CCSO to Give Show at Dix

By Joan Zalinsky

The City College Service Organization will present their second anniversary variety show at Fort Dix before 1000 servicemen, Saturday evening at 8:30. Midget pictures for the two hour show will be taken and they will be shown at the School some time in the near future.

In search of new talent, the group will hold auditions, tomorrow from 12-3 in Lecture C. Any student who feels that he has some talent is requested to attend.

A five piece band under the direction of Ernie Goldblatt with a musical background for the Fort Dix performance, and Phil Gittelman will act as master of ceremonies. Among the performers will be singers Joe Pastor and Charles Mendrich, guitar players Sylvia Levine and Larry Levy, who will form a quartet with Phil Gittelman; clarinet player Sy Kramer and comedian Bert Califano.

The primary purpose of CCSO, which was organized two years ago by alumni Al Baran and Bill Schaefer, is to give the morale of the servicemen and the hospitalized veterans studied in installations and veterans' hospitals in and around the Metropolitan area, by providing entertainment and other recreational facilities for their enjoyment.

Since its inception in April, 1951, CCSO has presented shows at Fort Dix, Camp Kilmer, St. Albans Naval Hospital and other locations, including Woodbridge VA Hospital, among others. On April 12, the troupe entertained at Fort Hamilton where they put on a ward show.

Week to Better Relations

Faculty, Students to Make Merry

Continuing their program to foster closer faculty-student relations, Sigma Alpha will institute the first Faculty-Student Week in the College's history, April 27-May 1.

Monday of that week, a Community, Quartet and Individual auditions will be held in Lecture A from 1-3. Faculty and students will participate in solo, group and barbershop versions of original, folk, classical and popular songs, to piano accompaniment.

Tuesday, the theme of "What's My Summer Job?" patterned after television's "What's My Line?" will be featured in Lounge A from 1-3. Six faculty members will be on hand to question students with unusual jobs.

Wednesday's activity will consist of a Tall Story Contest, also to be held in Lounge A from 1-3, in which faculty and students will participate to see who can tell the biggest "whoppers." Audience reaction will determine the winner.

A Hobby Display will take place Thursday in the Faculty Council Room from 12-2, with both faculty and students displaying their favorite pastimes.

Friday, a Bowling Party has been announced. It will also be held in Lounge A from 1-3. The tentative cost is 75¢ for the entire afternoon, with bowling shoes furnished free.

As a grand finale to the week's activities, a Faculty-Student Picnic and Softball game will be held Sunday at Clove Lake, Staten Island. Groups will meet at South Ferry at 10:30 a.m.

All students wishing to participate in any of the activities should leave their name, address and telephone number in the Sigma Alpha office, in 921, or with any member of Sigma Alpha. The meetings will be advertised on the bulletin board.

Among the faculty who have thus far agreed to participate are Dean Maxan Parties, Professor Arthur Dickson of the English department, Miss Florris of the history department, Professor George W. Wilson of the chemistry department, and Professor Irving Chaykin of the accounting department.

Regional Committee Sets First Meeting

The first organizational meeting of the Field of Latin American Studies will be held Saturday morning at 10 in the Faculty Council Room, it was announced by Harold Kellar, provisional chairman of the committee.

At the meeting, the group will organize a permanent administrative office to carry out the resolutions adopted at a 1952 round-table meeting.

Among the proposed projects is a central Latin American scholarship program, an organization of Latin American area educators in all educational fields, a plan for the exchange of professors, and a study of the relationships of commerce to education.

According to Professor Kellar, the Committee has proposed a plan for the exchange of professors between the United States and Latin America as part of their program to improve and implement education on this hemisphere. The group will work in cooperation with the Pan-American Union Organization of American States.

The program is the result of the round-table conference held last year under the joint sponsorship of the Department of Latin American, the Pan-American Union and the Columbia University School of General Studies.

Corps Leader Set to Leave

Colonel Malcolm R. Kammerer, head of the military science department and the Reserve Officers Training Corps at City College, will leave school at the end of the semester for reassignment, after having served here for more than three years.

Though a new ROTC head has not yet been appointed, Colonel Kammerer explained that his successor will be at least a Colonel, owing to the size of the unit here. City College's 1000-man Corps is the largest voluntary unit in the country.

