City College Ranks Fourth in Nationwide Enrollment

In a nationwide estimate conducted by Commissioner of Education Samuel M. Brownell, the City College of New York ranks fourth among all institutions of higher learning for the number of students enrolled.

Of the ten leading institutions listed, the University of California ranked first with an enrollment of 594, and the State University of New York placed second with 25,951. These two institutions which include schools throughout the states, New York University ranked third.

The Commissioner stated that 258 colleges were included in the survey. Men numbered 46,000 and women 29,951. As of Fall 1956, this was the fourth consecutive year recorded an enrollment increase. The total of 20,7 per cent more than previous high of 2,300,000 for the Fall of 1954 averaged a numerical increase of 22,000 students.

Miss Agnes C. Mulligan, registrar, announced that there has been a slight drop in the registration figures this semester. About 200 students graduated in January, and 40 entering the new term. The total registration figure was put under the 2,900 mark. The said that while the School unfortunately accommodates approximately 5400 students, the maximum population is 3000. This number results because classes are set up to counteract the easily obtainable, cheap non-credit classes.

This Communist literature is flooding Asia. It greatly tends to distort the objectives of the free world, and put the Communists in a favorable light.

The type of books needed most by the Asian students are anthropology, art, business, classical and non-classical literature, comparative religion, economics, history, law, philosophy, psychology, social sciences, sociology, and mathematics. It has been requested that the books be in good condition and free of errors.

“ar grants and Groans

In an attempt to correct the complaints, books were selected in 40 and 48, but it was found that many students, as usual, are having a difficult time at registration.

The list of complaints was so long that an accurate listing is difficult to accomplish. "Ours is to question why, ours is to do.""
FOS, Frosh Meet At First Assembly

This semester's pre-registration assembly for freshmen was held Wednesday in 2012. The authorities reorganized the eight-day Frosh, who made up the majority of participants.

The meeting was attended by President Dodds, along the dean of students, and other members of the Board of Trustees.

After the assembly, the students were divided into groups of ten, which then met the respective professors of the College, and were made of approximately equal size.

The Frosh Orientation Society will hold its first meeting of the term tonight at 8 p.m. in the Faculty Club. The event's purpose will be to introduce the freshmen to the College and to acquaint them with the student body.

NY NSA Head Killed in Crash

Thomas F. Smith, 21-year-old social studies major at St. John's University, was killed in a plane crash Wednesday afternoon near New York City. Smith was a member of the National Student Association, a national organization of college students.

Smith was a member of the National Student Association, a national organization of college students.

Dr. Harold W. Dodds, president of Princeton University, was named as the chief executive officer of the National Student Association.

Dr. Dodds made the announcement in a letter to the College's student body, which was sent to them by the President.

The letter stated that Dr. Dodds has been named as the chief executive officer of the National Student Association, a national organization of college students. The letter also stated that Dr. Dodds is a social studies major at St. John's University and that he has been active in student affairs at the College, including serving as president of the College's student government.

The letter concluded with the following statement:

"The students are encouraged to participate in the National Student Association's activities and to work towards its goals. The Association is dedicated to the ideal of a liberal education and to the promotion of the principles of democracy and social justice."

Academic Freedom

In winding up last semester, Student Council courageously passed a resolution opposing Section 303 of the City Charter which, in effect, designates the Board of Higher Education as the 'sole judge' of the University's academic policies.

The opposition to the charter amendment was not due to a lack of respect for the Board of Higher Education, but rather to the fear that the amendment would curtail the freedom of the student body to choose the educational philosophy of the Baruch School.

Although two-thirds of the student body and the Baruch School faculty have already declared their opposition to the amendment, it is inexcusable that the amendment has not been considered by the Board of Higher Education.

We, therefore, call on the Baruch administration and faculty to join the student body in opposing Section 903 of the City Charter, which is likely to be on the agenda for the next council meeting.

BotaA:lege;education. This top, although many of the reputations of those who have surrendered their own freedom for the sake of education, are still important to the student body, which has given so much of itself in the advance of education to the student body, which has given so much of itself in the advance of education.

We wish to express our deepest gratitude to the students and faculty who have supported us in our efforts to maintain academic freedom. We shall continue to work for the preservation of our academic freedom and to ensure that the student body has a voice in the educational policies of the Baruch School.

Fee Raise and SC

The Student Council has passed the fee raise for the new year. The fee raise is expected to ease the financial burden on the student body, and make college more affordable for the next four years.

We, therefore, urge the student body to support the fee raise, and to make the best of it to advance their education.

Birth of Revolving Doors

Going Through Labor Pains

By Helen Schuman

Revolutions in the Baruch School will be on the upswing in about a month—but the new year's baby will soon be born from the front door. The evolutionary turn will be the result of a long battle between the student body and the administration.

The birth of the spinning door, now in the Labor and Welfare Building, will bring forth a new era for the Baruch School. It is hoped that the spinning door will bring about a more equitable and efficient way of getting into the building.

