special Bill Introduced for Benefit of Mrs. Li
By Helen Schulman
A particle of optimism has arisen in the case of Mrs. Pei Yu Ching Wang Li, wife of Dr. Pei Chao Li—the New School's central treasurer. On March 1, a bill was introduced in the House of Representatives for the benefit of Mrs. Li who has been trying to enter the country but success for a number of years to join her husband.

Refugee Relief Act as passed states that one has to re-enter the country from the Philippine Islands within 60 days before entering the United States. Mrs. Li's Canadian visa expires April 30. It is almost impossible to obtain a passport in the Philippines due to other laws complications. The bill has been referred to the committee.

Dr. Spenger Mann, student council president of the City College of New York, who has been operating under the advice of the inter-club board, Stu Rosenthal, that the experiment be continued. The administration was informed of the decision of the inter-club board, when Jerome Greenberg, who was elected by the '57 class council as an SC representative, when he was a member of the class council, wanted to be a member of the SC. Parker Cites U. S. Mid-East Blunders
Professor Daniel P. Parker, of the Government Department, accused the Eisenhower administration of "blundering" in the Middle East policy, at an "Arms for Israel" rally held Thursday in Lounge A. Professor Parker, after discussing both the moral and practical aspects of the aid to Israel controversy, commented that Israel must be supplied with arms to "maintain democracy in that country.

He said that this question must be made an election campaign issue and that every candidate must go on record. He urged a letter writing campaign to the Congressmen and senators to say that "at least in this community we will go on record and do for all that was not done the Israelis will do for us."•

Nathan Turkmeh, speaking on behalf of the American Christian Peace Union committee, told the overflow crowd that he too favored arms for Israel. As a former fellow student at New York World Telegram and Sun, he had been in the Middle East many times. He said that the Arabs were not to be welcomed into the United States when the U.S. was requesting the entrance of the Jews to the United States.

Tree Planting Starts Monday
For the first time in the history of the Baruch School, a small bit of campus green will be added. Monday at 9:30 in the music building, 931, six trees will be planted around the Baruch School building. The ground for the trees was broken yesterday.

The trees will be of the same species, which are the kind found on Park Avenue. The trees will be planted in at least six feet tall sizes.

The program for planting these trees will be given by the Acting Dean Lewis Holman, who will be the sponsor. The trees will be planted by the college's landscape service. Once installed, the trees will come under the jurisdiction of the Park Department, which will trim and prune them for the rest of the year.

The order was placed on January 3 through the Purchasing Department of the City College.
Inter-Club Board Attacks Referendum; Lazarus Doubts Students' Qualifications

A majority of students at the recent Wednesday, March 13th meeting of the Inter-Club Board (ICB) have indicated that they are unsatisfied with the handling of the recent Student Council-sponsored Referendum on a motion for a Student Council amendment. The Referendum, which was entitled "Amendment on referendum," was presented to the Student-Council on Tuesday, March 12th, and was subsequently voted down by a margin of 18 to 14. The motion was introduced by Lazarus, a member of the Student-Council, who was the only student to vote in favor of the motion during the special meeting held on March 12th.

The ICB has indicated that they are concerned about the handling of the Referendum, and have expressed their dissatisfaction with the results of the vote. The Board has also indicated that they believe the Referendum was not handled in a fair and transparent manner, and that the results of the vote were not representative of the student body.

The evening's program will also include a selection of furs worn by students, and will be presented by the Student Society.

The show will be held in Pauline Edwards Theatre on the evening of March 20th, at 8:30. Admission is free and all are welcome.
Athletics

The values of athletes, whether the culture of play is to be judged on a scale of organizational merit or the manner in which the game is played, is absolute and not tabulated.

The foreman of a steel factory, a Macy accountant and a driver are the main contributors to the baseball field. They are not the main contributors to the basketball field. They are not the main contributors to the football field.

Athletics

The values of athleticism, whether the culture of sport is to be regarded is essential in keeping any one of such a con­

At the moment, it is with great pride that we announce that the administration has taken a dim view of athletics. A battlefront has been opened, and under the cloak of "good sportsmanship," the all-powerful mission of the "never say die" has brought the institution to its knees. The time has come for us to rise up and demand that the administration bring in a new era of sport.

Coach

There have been no coach changes in any of the better known sports, but when you consider the new men who are replacing those who have left, you will see that this is only the beginning of a new era.

Have you heard about the tax on the minor leagues, which is in process now? This is a move that will cut deep into the pockets of the minor league owners, and it is clear that this move is being made to help the major league owners. However, I am afraid that the minor league owners are not going to be able to get around this tax, and it is clear that they are going to have to make some changes in order to stay in business.

I feel that Sigma Alpha, which is the national honor society for service, should be abolished. These organizations have never been of much value, and they have only served to keep the students from doing any real work. I suggest that these organizations be abolished, and that the money be used for other purposes.

I have been told by a reliable source that the tax on the minor leagues is going to be increased. This is a move that will cut deep into the pockets of the minor league owners, and it is clear that this move is being made to help the major league owners. However, I am afraid that the minor league owners are not going to be able to get around this tax, and it is clear that they are going to have to make some changes in order to stay in business.
What young people are doing at General Electric

Young engineer works on new ways to remove heat from atomic reactors

An atomic reactor running at full efficiency creates a tremendous amount of heat in its core. By removing this heat and getting rid of this waste boiling water to make steam, atomic electricity is produced.