Colonel Kammerer's successor will arrive shortly after the end of the semester. He is the enlisted man to whom I was introduced to his duties by the department head, after the new corps officer will have for his new station.

Colonel Kammerer expects to be assigned to overseas duty, since he has served in Asia and Europe and is an experienced staff officer. During the Second World War, he was Ordnance Officer, James A. Van Fleet's, operating staff in Greece and a staff officer with the Fifth Army.

After graduating from the United States Military Academy in 1936 with a bachelor of science degree, Colonel Kammerer served with the U.S. Infantry. He returned to the Academy in 1932 to teach in the romance languages department.

The Reserve Officers Training Corps is comprised of students from the Uptown and Downtown branches. All classes are held at the Uptown Center.

It seems to be getting monotonous, but Student Council takes pride in doing it every term. In planning, it proceeds with enthusiasm. A new theme is derived from the previous year's activity, but the foundation is always the same: to derive some sort of joy in perpetually adding new problems or themes to the student's daily routine. Following the theme in the discussions and meetings of the Council, the two principles are evident: the situation in which the Disciplinary Committee has to deal with rules that could not be interpreted as to punishment, and the controversy surrounding the inculcating of an intelligent level by the Student Council. A special meeting of the Council was held to explain the situation to all those present. The question of punishment is not an easy one, but if we have to consider the possibility of certain individuals. Instead of having the usual punishment, perhaps we should set up new houses if necessary, but give a lot of thought to the situation in order to formulate a solution.

Council has also taken the bailies out of the picture. A new meeting is being planned, with the idea of making the bailies a part of the student council. As for the student council, they have been doing some noteworthy accomplish-

The thing we must do is to instill the idea of democracy in the students, which appeared in the election rules. The original idea was to have a set of debates scheduled for the meeting, and to have the students vote on their favorite candidate. After this, the council would have to make some suggestions on how to improve the current situation. We must again iterate our foremost concern: to allow the students the opportunity to vote. We have provided with such a method that it will not serve a purpose. Nevertheless, it could be improved, and we recommend that the maximum number of students to vote in the future.

To increase interest in the student council, we have made the election more formal, which was made earlier in the term.

The election committee for the school election that takes place in April is constituted by the Student Council.

Roller Skating Begins Today

In Hansen Hall

Once upon a time in the Land of the Social Sciences, there was a group of students who were passionate about roller skating. They were so passionate that they decided to create their own roller skating rink right in the heart of their campus, Hansen Hall.

The rink was a small but perfectly circular space, surrounded by the weight of academic life. The students had worked hard to make it a reality, and it was a symbol of their determination and creativity. They had overcome the challenges of finding space and funding, and now it was a place where they could come together and have fun.

The roller skating rink was open to all students, regardless of their skill level. The students were excited to share their passion with others and to see the joy it brought to the campus.

As the sun set on that beautiful day, the students gathered around the rink, cheering and clapping in anticipation of the first skate. They were ready to let loose and enjoy the simple pleasure of roller skating together.

Finally, the moment arrived. The music started, and the students took to the rink, their skates gliding smoothly across the floor. It was a moment of pure joy and freedom, a respite from the stresses of daily life.

As the night wore on, the students continued to skate, their spirits lifted by the camaraderie and the atmosphere of the rink. They skated until the lights began to dim, and the students reluctantly called it a night.

The roller skating rink was a treasured space for the students of that time, a place where they could come together and share the simple pleasure of roller skating. It was a symbol of their determination and creativity, and it continues to be a cherished memory for those who were a part of it.

Nine Swamps Redmen In Conference Opener

By Herb Nager

Paced by Warren Neuberger's two hit pitching, Coach Sol Mishkin's City College baseball squad pulled the major surprise of the still young season when they soundly trounced the St. John's Redmen, 9-1, Saturday at Dexter Park. In its season's opener, City tied Army, 4-4, in a tilt called at the end of nine innings because of darkness. Neuberger, wielding a fine assortment of pitches as he completely baffled the defending champion St. John's nine. The tail righthander fanned eight of the Johnnies and did not yield a base hit through the sixth inning, when the Redmen managed to score their lone run. Dick Eichhorn, the Brooklyn hurler, was not nearly as sharp as his Lavander adversary, but Mike Schultz and George Horowitz were quick to take advantage. Eichhorn walked the first three batters of the game. Co-captain Dick Dickstein, Bruce Maimuth and Ted Solomon, The St. John's ace temporarily found his control as he fanned Ozzie Barsez, but left fielder Paul Negri, dashing triple to right center that chased all three runners home. The Redmen picked up some additional insurance in the second frame when Schwartz drove in a run with an opposite fielder to left field.

