Accountants to Hear Former Alumni Prexy On Accounting Jobs

William Schnuer '34, former president of the City College School of Business Alumni, will be the guest speaker at the Accounting Forum's meeting, Thursday at 12:30 in Inter-Collegiate Society's meeting, Thursday at 12:30 in Inter-Collegiate Society's.

The topic of his talk will be "Getting a Good Job In Accounting." Employed by the Dependable Employment Agency, Mr. Schnuer will distribute copies of the various accounting firms used by accounting firms in the metropolitan area, to illustrate his address.

Presently active as a life director of the School of Business Alumni, Mr. Schnuer, who acts as a consultant to the Alumni-Faculty Committee, and was placement director at the School from 1936 to 1938. He has been active in Alumni affairs since 1936.

Mr. Schnuer received his MBA in personnel management at City College in 1934 and in 1938, he is currently working for his PhD at New York University.

Future meetings will feature discussion by leading authorities on various topics as economics, accounting, civil service and credit.

The group is currently conducting a drive to enroll all accounting majors now. Following Mr. Schnuer's address, the Accounting Forum will hold a meeting in the same room.

Contributions received to date from various student organizations will be voluntary and those donating $10 or more will be eligible to receive door prizes donated by Barnes & Noble.

The Forum is being sponsored by the Inter-Collegiate Board to stimulate interest in the School's clubs and organizations. Special activity forms will be available at the door and all students are urged to join.

Among the booths being presented are House Plan's "Haunted House" and The Student Affairs "Join a Club Week." The Fraternalists will also conduct a "three on a mat" contest.

On the athletic side, the Education Society will use pumpkins as obstacles on its "Golf Course" and Beta Delta Mu will provide a "golf show" for frustrated hoopers.

Any organization which has not yet made arrangements to conduct a booth at the Fair, may do so by contacting co-chairmen Harriet Guber and Paul Singer.

Superintenent Fair Set In Hansen Hall, Friday

Climaxing "Join a Club Week," the Superintenent Fair will be held in Hansen Hall, Friday from 10-4.

Highlighting the day's activities is the selection of "Miss 13" as Queen of the Fair. The contest is open to all City colleges and the winner will receive sportsargas at her price.

In previous semesters, booths operated by organizations at the School will compete for recognition as the best project at the Fair. The winning organization will receive a plaque donated by Arleston.

Another facet of the Fair will be a drive to raise money for the Community Chest. Contributions will be voluntary and those donating $10 or more will be eligible to receive door prizes donated by Barnes & Noble.

Retailers' Survey Scores NY Stores

Although Fifth Avenue stores scored almost twenty per cent higher on "confidence" in their ability to sell personal merchandise, they would still get only a "C" grade, according to a survey made by retail majors at the College.

Goodman Fund Gets $5000, Provides Yearly Fellowships

The Theodore Goodman Memorial Fund, created last year to perpetuate his name as one of the College's outstanding English professors, has received $5000 in contributions, it was announced last week by Professor Edgar Johnson, chairman of the executive committee of the Fund.

The purpose of the Memorial Fund is to provide fellowships each year to students who show outstanding creative writing ability. The first such fellowship will be granted this year.

Contributions received to date have been donated by friends, colleagues and students of the late educator. Ultimate aim of the fund hopes to obtain $50,000 for disbursement to worthy students.

Professor Johnson has gained national fame of late, as a result of the popular acclaim for his best selling biography, "Charles Dickens: His Tragedy and Triumph."

Wishing you a pleasant evening.

On the occasion of your visit to the museum, I am writing to inform you about the current exhibits.

Some of these places have recently been opened.

The Hayden Planetarium, one of the most fascinating astronomical observatories in the world, is located at 200 Central Park West, New York.

The Hayden Planetarium is being read, and need I say that this has warmed my pen considerably.

The Hayden Planetarium, located at 200 Central Park West, New York, is one of the most fascinating astronomical observatories in the world.

It is just another one of the many surprises that New York has to offer.

In life's position on the campus, we have learned to appreciate the many fine new experiences.

I don't want to be too commercial once again, but I believe that the Hayden Planetarium is a must for all visitors to New York.

If you break the chain, you should have all the bad luck in the world.
Mermen 3rd in Mets
As Schloemer Shines

By Herb Nager

In a meet highlighted by two record-breaking performances by City's star free-style, Howie Schloemer, Coach Jack Rider's mermen placed third in the annual Metropolitan College Swimming Championship held Friday evening at NYU's John Quigley Pool on the University Heights campus.

