SC Endorses Motion Banning Attire Code

At its final business meeting of the semester, Student Council Friday evening voted to hold the Baruch Ball, the school's annual prom, April 12 at the Hotel Commodore, at a cost of $4 per couple. The affair will star Billy Butterfield and Tito Rodriguez.

On the subject of whether to hold a formal Council engaged in a lengthy debate. Vice-President Sheldon Brand, next semester's Student Council president, opposed the Council that it would cost a serious financial loss if it held the prom. He estimated a loss of as much as $1,100.

Student Attire

A resolution on "Student Codes of Attire" was passed by Student Council by a vote of 16-4-4. The resolution, which was introduced by Wallace S. Nathan of the class of '57, stated that "the dress of student attire is an unwarranted interference with individual taste and interpretation. The resolution called for investigation of Student Council of any complaints of students concerning restrictions on their attire and that at least one member of the frontality has announced his intention of barring students from class all female students wearing slacks."

Free Dance

A free square dance, sponsored by Student Council, will be held Saturday, January 18, in Hansen Hall at 8:30. Ed Jaffe, who will be the main caller, is referred to by the New York Daily Mirror as "one of the top dance directors in the country."

The evening's entertainment will include square dancing and social dances which the Baruch School's Day and Evening session are invited. Refreshments will be served free of charge.

Social And Sporting Activities Featured At Winter Carnival, January 20-22

By P. W. Zelegora

To bagging, ice skating and skiing will be featured at the Baruch School's first annual Winter Carnival, January 20-22 at the Jug End Barn, South Egremont, Massachusetts.

In the past, the Jug End Barn, which is located 120 miles from New York City, has been the scene of similar carnivals sponsored by such colleges as Hunter, Queens, Hofstra and Adelphi.

The cost, $32.50 per person, includes tips, skates for ice skating, the use of the ski tow, skiing instructions, ping-pong, hayrides, hikes, games, midnight snacks, two free keys of beer, a band on Sunday evening for square dancing, setups of ice and glasses in case some students have brought their own liquor, and a frankfurter and marshmallow roast.

The major portion of the day-light hours will be spent in the participation of winter sports, while social events are planned for the evening.

Many contests are on the agenda. The student-elected king and queen of the carnival will receive bottles of champagne, trophies and fall refunds of their money. A talent show will be held with winners receiving cash prizes. A snow sculpture, dance, ping-pong and bingo contest will all provide winners receiving cash prizes. Two Bomb Threats—Hoaxes

Third Scare Since April '56

The Baruch School was hit by bomb scares Wednesday and Thursday, the second and third in the past ten months.

Ralph Carnicilli, a worker in the mailroom, was serving as relief operator when he received a call over the switchboard at 3:45, Wednesday. Carnicilli said to Mrs. Mahoney, the regular operator, "I've got a crackpot here."

Mrs. Mahoney telephoned the Thirteenth Police Precinct on Twenty-second Street, and a police captain, sergeant and plainclothes detectives were dispatched to the school along with five members of the Police Emergency Squad.

Search is Fruitless

The police arrived at the College at 4:01 and searched the building. By 4:56, after members of the emergency squad had gone through phone bores, lobbies, Hansen Hall and Pauline Edwards Theater, the police announced that the bomb had been placed in the garage of the Students Union, a room for possible bomb, search.

The first caller was reported, according to Carnicilli, as being a middle-aged man who spoke with a gutteral or German accent. He was quoted as saying to the relief operator, "Is that the City College? There's a bomb at the City College, there's a bomb at the City College." Thursday's Call

At 9:10 a.m. Thursday, a call came over the switchboard to Mrs. Bea Borshof, also a relief telephone operator, who works in the Domestic Science Department. She started as a reporter in her lower freshman year at Baruch, and was reappointed to the position of editor emeritus, to the position of editor in-chief, will occupy the position of editor-in-chief. Grossman succeeds Arnold Tew, 58.
The time has come to talk of many things, my dear Alyce; of which thing is the journalistic war of signature recruiting the most interesting. It's not as if I could ever, when that sort of thing occurs, become a candidate for any kind of editorial "war," but are you not THE TICKER through­out the history of this great school. For all you let us accomplish, we are most grateful. You who now do without.

"Pure Censorship"

"The Ticker," Tuesday, January 8, 1957

By Walter S. Nathan

"With this my final column after those three and one-half years of a life devoted to the service of the Baruch School, I feel that I should put to rest some of the questions that have been raised about the publication and its policies. I have always been able to write freely and without fear of reprimand; and the publication has always been willing to accept my ideas and opinions, while respecting my views."

The publication is put out by the Baruch School on a weekly basis, and is known as the "Baruch School's Student News." It is published by the Baruch School's Student Government Association, and is distributed free of charge to all students and faculty.

The publication is a student-run newspaper that covers campus news and events, as well as national and international news. It is written, edited, and published by students, and is supported by the Baruch School's Student Government Association.

The publication is a valuable resource for students, faculty, and the public, and is an important part of the Baruch School's commitment to free speech and open discussion.

The publication is also a valuable resource for students who wish to pursue careers in journalism, as it provides an opportunity to gain valuable experience in writing, editing, and publishing.

City Beavers Rip Fairleigh, 90-71

By Richie Gurian

Led by Marv Rose and Joe Bennardo, the City College Beavers trampled Fairleigh Dickinson University Friday night, 90-71. The Polanskymen bounced back from a ragged first half to score 56 points in the second period.

Bennardo and Rose were high scorers with 16 tallies each, while Syd Levy followed with 15. High scorer for the Knights was John Walsh, who dropped twelve points through the hoop.

The small crowd also saw Marv Rose fall to the floor with a cramp in his late in second half. Carried off the floor by his teammates, the Burichan was fully recovered by the end of the game, but did not return to action. Several minutes later, in a play under the CCNY basket, Bob Silver deemed it necessary to defend himself, after a tussle under the backboard and was ejected from the fray.

The first half was poorly played, with the Beavers unable to crack the Jerseyites' zone defense. Rose helped City to its lead in the first half, but did not return to action. The Beavers' offense was lacking, as they fell to a fourteen point deficit.

Bill Lewis

By dropping seven of the first fourteen markers through the hoop, during the entire first half, they didn't come within 4 points of the Beavers, and when they did, City quickly pulled away. In the last seconds of the half, the Lavender opened a ten point margin by virtue of a long jump shot by Rose and two fouls and a drive by Bennardo.

In the early minutes of the second half, with Bill Lewis hitting from half court, City pulled to a fourteen point edge. John Quigley began to sink jump shots for the Knights and the lead was cut in half. City pulled away again with the shooting of Marv Rose keeping them going.

With 5:24 left, Rose injured his knee and several seconds later, big Syd Levy fouled out. Even with two high scorers out, City increased its lead. When Silver was ejected, Coach Dave Polansky played five small men and they increased the Lavender edge to 93 points at one point.
