DELANY'S PROTESTS BRANDED AS 'FALSEHOODS' BY WRIGHT

President OK's New Chairman
By Jerry Deutch

With unexpected vigor, President Harry N. Wright refuted all phases of Judge Hubert T. Delany's resignation memo from the Associate Alumni Committee to investigate segregation and discrimination at the college, before a group of students, faculty, and the press at a conference last Wednesday.

"My integrity has definitely been attacked," stated Pres. Wright, and thereupon began an hour-long attack on Delany's 15-page statement which was released last week. In his resignation, Delany claimed that Wright had failed to take an aggressive stand on the Knickerbocker and Davis cases. But Davis' raise in salary was a reward for one found guilty of segregation and discrimination. That the Alumni Committee sessions were concerned with long irrelevant arguments on procedure instead of the investigation itself was brought to my attention. These committees carried through their work as quickly as they possibly could. The committees mentioned found Davis guilty of segregation of Negroes at Army Hall. As punishment he was relieved of his job as director at Army Hall. No evidence of any appreciability.

(Continued on Page 4)

PET Scene of Conflict
Friday, Saturday Eve
By Barbara Klirsfeld

Pauline Edwards Theater will be the scene of Theater's dramatic extravaganza, "Richard of Bordeaux," on Friday and Saturday evenings at 8:30. The show, Theater's semi-annual production, is one of the most ambitious that has yet been undertaken, according to Moros Moscowitz, president of the dramatic society.

With a long list of successful productions to its credit, the theater is initiating a new policy. That is, not only to capitalize on the unknown names of Broadway shows, but to present those which will achieve success on their own right. Mr. Moscowitz, commenting on the show, said: "We feel that it is good business, and with correct management, with a production that will make money." The show costs $1800 to put on.

The play begins with the meeting between King Richard II and his son Henry IV, which is now the Duke of Gloucester. A star of past productions, it is in modern dress and costume. Mr. Moscowitz said: "The music is that of Leo Delmar, the most famous composer of stage music. The costumes are designed by Miss Rosemary. Musical numbers are written by Rosemary and Henry IV. The show is in a featured role and the cast includes Trudy Moll, George Lawrence, Stanley Kline, Hal Zeller, Leonard Kauffman, Flossy Ritten, Helen Sherman, and Marjorie Grossman.

The musical numbers are presented before the popular "Gone" Gang takes over, Bop to Rule.

Bobo is coming to the Comptroller Thursday in an all-star visitor's concert. The program will be presented at 8:30 on Thursday, in the Twilight Room, and will be featured in the "Bop to Rule..." The show will be featured in the "Bop to Rule..."

CPSA to Address Accounting Society

Stephen Chan, partner of the CPA firm of Eiker & Giblin, will address the Accounting Society on "How to Obtain and Retain a Junior Accountant Position" at 12:30 on Thursday, in 1926.

A speech at a society meeting was the subject of a recent article in the Accounting Forum on the Junior Accountant creation and success of the Society.
The Other Side of the Desk
Aluminum Eisen in Introspection

By Prof. Bernard Eisen, Secretary, Dept.

As I write these lines, I am constantly aware of the fact that the term term every word taken on added significance by virtue of being read more than once. This presence of the past lingers in the silence of the room, casting a shade over the language of the moment. Yet, in the midst of this retentive atmosphere, there is a certain liberating force that allows me to express myself anew. It is as if the very act of writing is a form of introspection, revealing the depths of my thoughts in a way that speaking cannot.

The theme of this essay is an exploration of the idea of introspection, a process of self-reflection that allows one to gain a deeper understanding of oneself and the world. In this way, introspection becomes a tool for personal growth and self-discovery. It is a practice that requires a certain degree of detachment, allowing one to step back from the immediate preoccupations of daily life and examine the underlying patterns and ideas that shape one's thoughts and actions.

The practice of introspection has been a cornerstone of human intellectual development, from the ancient Greek philosophers to the modern psychologists. The ability to reflect on one's own experiences and emotions is a fundamental aspect of human consciousness, allowing us to transcend the immediateness of the present moment and access a more universal understanding of ourselves and the world.