One of the most responsible for designing new, more efficient ways to remove heat from atomic reactors is 20-year-old Doctor Solomon Levy—Design Analysis Engineer in the Atomic Power Equipment Department's Reactor Engineering Unit.

Levy's Work Interesting, Vital
To study this problem of heat transfer, Dr. Levy carefully constructed a handiwork reactor. By electrically simulating the heat produced, he was able to determine the normal rate at which heat can be removed from a reactor to make steam.

Dr. Levy considered the idea of building this complete system, designed it and supervised its construction. Levy works with this system to study and develop new ways to utilize the byproduct of the atomic power plant.

26,000 College Graduates at General Electric

When Solomon Levy entered General Electric in 1955, he already knew the kind of work he wanted to do. Like many of the 26,000 college-graduate employees, he was given the chance to go to work in the field of his choice and use his college training to its fullest potential.

For General Electric has long been characterized as a place where new ideas are welcomed, where freedom to make plans, work out problems and explore the unknown is given to the freely creative individual, the company, and the country.

Holman Lauds Squad As Season Ends; Levy, Jensen, Schefflan Lead Scorers

Despite his team posting its worst record in his thirty-five years of coaching at City College, basketball coach Nat Holman was optimistic about the future. "I have never had a team that tried as hard as the boys have," said Holman. "They were undermanned in almost every game they played in, but they never stopped hustling. Although our record was 3-15, with a couple of breakaways, we have approached the 500 mark."

Holman's appraisals were given several days earlier, when he announced that he had applied for a sabbatical leave.

The City rooters knew before the start of the season that the Beavers were in store for some rough roads toward realizing a respectable won-lost percentage. The Beaver was undermanned witheligibilities and lost its two high scorers from last season's squad, Merv Shroyer and Herb Jacobson, via the graduation route.

The Beavers of Alleghero can point out, that although the City team won only three games, it was in the dark in some of the top metropolitan teams with its outstanding defensive combinations and hustle. The Beavers lost to Fordham by only three points and to Maine by four. Both teams are headed to postseason tournaments.

Beavers hopefuls can look back to this season as the one in which they set two records, although one of them was voided. City scored 62 points in the second half against Upsala for one record and recorded a single-game high of 99 points against Upsala for the other. However, the inelegibility of one of the Beaver players had the effect of a forfeit, wiping out the second record.

City's Sabermen Win IFA Fencing Honors

After two days of fencing in the Intercollegiate Fencing Association tournament at the Hotel Concourse Plaza in the Bronx, the City College Fencing Unit, captained unassumingly, for the first time in the school's history, the team championship and individual title in the sabre division.

In the Friday and Saturday night affair, the Beaver sabremen, consisting of Elliot Mills, Martin Wortlich and Manny Fineberg, scored 24 points in the round-robin that included representatives of New York and Stuyvesant colleges. The trio outdistanced a squad of City sabremen who were the team championship with a playoff in 1941.

Columbia, the defending title holder, had a record this year. The Navy and New York University tied for third place honors with 22 points.

The sabre victory is easily a consolation for the entire Beaver fencing team showing which recorded a third place finish in the厚重 ripe division. Navy garnered the three-weapons title with a total of 64 points. Columbia and Princeton tied for second place honors with 63 points a piece. While NYU came in fourth with 62 points. The Beaver sabre squad while NYU came in fourth place with 63 points and Princeton tied for second place with 64.

The last meet of the season will take place on March 23, 24 and 25 when the College's fencers travel to Annapolis, Maryland to compete in the National Finals.

City College's baseball team opens a seventeen game schedule at Wagner College, Saturday, March 31, it was announced by Dr. Arthur H. Deegray, faculty manager of athletics.

The Beavers meet Metropolitan Collegiate Baseball Conference foes in twelve contests, six at home and six away. In nonleague home contests, the Lavender will face Hungary and Queens College at McComb Park, May 8 and 9.

Baruch College Final Four

The Baruch School's big team engaged Brooklyn's Evening Session at 8 p.m. Thursday, March 8, away with a 73-65 victory standing for the Baruch. As Stolzenberg driving by Mike Gomshu scored 10 points, kept it in the Downtowners open early lead, but the Baruchers overhauled them to 73-65. Top scorers for Brooklyn were Bob Johnson and Mel with 20 points apiece. To make team record, having lost to 89 for the second time, last day.

"Lack of Talent, Experience, Depth Hampered Frosh Cagers"-Polansky

By Lou Pohorelc

Like varsity coach Nat Holman, Dave Polansky, coach of the City College basketball team, was faced with a problem of lack of talent, experience and depth, especially for the second half of the season. Polansky stated that he had "nothing but high praise for the spirited play and hustle of the team," but he admitted that it was "short on talent." Of those that finished the season with the team, he felt that Julio Delortore, a driving speed merchant with a good set shot, has the best chance of helping the varsity although he still "has a way to go before he becomes a finished ballplayer."

"Harold Bauman," said Polansky, "an aggressive, strong player perhaps he may also make it. Johnny Mark, a big boy (6-4), constantly working at his game, improved greatly toward the end of the season, and he might help the varsity."

Both Bauman and Minnis had any high school experience worth mentioning. Minnis captured a weak Stuyvesant squad, while Bauman started for an even weaker Stuyvesant squad.

The Lavender freshmen, who compiled a 6-11 record, won but seven games, seven games in the second half of the season after they lost four of their better prospects at the end of the fall semester.
