Brigadier General David Sarnoff, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of the Radio Corporation of America, will deliver an address at the Baruch School Monday, November 1.

"By the end of the next century," General Sarnoff will speak on "Opportunities in the Electronic Age" at 10:40 a.m., as the second speaker in the Bernard M. Baruch Distinguished Lecture Series.

Throughout his career General Sarnoff has possessed foresight as a pioneering spirit. In 1916 he established the first radio department at City College, which in 1926 became the Department of Commerce and Industry.

Working as Commercial Manager of the Marconi Company in Japan, General Sarnoff said, "The economic future of the College seems to be one of decreased enrollment and decreased subsidies."

The hygiene department has filed an appeal with the State commissioner of Education against teachers who have refused to carry out the duties of their department.

"If one has any knowledge of subversion, they should come forward to testify," General Sarnoff said.

Mrs. Sema Gorkin, a student of the Board of Higher Education, was recently called before the BHE's unit investigating subversion in the municipal colleges. She received a letter from the commissioner on September 24 asking her to call and arrange for an interview. At this time she said that she did not know why she was called, but if it was to give student opinions on the loyalty probe, she would not answer them.

Mr. Sarnoff, an immigrant from Russia at the age of nine, General Sarnoff received his education in the New York City public schools; he made wireless history when, the operator aboard the S.S. "Czar" transmitted the first Morse code signals between doctor and patient.

Why a Fee Increase?

"The economic future of the College seems to be one of decreased enrollment and increasing costs," said Harriet Guber, SC president, as she urged students to sign petitions in favor of a $1 activities fee increase.

The decrease in enrollment is expected when Queens and Brooklyn Colleges institute their proposed courses of study in accounting.

The petitions are not an official action of the college, but are being circulated by a group of individual students.

In order that it be put into effect for the coming academic year, a request for the increase must reach President Buehl G. Gallagher by December 17 so that the proposal may be placed before the Board of Higher Education at its meeting December 21.

A referendum on the fee proposal will be held on December 22.

The Student Council budget has decreased steadily in recent years, while the cost of living has increased," said Clement M. Thompson, dean of students. "There is not enough money available to cover the needs of the extracurricular programs.

Holman Hits NCAA; Demands Retraction

City College basketball coach Nat Holman yesterday demanded an immediate apology from Albert B. Moore, president of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Holman, who was fined $500 and placed on probation by the NCAA, said that City College should be reinstated in the Division I basketball ranks and that the fine should be reduced.

The NCAA suspended Holman for failing to cooperate with its investigation of the basketball program.

Holman charged that Moore made a "libelous statement" in specifying the charges that resulted in the College being placed on probation by the NCAA.

"Holman was rather disturbed over the wording of one of the infractions cited by the NCAA. The charges stated that City College players were urged to accept money to make a South American trip."

"How many Julius Rosenbergs does this College have to have before it sees the light?" -- President Buehl G. Gallagher at a press conference held Wednesday.

Want to Work For Candidate? Here's a Way

The byline "HARRIMAN" has been extensively misspelled in recent years, particularly on the front page of The Ticker and in The Daily News. However, the name has been spelled correctly in a number of other venues, such as the New York Times and The New York Post. The name, which is a common one, is often confused with names like "Harriman," "Harrington," and " Harmain.

The budget of the Democratic Party in the 1954 election campaign is looking at $3 billion, but a majority of this will be spent on roads, a good part if not all, on jobs for the long term. It's an investment of the future, not a short-term spending. The President's Committee on College Affairs has reported on the data of the All College Conference of 1953, which shows that many students were out of work and that many more were earning less than the minimum wages of $1.25 per hour.

In order to help students who are seeking work, The Ticker has organized a job fair. As part of the fair, a number of booths will be set up to provide information on available positions and to help students find jobs. The job fair will be held on the ninth floor of the Student Union, New York University, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The fair will feature representatives from various organizations and industries, including the Department of Labor, the National Association of Manufacturing, and the National Federation of Business Women. They will be available to answer questions and provide information about job opportunities.

In addition to the job fair, The Ticker will also be hosting a seminar on job searching. The seminar will be held in the Ballroom of the Student Union, New York University, from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m. It will cover topics such as resume building, interviewing techniques, and networking.

The seminar is open to all students and will be free of charge. Seating is limited, so it is recommended that students register in advance.

To register for the seminar or to learn more about the job fair, please visit The Ticker's website or contact us at studentorg@nyu.edu.
Finletter Foresees Democratic Victory

Mr. Thomas E. Finletter, chairman of Citizens for Al

the upcoming election. He reasoned that the busi party has the backing of labor and the South. He declared that the Republicans have not been able to present a strong candidate, and that the Demo

Ad Fraternity Starts Project

Alpino Delta Sigma, the new fraternity on the City College campus, is currently preparing a pro

The project will involve the sale of tickets for a

We realize that the Pan American Society is part of the extra-curricular pro gram at the College. However, we believe that the Society should be removed from the group of orga nizations that are employed by the College. We believe that the Pan American Society should be operated by the College and not by the students.

Certainly, it is not for the faculty mem bers to make this decision, but it is for the studen ents to vote on whether or not to continue this pro gram. The students have the right to make this de cision, and we believe that they should be given the opportunity to do so.

Baruch School students have been active in the polling of the students, and we believe that the students are interested in this program. We hope that they will vote to continue it.

In addition to the chessplayer, there is a group known as faculty. He has been a professor at the College for many years and is highly respected by the students.

The underground or submarine method, though it increases the difficulty of the game, is extremely popular.

continue this program, and that they will give it the support that it deserves.

