The City Planning Inspector presented last week a recommendation to the Board of Estimate for budgetary allocations totaling $7,092,500 for major building and repair projects. Included in the recommendation is the sum of $400,000 for construction of the electrical power at the Baruch School of Business and Public Administration—City College of New York.

Students May Be Queried About College Subversives

President Buel G. Gallagher expressed the belief that it would be "desirable" for the Board of Higher Education to investigate whether students who might have information on subversives—employed in the academic community—would be willing to serve on the committee to the National Student Congress held this past summer.

In appointing the Bill to Council, NSA delegate Robert Schenber said, "students have certain inalienable rights and certain incumbent responsibilities." The Executive Committee of Council moved "to accept in principle the NSA Bill of Rights and Responsibilities." A substitute motion was introduced by representative Howie Cohen, "to adopt the NSA Bill of Rights and Responsibilities." Cohen felt that Council should present a carefully worded document to the faculty for their consideration. The Executive Committee was of the opinion that the motion in principle would be just as satisfactory, and would involve spending long periods of time arguing about the wording. Cohen's motion was on the floor when Gene Frank moved to postpone the discussion until next week due to a four-hour lunch.

Council unanimously passed a motion which endorsed the formation of a National Association of College Subversives.

Law Requires ROTC Cadet's Loyalty Oaths

Under the provisions of a recently enacted Federal law, the Defense Department has launched an intensive program to require the nation's ROTC students to sign a compulsory loyalty oath.

The "oath legislation" took the form of a rider attached to a recent Defense Department Appropriations Bill. It requires all present and future ROTC students to sign a document certifying that the student is not now, and has never been, a member of any of the organizations classified "subversive" by the attorney general.

In the past, only advanced students were required to sign such certificates but these did not list the specific organizations whose loyalty oaths were to be required. The new loyalty oath forms 40.

At City College, more than half of the 900 student veterans have already signed the new oath, while none have refused to do so. However, at other schools, there have been instances of refusal to sign the document.

Colonel Paul Hamilton of City College ROTC, expects no difficulty in securing signatures from the remaining students. Should a student refuse to sign, he would be dropped from ROTC training. If he had belonged to any of the listed organizations, the Colonel would look into the matter and decide whether the student was fit for military service.

"If he is already accepted to one of these organizations," Colonel Hamilton declared, "why, we just don't want him in ROTC."

Most students took the new law in stride. A few agreed with the principle of the oath; one refused to call it a "fair" way of determining military fitness.

What makes a Lucky taste better?

IT'S TOASTED

to taste better!

Doubtless, you've guessed that this Drole at the right is for those who enjoy Lucky and toast it while waiting in ambush. Lots of other two-cigar cowboys have guessed that Lucky tastes better. Students, the examples, prefer Lucky half full and a straight ticket. They taste better because Lucky Stripes is the symbol of fine tobacco... and "It's Toasted" in taste. "It's Toasted"—the famous Lucky's toast—can come on your Lucky's light, mild, good-lasting tobacco to make it taste even better. Lucky taste just a better-tasting ciga... Lucky Stripes.

Lavender Soccermen Vanquish Aggies, 4-2

By Marv Glassberg

With All-American John Koutsantanou and co-captain Gus Naclerio providing the scoring punch, the City College soccer team gained its second straight victory as it swamped a game Long Island Aggie squad, 4-2, Saturday afternoon at Lewishohn Stadium. The Beav­er boosters tailied three goals in the initial quarter and coasted the remainder of the way.

Saturday, the Lavender faces one of its sternest tests of the young season when Kings Point invades Lewishohn Stadium.

City carried the attack to the Aggies at the outset, nothing a marker at 3:28 when Naclerio raced downfield with the ball and set up Koutsantanou for a head shot. The victors controlled the ball for the ensuing six minutes, during which time they exhibited some fine passing, but were unable to score.

Hockey, 1-0; Naclerio sent a blazing shot at the upper right-hand corner of the goal. The Aggie left fullback, Smith, leaped high and deflected the shot over the bar. The goal was thus awarded a penalty shot which he converted.

Supporters of Bob Hayum, Ed Trunk and fine goal tending by Wally Neisen propelled the Farmingdale club from scoring in the first period.

At 15:48, Naclerio passed the ball to Koutsantanou who charged up against Aggie goalie Walt Stenecki, to give the forces of Coach Harry Karlin a 1-0 advantage.

Morris Hocherman received a pass from Koutsantanou at 11:10 of the second quarter and fired it into the goal with his head to extend the Lavender lead to 2-0. Karlin then started to empty the bench, and the Aggies made their bid to make the score respectable.

Tickets Still Available For West Point Jaunt

Gather your belts, sirens and bugles; for the 15 Club, the Baruch School's athletic rooters organization, is making preparation for its trek to West Point.

On November 14, the City's Metropolitan champion soccer team will oppose West Point. As usual, the true City spirit will be on display as the 4ders, will demonstrate some of their wildest cheers. Herb Nager, the president confidently said, "Not only will we beat the Cadets, we will make this a day they will never forget. The Allegaros will reign supreme over the plains of West Point."

The opposing armies in this case, are the freshman and sophomore classes, the field of battle is Hansen Hall and the event is the Fresh-soph battles set for tomorrow.

One week from tomorrow, the Intramural Board will stage its semi-annual basketball tournament. Entries for the tourney may be submitted in the IMB office.

Freshmen, Sophs Ready for Battles

The lines are drawn and the opening armies are drawn upon the field of battle.

"Jim Spencer was the next big thing to cross the finish line, taking sixth place. The City scoring was closed out by Dave Nourok and Jim Bruney, who finished eighth and ninth respectively.

Coach Harold Amsrud was not displeased with his team's showing. "They just had the better team," the City mentor said. "We have no alibis."

Saturday the Beavers will return to their familiar Van Courtland Park course, where they take on a good Hunter College squad.