Schloemer won the 440-yard freestyle event in the excellent time of 4:05.5 and defeated his 220-yard freestyle crown successfully by splashing home in 2:18.5 to eclipse his own record of 2:19 set in the preliminaries Wednesday.

City, with a total of 42 points, bested out by defending champ NYU and Kings Point with totals of 76 and 52 points respectively. Following in the wake of the Beavers swimmers were Fordham, with 29, Brooklyn Polytechnic with 22, Manhattan with 17 and Brooklyn with 13 points, who placed fifth in the first appearance in the meet.

The victorious Violets capped an unblemished victory tourney. They won all seven events of the evening, 3000-yard medley relay, in 6:57. The City trio of Tony Nicosia, Ron Kellogg and Jay Glat led second third.

City failed to place a man in the 3000-yard freestyle event, which was won by Walt Leffler in 25:1. Seniors Joe Fullman came in fourth and sixth, respectively, to garner three points for the Beavers in the 150-yard individual medley.

The Violets won the 200-yard freestyle event, with Joe Fullman placing second.

The Lavender duo very well in the 1000-yard breast stroke. Tony Solis was second in the event.

The Beavers won the 200-yard individual medley, with Nicosia placing second.

The Violets closed out their triumph with a victory in the final event, the 400-yard relay. An NYU trio, headed by Jonny Willcox and Walt Leffler, took 2:08.7. Solis' teammate, Normie Klein, came in second.

The Violets, twenty-point harvest against NYU, with scores of 47-14, 41-20, 37-25, 40-20, 40-20, 40-20, 40-20, and 40-20, were far out in front at the end of the period, 22-0.

The charges of Jack 'Dutch' Garfinkle vaulted to a 4:43-half free-style victory, with a new personal record of 4:43. Garfinkle almost had his points disqualified for entering the freestyle event, but it remained for Harvey Miller to clinch the 100-yard backstroke by out-dueing by half a second and thereby allow City to win the meet in the end by a 1:41-second margin.

Wilson Juniors Top Post '54
As IMB Hoop Tourney Opens

The semi-annual IMB basketball tournament swung into action Thursday in Hansen Hall as four first-round elimination contests were held.

In the initial two contests, defending titans Post 54 defeated the struggling West 13-6, and the City Juniors, intramural champions a year ago, triumphed over the Stuyvesant Juniors by a score of 13-12. The Beavers by a score of 24-15 count, Paul Singer led the City Juniors in scoring, netting eight points.

In their contest, the City Juniors, intramural champions a year ago, triumphed over the Stuyvesant Juniors by a score of 13-12. The Beavers on the downside. The Beavers were in contention for the title, but the Beavers were unable to withstand the Stuyvesant Juniors, who scored 13 points.

The season is over. The scorebook has been closed for the last time, not to be opened until next year's edition of the City cagers answers the opening whistle.

All in all, the season has been a success. The Beavers returned to a winning record of 1-7 after last year's 9-1-1 losing mark. This was also the year that City broke its all-time scoring record with 96 points, a 29-point outburst against MIT. Individually, the leading light was Captain Jerry Domer, who scored 17 points per game and provided the inspirational impetus to the team.

Now that the last game has been played, it can be seen that the loss of Howie Buss at mid-season was a crushing blow. The big center sparkled the squad to its early season victories with an 8.5 average. His replacement, Ronnie Kowalski, has shown great promise, but Buss' shoes have proven hard ones to fill. As it turned out, it was Buss, along with Jack Chudnow and Artie Dioti, three boys from Polansky's Commerce squad, whose presence on the team played a vital role in the five's success.

Polansky had originally counted on three returnees from last year, Bob Logran, Sy Cohen and Frank Morant, at the outset of the season. For various reasons, three of these were unable to play, but the Commerce boys picked up the slack, performing far better than Polansky had ever hoped.

Sophomore Merv Shorr fulfilled the prophecy of the School of Commerce, as he performed in yeoman fashion in the rebounding department. The rugged Shorr also capped a fine season with a twenty-point harvest against NYU.

Polansky himself indicates that he feels the season has been a successful one, inasmuch as Milt and Hunter were the only quintet that he regarded as set-up men. And as far as I can see, the Beavers can be a very successful one. Expecting back again are Qomer and Joe Fullman, who finished out their careers with a bang.

In conclusion, lettermen Walt Tannenbaum, leading scorer of the 1951-52 freshmen, and Jim Yablonski, who scored in high points, will return. And the future's too bright, the race is so close, the first place man will win, and thereby allow City to win the meet in the end by a 1:41-second margin.