Interested in meeting an accomplished artist? Then go to the game room. The game room is the native habitat of that rare animal—the chess player. Here he plays his favorite game, the game of kings. He is a skilled player, and he joins others in the room for a friendly match.

There are several different types of chess games available to the one in which you are interested. There is rapid play, in which the matches are made inside of ten seconds. There is also slow play, in which the matches are played over a longer period of time. There is also a game of study, in which players study the moves of their opponents and try to predict their decisions.

In addition to the chess players, there are people who enjoy playing cards.
They often play games like bridge and poker.

This is a good place to meet new people, and to enjoy a good game of chess. It is a relaxing way to spend an afternoon, and it is a great way to make new friends.

Baruchians Spellbound By Hypnosis Program

If you think you know everything there is to know about hypnosis, you should have heard of the program at which Professor Baldini lectured recently. A few hypnoses were demonstrated, and the audience was thoroughly spellbound.

Introductions were made by Norman Stander, president of the group, who explained the purpose of the evening. Everyone was then invited to participate in the demonstrations. Everyone was then given a chance to hypnotize the professor under the eyes of the audience. Everyone was thoroughly impressed by the demonstration, and the audience was spellbound.

Flashbacks

It was a cold winter evening in 1954, and the atmosphere was electric. The fans were cheering as the City College Basketball team took the court. The game was against the University of Pennsylvania, and the stakes were high. The City College team was in second place in the conference, and a win would secure a place in the playoffs. The team was led by legendary coach Alphonso "Red" Weaver, and the players were hungry for a victory.

The game started with an intense back-and-forth between the two teams. The City College team, led by star player Bob "Easy" Walker, was able to gain an early lead, but the Pennsylvania team was not willing to give up. The game was tied at the end of the first half, and the crowd was on their feet, cheering for their favorite team.

In the second half, the game turned in favor of City College. The team was able to rally and score several key baskets, putting them ahead for good. The Victory was sweet, and the team was elated. The fans were euphoric, and the atmosphere was one of joy and celebration. It was a night that would be remembered for years to come.

The team's victory against Pennsylvania was a turning point in the season. It boosted the team's morale and set them on a path to success. The team went on to win several more games and secured a spot in the playoffs. The championship game was against the University of Illinois, and the City College team was ready for the challenge. The game was intense, but the team was able to pull through and secure the championship.

The team's victory was a testament to their hard work and dedication. They had trained year-round, and their efforts had paid off. The team's victory was a victory for the City College community, and it was a victory for the sport of basketball. It was a night that would be remembered for years to come.
Championship Bid Barred to Cagers

In a surprise move last week, the executive council of the National Collegiate Athletic Association voted to bar the team from its post-season play in 1955. This was the initial action resulting from the debarmment of CCNY by any NCAA post-season hoop play in 1955. The decision resulted from the NCAA's suspension of the team due to the fact that some players, college authorities knew of, were paid for the participation in summer hotel basketball meetings and were allowed to remain eligible to play for the CCNY basketball team.

The council, however, commended the College for the way it handled the matter and wish to thank it for its commendation.

When these malpractices were inflamed, it mended its athletic policy and rules for its commendation.

Lavender Booters Blank Hunter, 4-0

"No one can beat City, not even highly rated Temple." That was the opinion voiced by many fans who saw CCNY blaze in three goals in the final quarter, after nursing a 1-0 lead throughout most of the game, to conquer Hunter, 4-0, Saturday afternoon on the losers' field. John Koutsantanou and Wolfgang Wirtz scored two goals each to extend the City winning streak to four.

Koutsantanou's goals enabled him to tie the College scoring record of 17, set by Tommy Holm during his three-year varsity career. Kouts now has a total of seven goals this season, only two short of the Beavers' season record.

The Beavers took an early advantage in the first stanza when West tallied a pass from Martin Hochman at the 8:15 mark. The Lavender then had a Rising Star:

New Goalie Shows Promise

Last year, when Harold "Punchy" Friedel was the star goalie of the Beaver soccer team, completed his playing days, some believed that City's chances of coping with another conference crown would go quite remote, since a top-flight goalie is a prime requisite.

But out of complete obscurity came Wally Meisen, who appeared more with very limited soccer experience, to fill "Punchy's" shoes. To date, Meisen has shown himself well able to stand the opposition to score a meager two goals with the Brucemen. Meisen attained his lone shutout Saturday, when City whitewashed Hunter, 4-0.

"The 6'3" netminder, through his outstanding play, has drawn very high praise from his coach and teammates. Dr. Harry Karlin, in his initial year as soccer tutor, has been very impressed with Meisen. He declared that "Wally has improved very fast. I was very glad to see him get that shutout; he deserves it."

Co-captain Ed Trunk, the backbone of the Beaver defense, feels that "Meisen is taking "Punchy" place very nicely. He's as good as "Hal," and he's got a tremendous height advantage."

Rudy Gedanke, another backfield ace, can't get over the strides Meisen has taken. "You'd never believe that this was his first season; in the nets; he looks like such an experienced goalie."

The blond-haired, blue-eyed Meisen attended Stuyvesant High School, where he played basketball. He knows the international sport when he visited Germany in 1950. We hope for him to be a leader next summer, and works as a bandleader during the semester.

Meisen attributes his fine play to the support of his teammates, and to the other ten players, who viewed that "the team is very fast, and has lots of scoring power."

The husky Beaver goalie leads the defensive unit, which, in opinion, is very easy to work with."

Though Meisen is eagerly looking forward to the Queens and Army matches, and would like to be the team invited to a post-season tournament.