CCNY Two-Hits Redmen

The Beaver netmen under their new mentor Dr. Harry Karl, will inaugurate their intracollegiate campaign against Manhattan Friday, at the Jaspers court. City's new coach appeared rather pessimistic as he indicated that he will be satisfied if his charges can cop four or five of the nine scheduled matches.

Last season, the Manhattan netmen routed the Lavender, winning seven of the nine contests. Mainstays on the Beaver team are the squad's four-captains, Nick Miroshnik, and Mill New. Coach Karl is also counting on lettermen Clifford Huffman and and Harold Reikes to perform in yeoman fashion.

IMB Basketball Tournament Enters Quarter-Final Round

Producing some of the most exciting basketball of the IMB tourney, four quintets advanced to the quarter-finals by scoring second-round victories Thursday, March 26, in Hansen Hall.

Paul Singer's three points in a one-minute overtime enabled the city Jrs. to nip the Flamingo Pals, 49-48, to win the Hansen final. The Flamingo Park five had fought back from an eight point deficit to lead by two at the end of regulation time.

In another spirited fray, Post 91B topped a highly-regarded Wilson Jrs. squad, 24-19. George Bortt sparkled the victors, tallying twelve markers.

Trackmen to Open; Face Adelphi, Iona

Taking stock of his current track squad, Coach Harold Anson Bruce was moved to remark, "This is the weakest team that I have had at City College." The Beavers open the campaign Saturday when they take on a powerful Adelphi squad and Iona in a conference meet in Lewisohn Stadium.

The trackmen were originally slated to make their appearance in Queens College, but the Knights cancelled the meet. This was a blow to the Lavander inasmuch as they had hoped to tune up against the relatively weak Flusher school for the more formidable Adelphi forces.

The Beavers have been hit hard by the departure of star performer Herb Isaacson, who recently signed with an Eastern pro team. However, they have also lost little material remaining, that I expect Adelphi to score over 100 points." Bruce flatly asserted.

"We have lost Charlie Fields," continued the City coach, "a man who could be counted upon to score 15 points per meet. In addition, we have lost most of the cross-country performers who performed for the track team.

Among the star participants who will not perform for the team this season are Joe Grevious, Bob Holman, Jeff Stent, Junior low hurdles champion, and 340 yards man, who could always be counted on for a few points.

Nine Faces Brooklyn Today

City College will renew its torrid rivalry with Brooklyn today when Coach Sol Mishkin's Redmen face the Kingsmen at 3 at the Brooklyn College field in a metropolitan conference contest.

Tomorrow the Lavender travels to Princeton to engage a strong team this season, in a game that annually provides many thrills.

To the Lavender, the Beavers have a decided edge over their met rivals since they are a more experienced team that split two decisions with the Maroon last year.

However, the Kingsmen led the league in batting last year. Brooklyn could face no better than a talented veteran, who led the league in batting last year. Brooklyn could face no better than a talented veteran.

The Kingsmen's poor finish was caused mainly by weak pitching and below par fielding. In its seven games, the team lost five and fielding percentage in the league, committing 36 errors in twelve games.

Brooklyn's top operative is Herb Isaacson, who won a spot on the Metropolitan conference team last season as a utility man. Isaacson doubles as a pitcher and outfielder, the former being an outstanding veteran first baseman George Knight who finished second in the hitting race with a .344 average.

Brooklyn's title chances received a big boost when Adelphi and Horowitz, the team's leading hitter, was ruled ineligible. Nevertheless, Maroon coach Tom Harrington feels that he can field a strong squad, since he has thirteen lettermen returning. Naturally, a great deal will depend upon how well the pitching holds up.

The Crucial dual with the Beavers staged one of their best rallies of the season, bowing 6-4. Trailing 6-0, Brooklyn staged a big rally in the fifth to tie the game 6-6, before bowing in the ninth inning. Brooklyn's key hit was a three-run homer by Frank Morrisey to give the Beavers a 10-9 win.