The spinning door was designed to reduce congestion and improve the flow of students. It is hoped that the door will also reduce the amount of time students spend waiting in line.

But the spinning door has not been without its problems. Some students have expressed concern about the door's effect on privacy.

However, the pressing need for such a door has made it a priority.

The spinning door is expected to be operational in the next few weeks, and it is hoped that it will bring about a new era for the Baruch School.
Scholarships Listed In Guidance Office

By Phoebe Zimpfer

Dean Charles E. Mann, head of the Department of Student Services, has announced that the department has set up a list of scholarships which are open to students.

The list includes scholarships for continuing education, scholarships for degree work, and scholarships for graduate study.

Students are encouraged to check with their college guidance offices for more information.

A specific example of the type of award granted by the University of Florida, which is offering academic scholarships amounting to $1,500 and technical scholarships amounting to $1,000, is the University of Florida Scholarship Fund.

The fund is organized to provide financial assistance to students who are in financial need.

New announcements of scholarships are continually being made by the University of Florida and other institutions.

Applicants are urged to see their college guidance officers and ask how to obtain information about these scholarships.

City Loses Eighth:

Rider's 'Hotshots' Trounce Beaver Basketeteers, 96-66

Did you ever have a night where, no matter what you did, it just wasn't good enough? The Beavers did and it's one evening they'd be happier forgetting about.

A week ago, the meeting occurred last Thursday and it happened out at Trenton, New Jersey, as Rider College, sinking a phenomenal 52% of their shots, romped over City College, 96-66. The defeat was the Lavenders' eighth in ten games and their third in a row.

Rider, making a total of 40 field goals out of 77 attempts was sparked by Ron Anderson, their 6-4 freshman center, who scored 19 points.

Beaver Basketeers, 96-66 Thursday, February 2, also on the road, were not quite as hot as the 'Hotshots' who took place Saturday, January 26, in Wingate Hall, by a score of 85-72. City played superb ball for one half, and led at intermission, 33-34. They then proceeded into the second half in which they completely fell apart.

George Jensen

with five minutes remaining in the first half. But Krol picked up the slack for Rider and put in three straight set shots, stifling the Beaver rally. Rider led 43-30 at half-time.

The Beavers suffered their seventh loss of the season against Wagner College, Saturday, January 28, in Wingate Hall, by a score of 85-72. City played superb ball for one half, and led at intermission, 33-34. They then proceeded into the second half in which they completely fell apart.

Beaver Fencers Subdue Yale But Tumble Against Princeton

In defeating Yale, 15-12, and losing to Princeton, 17-10, the City College fencing team brought their season's record to 2-3, which, according to fencing coach Edward Lucia, is relatively commendable.

"The team was hurt by the graduation of the entire foil squad," explained Lucia, "and considering that five out of the nine men on my present squad were members of the foil team that went to New York, and that the foil team was a very strong one, it's hard to be satisfied with our season's record."

In the meet against Yale, which took place Saturday, January 26, in Wingate Hall, the Beavers won the foil and saber bouts, each by a 6-3 margin, but lost the epee event, 6-3.

City took an early 3-2 lead in the Princeton encounter last Thursday, February 2, also in Wingate Hall, but the Tigers ran off seven consecutive victories to put them 3-2 in front. City rallied with five minutes remaining in the first half. But Krol picked up the slack for Rider and put in three straight set shots, stifling the Beaver rally. Rider led 43-30 at half-time.

The Beavers suffered their seventh loss of the season against Wagner College, Saturday, January 28, in Wingate Hall, by a score of 85-72. City played superb ball for one half, and led at intermission, 33-34. They then proceeded into the second half in which they completely fell apart.

Edward Lucia

City's only bright spot in the Princeton duelings was the fine showing of Elliot Mills who won all three of his saber bouts.

Beaver Fencers' next meet will take place Saturday against Rider College, in Wingate Hall, for their season's record to a 2 and 3 mark, which, according to fencing coach Edward Lucia, is relatively commendable.

"The team was hurt by the graduation of the entire foil squad," explained Lucia, "and considering that five out of the nine men on my present squad are fencing regularly for the sports team, it's hard to be satisfied with our season's record."

What more can you expect? Competing at the New England Association of the Amateur Athletic Union Championship, the City College matmen annexed the team championship the first time they ever took part in the festivities. The meet took place at the Boston YMCA, Saturday, January 28.

Brown University, one of the many New England colleges competing, garnered second place honors, while Boston University finished third.

The Beavers were led to victory by Sal Sorbera and Al Taylor, who wrestled at the 125 and 136 pound levels, respectively. Second places were won for City by Sam Berkowitz and Bernie Woods. Ronnie Reis took a third place white Leon Goldstein also took home a trophy, finishing fourth.

Coach Joe Saporra stated, "We're really out in our way now. We needed this win to put us back on our feet. Our losing record doesn't tell how good our team really is because all of our three losses were very close decisions."

Allan Rice of the NYAC, 147, and Jim Peckham, of the Boston Union YMCA, 177, both national champions, competed and won their contests.
