Three Candidates Running Alone
In Executive Elections Tomorrow:
Most Council Positions Uncontested

With Student Council elections set for tomorrow, recent developments have narrowed contested races for school-wide office to three positions. Jerry Bavinitzky, who was a candidate for SC corresponding secretary, was declared ineligible to run because of his academic standing. Paul Wallach is now the unopposed candidate for that office.

Elections for SC vice-president and treasurer, and National Student Association delegates are contested, while aspirants for president and recording secretary of Council are unopposed. Steve Mann, SC rep, and Doris Rabbiner, SC recording secretary, are vice-presidential hopefuls. The treasurer's seat is sought by Bob Cooperman, Inter-Club Board representative, and Wally Nathan, Ticker news editor. In the only other school-wide contested election, Jerry Greenberg, Ticker editor, is favored to win.

The Inter-Club Board elected Morton Lazarus to its executive board along with Lazarus were Student Association delegates are uncontested. Steve Raynitzky, who was a candidate for SC corresponding secretary, was declared ineligible to run because of his academic standing. Paul Wallach is now the unopposed candidate for that office.

President of Student Council

A person serves a democratic function of Student Council. It is true that most of the positions thus gained will look poorly in the years to come. However, they will assist students in their career and social

I am asking for your votes and support to help me become the President of Student Council.

Nine Splits Two Loop Tilts; Galletta Gains Fifth Triumph

By Steve Mann

City College held on to its third place notch in the Metropolitan Baseball Conference during the past week as the Beavers split two loop games. They routed Brooklyn on Saturday, 10-1, on the Kingmen's field after bowing to Manhattan College, 8-5, in 11 innings on Friday. In addition, City won a non-loop contest, nipping Queens College, 2-1, on May 9 at Al Bernardo Field.

In defeating Brooklyn, Joe Galletta pitched another strong game for the Lavender. His last outing was a 13-inning shutout against Wagner. Fourth of July Rick Far-kouh homered for Brooklyn in the sixth, the burly right-hander had a string of 25 scoreless innings. Gal­letta's record is now 5-1.

The Beavers opened the scoring in the third, against righthander Bill Anderson, when Mike Kucklinca singled and Dom Tenerelli doubled. Kucklinca going to third, Eddie Lubits' long fly scored one run and a Kingman wild throw let the other.

The Lavender added three more in the sixth to break the game wide open. Johnny Ryan was hit by a pitch and Al Wolfman singled him to second. Anderson then threw away another Navinovich's bunt for one run and Galletta's single scored another. Kucklinica's single made it 9-6. The Beavers went on to win 16-2, 11-1 over Queens.

In all, CCNY smashed 16 hits, its best batting attack of the year. Co-Captains Kucklinca and Jimmy Cohen collected three safeties apiece, while first-baseman Ryan batted in three runs. The errant Brooklyn fielders kicked in with an error. In the two games with City, the Brooks committed 12 miscues.

The Manhattan game was a different story entirely. The Jaspers were figured to be a easy mark, having won only one of eight conference outings. In fact, Manhattan hit an early 4-0 lead, managed to tie at 5-5 in the ninth, only to have pitcher Leo Benardo yield three tall­ies in the eleventh.

Confusion

In what resembled at times a wrestling match, track meet, football and basketball contest and very infrequently a basketball game, the faculty defeated the students, 46-40, Thursday in Han­sen Hall.

CCNY Slay Dragons
In Lacrosse by 12-6

In a lacrosse game that was unnecessarily tough, but at times magnificently played, City College trounced Drexel Tech in Philadelphia, Pa., 12-6, at Lewisohn Stadium Saturday afternoon.

In the closing moments of the first half, when City poured in four goals within four and a half minutes to take a 7-2 lead over the Dragons, the Beavers displayed one of the finest passing exhibitions possible. They moved the ball with dexterity, setting up scoring plays for Co-Captain Milt Perlow, Fred Han­naham, Lenny Fagen and Merrit Nessin.

However, the third period resembed a free-for-all. What with both teams swinging their sticks viciously and body-checking with a vengeance. Drexel first to realize that the game might be won when it played correctly. Thus, the Dragons matched CCNY's two goals in the rugged third frame and drove home another pair during the first two minutes of the final period, cutting the Beavers' lead to 9-6. City finally caught on to the idea and proceeded to put the game away. Perlow was on the scoring end of a Hannaham-Ralph Kelley fast break at 6:59. The goal was Perlow's fourth of the game. Fagen, who turned in an exceptional performance, powder­ed home his third marker at 12:23. Johnny Pirro ended the scoring minute later.

Sports Final

I think it's a combination of the people I've met, the genuine satisfaction of seeing my work in print and the hours of sleep I've lost, that have impressed me most during the past five terms of writing sports for THE TICKER.

Among the people have been coaches of practically all the ath­letic teams here at City. Nat Holman, Jack Garfinkle, Dave Polansky and George Wolfe, basketball; Edward Lucia, fencing; Les Michlin and John La Place; baseball; Leon Miller, La­crosse; Harold Bruce, track; Joe Sapos, wrestling and Yusi­tin Siritus, whom I regret hav­ing bumped into at the recent Faculty-Student basketball game. The man's built like a mountain, and every single one of these gentlemen of sport has proven helpful and cooperative in THE TICKER's quest for sports stories through the years, as has been Dr. Hyman Krakower, chairman of City's Hygiene Depart­ment. I am positive that our mentors are among the nicest collection of college professors around.

But it is the students I've met in my association with TICKER who have proven the most interesting.

In past terms there were Stan (Silent) Fink, Steve (American Character) Schatt, Stan (Gammar Chase) Brounstein and perhaps the most interesting of all Sam Zell, Til. What They Think, Percenon, to mention but a few.

The Ticker's quest for sports stories through the years, as good a foun­dation as money, I hope.

Something which also has impressed me the past three terms, is the absence of persons who attempt to join The Ticker's staff each semester. This required a few individuals to more than their share of the work.
