Club Board Revamps Awards Requirements

The Inter-Club Board has completely revised its method of granting the ICB award. In previous terms, the award was given to the organization which best fulfilled the aims of its charter.

Under the new program, the organization is evaluated on the basis of outstanding achievement. If there is more than one organization meeting the requirements, more awards will be given. However, if there is no organization meeting the requirements, none will be granted that semester.

The winner or winners will be decided by a majority vote of the Board.

The winner this year was Alpha Phi Omega, which won the award, and the recipient of another citation granted by ICB for the best booth at the Activities Fair.

Agency Approves PD Building Plan

By Joan Lee Zalinsky

Plans for the new Police Academy at the Baruch School are progressing swiftly since the project was first taken before the City Planning Committee last August.

One and a half million dollars will be spent for the site, which will take up the remainder of the block between 23rd and 22nd Streets, Lexington and Third Avenues, excluding that portion occupied by the two court houses.

Though no time schedule has been set down, President Buell G. Gallagher estimates that it will take at least two years to get the site, and at least six years before work is completed.

Protests have been filed by the 23rd Street Association, and the plan was approved unanimously on February 28th, entitled "Addition to Requirements." (Continued on Page 3)

College Professionalism Criticized by Gallagher

President Buell G. Gallagher lashed out against commercialism in college sports Monday, saying that only 1,000 leading educators attending the national congress sponsored by the Association for Higher Education, Dr. Gallagher was further charged that "the players are hired by the highest bidder, and play for the money they get."

He called upon the college presidents to stop this "immoral practice."

And he added, "If I wake up any morning and hear that Dr. Gallagher that morning, then I'm a happy man." Dr. Gallagher declared that the only excuse offered for this professionalism is the "immoral practice." He explained, "If you can't make money, then you can't make enough to sustain the college, and the players play for the money they get." (Continued on Page 4)

Fouls Win In Waning Moments

By Herb Nager and Dick Rustin

With the glass roof of the Rose Hill gymnasium strained to the breaking point, NYU defeated CCNY last night, 56-54, in what was perhaps the most exciting game of their 53-year rivalry.

Four foul shots by Co-Captain Dom De Bonis were the deciding factors that enabled NYU to snap a seven game losing streak and hand its coach, Howard Cann, his 400th intercollegiate victory.

With three and a half minutes left in the game, the Beavers' top scorer, Merv Shorr, dropped in two foul shots to tie the score at 52-all.

Then, lightning-like success, City stole the ball and Jimmy Nidds grabbed it back for the Violets. With 41 seconds to go, De Bonis drove for the basket and was fouled by Herb Jacobson. Theexas sank the first shot but missed the second. Jacobson took the rebound and called time out, with the score tied at 52-all, 10 seconds left.

What Price Safety?

Earlier in the week, the lockers used by the cadet staff were broken into and clothing valued in excess of $100 was stolen. Two members of the Security Services force, both members of the Baruch School, were employed at the School. This was unwittingly spotted by the watchmen, but when the watchmen were questioned, the cadets were unable to account for the loss. The administration at the Uptown Center has expressed its concern over this situation and has promised to increase the number of guards on the School grounds. It has been suggested that more guards will be put on the payroll. Any word of the School's current troubles should be kept confidential and not allowed to reach the School grounds.

It would be a shameful thing to have to see the Baruch School fall into the disastrous effects of public disapproval. The School has been the pride of the community and the School staff are working hard to maintain the School's reputation.

City Hoopsters Nipped By NYU In Squeaker

Holman’s 40 years of basketball knowledge were concentrated into those final seconds. He chose to set up Shorr for a goal, but Merv missed a lay-up shot with 18 seconds left. Two jump balls followed within the next four seconds, both teams clawed wildly for the ball.

NYU won the second jump and went into a fast break. De Bonis then was fouled twice and made three of four charity shots to clinch NYU’s seventh win of the year. Lou Berson’s basket at the buzzer made it closer.

The game was tense from the beginning. Holman did not start Shorr, the greatest offensive gun in City’s history. The Lavender captain was nursing a leg injury suffered in Saturday’s Braudiers. As the day went ahead, NYU furged two successive side sets by Ed Peters after losing their first two matches to Columbia and Yale.

The Violets started to drive at 18:00 when Scappinato’s set put them to within one point of the leaders. A minute later, they went ahead on Art Tierney’s two field goals. Scappinato scored field goals.

Within a minute, NYU forged back ahead, 21-20, and Nidds and Scappinato scored field goals.

The Violets opened the second half with a rush. Their sharp passing shook Tierney loose for a goal; but DeBonis’ defensive game threatened to keep him out of this contest altogether.

Shorr was shooting flat-footed, unable to jump on his injured left leg.

Then Shorr’s lay-up and two fouls kept the Beavers close up until they could go off on a 7-1 run.

Within a minute, NYU forged back ahead, 21-20, and Nidds and Scappinato scored field goals.
