Site CCNY Salaries: Education Pay Inadequate

Young people aren't turning to education as a profession because of the inadequate salaries paid to many in the field, especially in the executive echelons.

So charged a report based on a 50-year comparison of school and college salaries with other livelihoods. The report was prepared by Boardman and Smith, members of the Ford Foundation's Advancement of Education, which was established by the Ford Foundation four years ago.

Dealing with the 50-year period from 1954 to 1984, the study considered 1953 salaries in relation to 1904 purchasing power. Using data from the report, Table 1, formulas used in the study this is how the City College instructor."
Discount Cards on Sale:

The National Student Association, the NSA, has announced that it will be giving away discount cards to students. These cards will allow students to purchase various items at a reduced price.

One of the most popular items that students will be able to purchase with these cards is books. Many bookstores, including those on campus, will offer discounts to students who present their NSA discount cards.

Other items that students may be able to purchase with these cards include clothing, electronics, and entertainment. Some of the participating stores may also offer special promotions for NSA members.

To obtain an NSA discount card, students should contact their local NSA chapter. The cards will be available while supplies last. Students should be sure to bring their student ID when they pick up their card.

The NSA discount card is a great way for students to save money on the things they need. By using the card, students can stretch their budget and get more for their money.

We are ashamed of losing a motion we favored, but because it was unprepared or the majority were afraid to. (One advantage is of ten merely because of the lateness of the hour.) The late Council reps who had some knowledge of the topic.

In presenting a case for the League's "national superior in debate on the subject. In fact, the very first speaker probably these were the only two Council reps to speak. Probably these were the only two.

I hey either felt that they were unprepared to vote (this as Dr. Buell G. Gallagher once so aptly put it, "Debate is not intentional. However, it is for this reason that we have transformed our reservations into a question of debate, for those of us who believe in a free and open exchange of ideas, for those of us who believe in the power of the word.

It is to this group, the psychopaths and the mentally ill, that we direct our comments.

The point in question was the selection of the racial and/or nationality. It is obvious that this has considerable emotional value, and it is an infinitely various place. On the Campus are listed groups in a defensive "fearful." To this we answer: "We are not afraid." We are not afraid of the power of the word... We are prepared to debate these issues.

We'll see you on the 10th.
The City College soccer team is attempting to get out of the doldrums this year and is making some effort to do this in the form of a new key league tiff title.

Marcello Goldstein

The City College soccer team has a new coach, Marcello Goldstein, who has taken over the reins of the team after a successful career in coaching at other institutions.

The team's first game is scheduled to be played against a powerful opponent, the University of Pennsylvania. The game is expected to be a tough one, but Goldstein is confident that his team can come out on top.

Goldstein, who has a wealth of experience in college soccer, is looking forward to the challenge of leading the team to success. He has already made some tough decisions, such as dropping several players who were not performing up to par.

Goldstein's coaching philosophy is centered around teamwork and discipline. He believes that these are the keys to success in college soccer.

The team's first game is scheduled to be played on Saturday, November 15, at 2 pm. The game will be held at the University of Pennsylvania's home field. The team will be looking to make a strong statement with their opening game and set the tone for the rest of the season.

The team is currently ranked #2 in the nation, but Goldstein is not satisfied with this ranking. He believes that the team can still improve and is looking forward to the opportunity to prove that they are the best in the country.
Overeager Beavers:

Attempt by Karlin
To Calm Booters;
Aggies Halted, 2-1

By Stew Kampelmacher

Some of the high polish that covered City College's unbeaten soccer team has been forcibly rubbed off during the past ten days.

After the Beavers had been tied by Queens, the Long Island Aggies, doormats of foreplay, sent Harry Karlin's eleven quite a scare, before succumbing, 2-1, at Farmingdale, L. I., Wednesday.

Karlin attributes his boys' recent poor showings to what he calls "overhustling and overtiredness. We played four games in 12 days and the strain finally began to show. The boys pressed too hard and, as a result, were bunching up around the center of the field. They were just overrunning each other and were having trouble in finding direction when the ball changed hands."

The City mentor arranged a special practice session for last Saturday with stress placed upon the fundamentals of the game and position play.

Letdown

Another reason laid to the decline, if victory and one tie can be called a slump, (in City's case it can), is the letdown after last year's basketeers won for the College's Alumni varsity cup.

At any rate, the consequences have been appalling. The Lavender players didn't pass the ball nearly often enough and their constant frustrations brought anger and recriminations among teammates both off and on the field.

But the Beavers have recognized the problem and are working on it. (Continued on Page 7)

Five to Feel Soph Loss
As Practice Starts Today

By Ralph Sobovinsky

The City College cross-country team placed three runners in the first five positions to narrowly defeat Adelphi, 27-28, Saturday at Van Cortlandt Park in the Bronx.

Ray Riche of Adelphi barely nosed out Brian Quinn of City to cup first place. Riche ran the five mile course in a time of 28:25, one second better than Quinn. Beaver co-captains Bill Kowalski and Rick Hurford placed third and fifth. Kowalski crossed the finish line at 28:35 and Hurford came in at 29:08.

Lou Voglianniti, who only last week led his panther team to a 28:49 win over Upsala with a 27:26 mark, could do no better than "finish fourth. He was clocked in a time of 28:49."

The Beaver cinderellas, after losing their first dual meet of the season forty weeks ago to Fordham, brought their season's mark to 2 wins and 1 defeat. The Adelphi duals, whose last two contests were decided by a 1 point margin, dropped one game under the 200 mark with a 2-4 slate.

The CCNY runners, who fielded a team of ten men, saw five of them break into the first ten positions. Gene Forsyth came in seventh and Sal Sorbera wound up in scoreless position with a tenth place finish. Their times were 30:10 and 32:22 respectively. Adelphi coach Stuart Parks seemed to have issued a correct pre-game analysis of the contest between the two teams. At that time, he rated his squad on his thirty-fifth season as City College basketball coach.

The Olympic fencing squad consists of 25 to 30 men, but six will go to Australia. The fencer will be carefully watched for the next year and the quarter-finals. (Continued on Page 7)
