BHE Told to Wait: Shelve Action on Chancellor

The appointment of a Chancellor of the four city colleges was postponed at a meeting of the Board of Higher Education, Wednesday, pending the report of the state and local fiscal commission named to study financial relationships between the city and the State.

The Chancellor would head a Council of the Presidents of the four colleges which would function to determine whether or not to make periodic revisions of the complete system of higher education in New York City. This duty includes deciding the specific functions of each of the four colleges.

Another of the Chancellor's tasks will be the unification and coordination of college business and financial procedures and it is from the Council, that the BHE receives much of its information and recommendations regarding future action. When creating the post, the Board gave the Chancellor the right and duty of exercising leadership in the work of the Council and that work is defined in the by-laws of the Board of Higher Education.

President Gallagher reported last semester that he would not accept the nomination for the position, if offered it. "I would prefer to remain at City College," he stated, adding that he did not believe that one of the four municipal college presidents would be selected for the Chancellorship.

The Unconsidered Perspective:

Levy to Chair Discussions

Dr. William Fawler Levy, former teacher at Baruch College, is not the only person on this campus to have changed his mind in recent weeks. New at the College it would prove to be a catastrophe. World Series

The sports department overlooks the beautiful Baruch College campus, and we are excited to announce the upcoming World Series. We encourage all students and alumni to come out and support our team as they strive for victory. The series promises to be an unforgettable experience, and we can't wait to see who emerges as the champion.

Alumni

The reception to welcome Alumni Relations Committee by Student Council is a vital event that brings together a long neglected segment of student government. Not only do they have the opportunity to gain some "extra-curricular" benefits, they also have an opportunity to meet new people and expand their social network.

The Alumni, having been away from the undergraduate institution, are often overwhelmed by the changes. This week, we honor the tradition of welcoming Alumni back to Baruch. The event is open to all Alumni and is a great opportunity to reconnect with old friends and make new ones.

Soccermen Wallop Pratt, 6-0; Open Defense of Met Crown

You're familiar with half-court basketball, but did you ride the Peach’s defensive wall enroute to a convincing 6-0 victory that left the Beavers in first place in the league?

All-American center Johnny Koutsantanou, forward Morris Hocherman and goalie Wally Meisen were the main reasons why Pratt last year's conference-runner-up and no pushover by any means, was buried in the mud of Lewisohn Stadium without as much as one shot on the offensive side to show for its efforts.

Koutsantanou scored three goals, one on a beautiful head shot. Hocherman set up the goals with his masterful passing and faking while Meisen, his task made easy by City's winning defense, still made some circus saves to wrap up his third shutout of two seasons.

The game was even more one-sided than the score would indicate. The Lavender lost one goal due to a foul and was just a bit off-target on several more of the shots. Hocherman, through the belabored Black and Gold defense, scored a goal early in the opening period, Koutsantanou almost bowled him over with a shot that appeared as if it came off-a rocket launcher. That was the score through 90 minutes.

City's Suspension of Boxing Laid to Lack of Opposition

By Stu Kampelmacher

Due to the inability of Eastern colleges to field boxing teams, City College has been forced to spend opened its own ring squad. This was revealed by Yustiin Sirutis, boxing coach, although he added that the sport will continue under the Intramural program.

Although there has been a sport at the College since the Downtown Center opened its doors in the late twenties, Sirutis has been coaching the squad since 1948. During his time, he has seen many boxers rise from the Intramural program to excel as hard-hitting amateurs and professionals.

In his heyday, the team was able to practice about 15 hours a week. This year, there are only six hours available to enter two or three men in each weight class. Now, with heavy programming for students and a lack of new boxers, they can only put in about 5 hours of workouts.

Captain-elect of this year's out- is Roy Enever, a sophomore majoring in religion at the Up- town Center. Coach Sirutis, a collegiate titleholder himself, ranks Enever along with other top two-fisted contestants as having Roy fights as a lightweight and light heavyweight in 157. The coach stated that, "If any other Eastern colleges were to field teams, the Lavender would also get back into competition." As it stands now, his fight to meet service teams made up of men who have had the same kind of experience and training as the Beavers do.

IMB Hoop Tourney Starts Thursday Noon

As the sun sets upon the fanatics of beach bathing, Hansen Hall and other sixth floor facilities will again play host to those who seek the warmth of indoor sports. Commencing this Thursday at 12, the Intramural Board's semi-annual basketball, ping pong, handball and chess tournaments are scheduled to open. The bowling tournament will begin on Friday, while football isn't scheduled to kick off until next Thursday, October 13.

The hoopsters, who have kept their favorite shots and fancy dribblings in moth balls for the summer, will debut on a renovated gym floor. Each team may be made up of players from any (Continued on Page 7)

Harriers’ Season To Open Saturday

With only three weeks of practice behind them, City College cross country team will officially begin the season this Saturday under a new coach, Dr. Harry deGirolamo. Working his team around the return of three former members, Gene Forni, who sat out last year due to muscle condition in his right leg, Bill Plummer, a returning senior, and Brian Quisen.

Coach deGirolamo is counting upon the services of several Eastern runners. One of them, Stu Sherman, is expected to be tough this year, and is the regular center on City's basketball team for 1960-61.

Beavers Set to Engage Strong Mariner Team, Next on Karlin’s Slate

The United States Merchant Marine Academy will try to parlay its homecoming game into a return of City College's title-bound soccer express when the two teams clash at Memorial Stadium Great Neck, L. I., Saturday.

Coach Tony Daniels of Kings Point once again has a fast, rugged and well-balanced squad which he hopes will hang the Beavers their first Metropolitan League loss in years.

Spearheading the Cadet offense is Captain Graham Ramsay, a first-classman (senior), who stars at center halfback. Ric Healey, a second-classman (junior), who played varsity soccer as a plebe and spent last year on board a Merchant Marine ship, is a custo- mary for all Kings Point third-classmen, is also counted upon by Daniels to provide more scoring punch to the Marine forward line. First-classmen Dick Swarth- wout and George Brown, co-captains, are also speedy forwards who make the Seamen a threat to City's league supremacy.

The Point lost four lettermen to the Collegiate Tragic Championship, which will be held on November 15 and 16, scheduled for November 15.

Under Bruce last year, cross countrymen placed fourth in the UCF championships. This year, the Beavers' problem stems from a lack of depth. deGirolamo is counting heavily upon Forni and Billing to come through. Kavanagh, incidentally, is the young brother of Ronnie Kowalski, once a student and faculty member of the college.

Coach Harry Karlin

Coach Harry Karlin sets rode down by 9-0 last season. In their season's opener last Saturday, the Cadets tied Queens College.

City has opened with spectacular victories on the New York Community College (10-0) (an exhibition tilt), and Pratt Institute. The Pratt game was the Lavender's conference opener.