This essay is not intended as a comprehensive treatise on the subject of introspection. Rather, it is a personal reflection on the topic, drawing upon my own experiences and observations. I hope that it will serve as a catalyst for further exploration and discussion, encouraging others to engage with the ideas presented and to apply them in their own lives.
THE TICKER
Tuesday, April 9, 1963

Wright vs Delany...

Pressbox Patter
A Low Bow
By Aaron Shapiro

Holman to Teach Basketball
To Israeli Youths, Coaches

In Friday and Daily papers, here and in the United States, the fillip of the front pages, regarding all the excitement surrounding the World Series of 1963, there is one name that pops up: Monty Wright. Wright, who is a member of the United States Olympic Fencing squad, has been making headlines with his performance in the first two rounds of the World Series. His success has been due to his exceptional skills in the sport of fencing, which he has been perfecting for many years. Wright's dedication to the sport has been evident in his performance, and he has become a household name in the United States.

In the meantime, Wright has been focusing on his preparation for the upcoming matches. He has been practicing his drills and routines, and he has been working closely with his coach to improve his technique. Wright is known for his quick reflexes and his ability to react to his opponent's moves, which has made him a formidable opponent in the sport of fencing.

The upcoming matches are sure to be exciting, and Wright is determined to make a name for himself in the sport of fencing. With his exceptional skills and his dedication to the sport, he is sure to be a force to be reckoned with in the upcoming World Series.

In other news, the Brooklyn Law School will be offering a new course in the fall semester. The course, titled "Law and the Media," will be taught by Professor Jane Smith. The course will cover the history of the media, the role of the media in society, and the legal implications of media in various contexts.

The course will be offered on a part-time basis, and it will be open to students who are interested in pursuing a career in law or journalism. The course will meet once a week, and it will be held in the afternoon.

In conclusion, Wright is a true hero to the United States, and his dedication to the sport of fencing is an inspiration to all. With his exceptional skills and his dedication to the sport, he is sure to be a force to be reckoned with in the upcoming World Series. The Brooklyn Law School's new course in "Law and the Media" will provide students with a unique opportunity to learn about the history of the media and its role in society, and the legal implications of media in various contexts.
Nine Opens With Wins Against Queens, Pratt

By Morton Schwartz

The City College baseball team made it two in a row yesterday as they defeated a weak Pratt Institute nine by a 12-7 count. The game was a shortened, seven inning affair.

In the season's opener, the Beavers pulled one out of the fire as they defeated Queens College, 13-11.

Coaches Need Additional Aid

The baseball team will need an additional $250 to cover the cost of the uniforms, equipment, and travel expenses for the upcoming season. The team is currently $150 short of the $400 goal. Any donations can be directed to the team's treasurer, Joe Pereira.

Aspirants Sought For Cheer Team

The Intramural Board is looking for candidates to fill the positions of the Cheer Team. The team will be responsible for leading the cheers at sporting events and promoting school spirit. Interested candidates should contact the Board's president, Tom Brown.

Beaver Fencers Compile Good Record Despite Loss of Titles

By Dave Weintraub

The Beaver fencers compiled a 7-2 record this season despite losing their chance to win titles in the NCAA championships. The team was able to hold their own against top-notch opponents and continued to improve throughout the season.

Imb Quintets In Quarter Final Round

Four more top-notch quintets—Sampson, ASP, AMS and the Intellectuals—will be vying for a spot in the quarterfinal round of play in the basketball tournament. The tournament is scheduled to begin next week, with the winners advancing to the semifinals.

Aspirants Sought For Cheer Team

The Intramural Board is looking for candidates to fill the positions of the Cheer Team. The team will be responsible for leading the cheers at sporting events and promoting school spirit. Interested candidates should contact the Board's president, Tom Brown.

Beaver Fencers Compile Good Record Despite Loss of Titles

By Dave Weintraub

The Beaver fencers compiled a 7-2 record this season despite losing their chance to win titles in the NCAA championships. The team was able to hold their own against top-notch opponents and continued to improve throughout the season.

IMB Quintets In Quarter Final Round

Four more top-notch quintets—Sampson, ASP, AMS and the Intellectuals—will be vying for a spot in the quarterfinal round of play in the basketball tournament. The tournament is scheduled to begin next week, with the winners advancing to the semifinals.