There is still a surplus of applicants for the remaining positions that were open on Friday due to the shortage of candidates, which has been demonstrated with the increasing numbers of applications received.

Aect Positions

Easier to Get

Approximately 400% more jobs are available for accounting jobs to several factors. Among others, according to Mr. Kelly, director of the employment office, interest at the college and in the surrounding area. There are also an additional 90% more people who were interested in filling the full and part-time positions.

Mr. Kelly attributes the increase in applications to several factors. "There has been a general improvement in the economic picture," he said. "Secondly, students are anticipating more work in the area. And thirdly, the students are aware of the positions that have been made recently.

Jobs are not increasing proportionately in other areas, however. There is still a surplus of applicants in fields such as advertising, foreign trade and personnel. Only a slight increase in opportunities in these fields has been noted.

City Midtown Business Center

Sees 13% Rise in Enrollment

Running entirely contrary to the trend, enrollment at the City College Midtown Business Center has increased by 13% from the previous year, according to Dr. Robert A. Love, Director. This increase is attributed to the opening of new courses and the addition of new faculty members who have been recruited to meet the needs of the students.

According to Dr. Love, "We have already started a number of new programs, and we will continue to provide the kind of education and training that will prepare students for work in a changing economy."
A City University

For years the four city colleges have been the Cinderella schools of the educational system. A trip to the campus shows one that is clean and safe. In particular, the leadership has been outstanding. The faculty has been unselfish and dedicated to being all the educational programs that they have ever been afraid to think about. The students show their dedication by giving all of their time and energy to their studies.

This fall, the administration is making a concerted effort to bring more students into the ranks of the university. In doing so, they are making a strong statement on the importance of education. As a result, there is a sense of unity and purpose among the students.

The administration has made a strong effort to involve the students in the decision-making process. In the past, the students have been left out of the decision-making process. This has led to a lack of unity and purpose among the students.

City Invades Philly
To Take On Owls
By Larry Pollock
City College's hot and cold basketball team will attempt to make its first string on the road when they journey to Philadelphia this Saturday night to meet the Temple Owls. As is customary, the annual trip to the Quaker City is a prelude for the teams of the Big 5 and their student body.

Thecumulative record of the Temple Owls is 8-0-1. The Owls are currently setting pace in scoring throughout the nation with an average of 32 points per game, and are tied up with the leaders in number of assists.

The Owls are a formidable team, but AAU is currently setting pace in scoring throughout the nation with an average of 32 points per game, and are tied up with the leaders in number of assists.

Unfortunately, for the Cherry and White pair, performances indicated that Milkey's scoring pace, sometimes sometimes, will be a near impossible task.

One other factor will be the starting quartet, who are able to come out on top. I3ections, for the positions of

Nimrods Nip Polytech;
Aim at Cadets Tomorrow
By Sheldon Friedman
For the second time this season the City College rifle outgunned Brooklyn Polytech yesterday in Hansen Hall with the Cage Ball contest, Tog Cottage upstairs. The forward, Ed Sprock, who scored 17 points, and the Commerce five, not to be denied, pulled ahead by eight points in the third period and coasted on this lead until two minutes before the final buzzer when Bergen closed the gap to two points.

With the exception of Ira Senator, who scored six points, the Bergen team was not able to score more than two points in the game.

Variations in a court's dimensions also play an important part in the number of shots taken in the games and the type of offense and defense employed by the teams. Therefore, no one knows how much of the difference in the size of basketball courts is due to the game and how much to the court's variance.
