Board Denied Sales Control

By Steve Mann

Inter-Club Board’s attempt to enlarge its jurisdiction to include control over the sale and distribution of printed material within the School was denied by Student Council. Today to clarify its November 1952 ruling prohibiting organizations from "outside advertising".

According to the revision, chartered groups will be permitted to advertise their events in the newspapers of all municipal colleges and upon approval of the Department of Student Life may also gain permission to insert advertisements in other college papers.

It is strictly forbidden to advertise the functions of any group chartered to any of the metropolitan papers.

FCSA also reiterated its approval of the Law Society. Since the Society had not operated for a period of time exceeding two semesters, it was required to resubmit its charter for the Committee's approval.

A plan to allow temporary organizations of a political nature to be recognized was brought before the Committee and discussed, but action on the proposal was postponed.

Both discussion and action on the Student Bill of Rights and Responsibilities were deferred by FCISA because of time limitations.

Tickets for Theatron's December 7-9 production of "Finian's Rainbow" are now on sale at the ninth floor table. The minister will be in PET, the prices of tickets varying with the seat location. Orchestra seats are priced at $1.50, mezzanine seats at $1.30 and balcony seats at $1.15.

Organizations which have blocks of tickets on reserve must purchase these seats before November 19 after which date they will be sold on open sale.

Shawn to Appear At Senior Prom

Dick Shawn, a popular new television comedian, will appear at the Senior Prom, Thanksgiving Eve, November 24, in the College Auditorium. Tickets for the ball and the Colonnade Room of the Essex House are at $16 for class card holders and $18.50 for non-card holders.

ICB chairman Jerry Berko said it would be necessary to grant these powers if ICB was to continue to function as an effective group, for only by controlling the distribution of printed material can ICB punish violators of publicity and attendance regulations.

Representative Larry Levine replied, "This motion gives ICB power to bar publications for minor infringements of rules and regulations, and is an invasion of freedom of the press. It is also prejudicial towards those publications distributed in the classrooms."

An amendment calling for approval unanimously by Council was defeated 5-4-6.

At 11 o'clock a motion by Bob Card to reconsider the defeated amendment was voted down.

The Insignium Committee made the following motion: "That the Insignium chairman, the president of Student Council and the chairman of ICB nominate all those who shall serve as winners of the senator award this semester." This motion was defeated 12-7-4.

CGSO Varieties Set For Saturday Night

Co-Ed Capers, the City College Service Organization fundraising show will be presented Saturday night in the Cousens Auditorium. The show will feature a fifteen-piece orchestra and a mystery guest star.

Tickets for the event are priced at $1.25 for orchestra, $1.00 for balcony seats and may be obtained at the ninth floor booth. The show is of the variety type and will star members of both CGSO and Theatron. Proceeds of the venture will be used to finance the group's trips to military camps and hospitals and to provide Christmas parties for hospitalized veterans.

Last year's version of Co-Ed Capers starred TV star Pat Carroll.

Recalling the work done by CGSO, Ring, a book of a trip made to the Psycho ward of a veteran's hospital in the Bronx.

As the performers were doing their acts, one of the patients who had been a drummer before enlisting served as guide. He could play the drums. It was only after the show was over and the vet had banded out some "solid" objects to the performers that he was able to demonstrate his ability.

Baron was the first time that the mentally ill patient had come out of his shell. It was something the doctors couldn't accomplish.

Red Cross aid attending a student who donated blood in the Drive last semester.

Setting a goal of 500 pints of blood, the semi-annual Blood Bank Drive has been scheduled for Friday, December 7, from 9:30-3:30. Applications are available at the sixth floor booth from any member of Student Council or Blood Bank Committee.

Last semester, in the light of the challenge to the School by four branches of the City College, it was ranked first among the city's colleges, followed by NYU with 400 pints.

The blood bank provides both students and faculty members and the administrative staff with as much information as they may need without incurring any expense. If purchased outside, blood costs $35 a pint. Since only people who have had an advantage of this program, the blood must be replenished. The re-stocking of giving blood is completely palliative and leaves no ill effects.

Student Council awards two scrolls each semester, one to the organization responsible for the greatest amount of blood donated, and the other to the group with the largest percentage of members donating.

October 7 was selected as "Blood Bank Day" because of the memorable bombing of Pearl Harbor thirteen years ago. It was felt that the students, especially on this date, would be willing to donate a pint of blood not only because they have access to the supply, but also because they would be aiding our nation.

The Student Council blood bank program was initiated four years ago. Committee chairman Florence Neuman and Gus Tashoff have expressed hope for even larger donations this semester than in the past.

The versatile Mr. Shawn, who sings and dances in addition to telling jokes, may best be referred to as a "barber shop quartet". With an outfit of four boys, the group can best be described as a "pop beat" and their repertoire includes Tony Martin and the Andrews sisters.

Booters Blast Maritime, 9-0

By Marv Glassberg

Harry Karlin's wrecking crew was at work again Saturday at Lewishon Stadium, and, when the afternoon was up, Maritime would have been crushed, 9-0, and buried under shattered Lavender scoring records.

City, unbeaten in seven games, and maintaining a five-goal-a-game average, will now face its two sternest tests when it encounters West Point on Thursday and Brooklyn, with a 5-1 Met record, on Saturday. Both games will be held at the opponents' fields.

Johannes Costantinou, who had tied the individual season's mark Wednesday, in City's 4-2 triumph over Stevens Tech, sent the ball into the corner line to garner thirteen goals with two contests still remaining.

Morris Hocherman, who registered the other three points to defeat the Hobokenites in the non-conference game, also starred in this rout by tallying twice.

The Beavers, whose nine goals in one of the greatest performances in the history of the country, had been crushed, 9-0, and buried under shattered scoring records.

Lavender Harriers Clip Queens, 17-42, For Third Conquest

By Steve Aisenberg

A strong CCNY cross-country team roped over Queens College by a 17-41 score, Saturday at Van Cortland Park. The Beavers took four of the top five positions, each man breaking the tape under 30:00. Today, they will face Fort Schuyler in a dual meet at Van Cortland.

Bill Kowalski, who has turned in some superb performances for the Beavers during the season, captured individual honors, being elbowed at 29:24. Dick Hurford, Co-captain Dave Nourak and Vincent DeLuca took the next three places for the Beaver harriers, with 29:46, 29:14 and 29:22 respectively.

"This bunching of our first four men," stated Coach Harold Anson Bruce, "shows a marked improvement and is a sign that the squad should do some fine running in its future contests."

Queens College's Bill Krausser, claimed fifth place with 29:44. Teammate Bob Hoffman was right on his heels, crossing the line at 29:51 to be the number six man.

City's Jim Spencer claimed seventh position with 29:59 followed by Jim Bransky, also of CCNY, who finished with 30:07.

The Knights tied up the ninth spot, their runners Shannan and Harris breaking the tape simultaneously at 30:21. Of the remaining five positions, Queens managed to come up with two.
