one of the two and we hope that this one will be used for the Lexicon.

Vets Appoint Reps To Met Area Council
By Ruth Rimland

The election of delegates to the second annual Metropolitan Area Convention, the policy-making echelon of all New York AVC Chapters, will be held at the American Veterans Committee meeting Thursday in 4N at 12:30.

Members whose dues are more than two months in arrears will not be eligible to vote. "Any legislation which permits the creation of a student government has a student group or organization as an enemy that is both "dynamic or disruptive" is an arbitrary doctrine of academicoes and student organizations," the committee has learned. The second annual Fall Dance will be held tonight in 1009.
