Five Hungarians Enter City College At Uptown Center

City College President Buell G. Gallagher has announced that five Hungarian students have been admitted to the College, which is the first time that any city college would take twenty Hungarian students: on a tuition-free basis.

The city cannot afford to ignore the student body at Hunter College. Although the Board of Higher Education which stated that the city college would take twenty Hungarian students on a tuition-free basis, the city cannot afford to ignore the student body at Hunter College.

The tenement BHE committee will meet at the Conference Room of Hunter College to continue recommendations to the Board as to the city's fate. It is hoped that the city will take twenty Hungarian students on a tuition-free basis.

The controversy arose when the Advisory Committee on Publications, a group established by President Buell G. Gallagher to review the Mercury magazine, was given the task of reviewing the magazine. The Advisory Committee was given the task of reviewing the magazine.

William Turner Levy

Dr. Levy felt that Mercury was a source of comfort and safety in the extreme, intense, and frequently pornographic atmosphere. While "admitting vulgarity in regard to Mercury by stating that "vulgarity was a sociological problem" and that "America as a nation might be considered vulgar," Dr. Levy denied the charge that the human magazine was "pornographic." His explanation of pornography was based on a definition given by Attorney J. L. Libby in an article in the New York Times, which stated that "pornography is a visual representation showing acts of sexual intercourse and other sexual perversion."

Dr. Levy felt that the prime problem was that the Advisory Committee failed to realize that "pornography is a visual representation showing acts of sexual intercourse and other sexual perversion."

Alumni Group Head Urges Graduates to Help School

The Baruch School Alumni Association President Saul Feldman in last month's edition of Alumni Minutes, the Association official publication, issued a "call to action" to former graduates to meet the challenge "of the apparent inadequacies of the physical plant of the Baruch School.

Colin B. H. Price, in referring to the recent report of the Middle States Association, called attention to the "cheerless classrooms, totally inadequate extra-curricular facilities, dangerously overcrowded corridors and stairways, and insufficient space, bulging beyond capacity."

"Indeed, we would be remiss in our duties both as citizens of our city and as graduates of the Baruch School," Feldman said, "if we were not to accept this challenge."

The alumni organization's president discussed the work of the Association in trying to improve the placement services of the Baruch School, the Placement Fund, he observed, has helped to make business organizations aware of the potential graduates of the School.

Feldman reported that the College Affairs Committee of the Alumni Association is investigating the matter of the "principal of free high school education."

Midway

The first half of this academic year has already passed. The University has been filled with activity, both inside and outside the classroom. Students, faculty, and staff have collaborated to create a vibrant and stimulating environment. The second half promises to be equally engaging, with a variety of lectures, workshops, and events scheduled to enrich the academic experience.

Create or Destroy

Each week, several weeks after the trial of the University of Texas v.势ner Gulf and West Coast Refining Co., the University's Board of Regents must decide whether to grant a new charter to the college. The decision is a crucial one, as it will determine whether the college will continue to operate or be closed down. The Board of Regents has the authority to grant or deny charters based on criteria such as financial stability, academic quality, and community need. The decision to grant or deny a charter is made after a thorough review of the college's performance and future prospects.
BC Student Denied College Admittance

Arthur Stieb, a 20-year-old student, recently expelled from Brooklyn College, was denied admission to the City College of New York last week. Stieb wrote a letter to Dr. Joseph B. However, Dr. Cavallaro informed Stieb that his admission would be denied because of his poor academic record and disciplinary problems.

Dean of Students Herbert Stroup. It was announced last week by Dr. Buell G. Gallagher. The decision was made after a thorough investigation by the College's Admissions Office.

With four minutes to go in the game, Rose tallied two successive jump shots to give City a 50-46 edge. Levy, by virtue of a tap-in, made it 52-48 a minute later. Then, after Fordham's Brady tied it at 56-all with his 3-point shot, Benardo lowered the boom.

Former Beaver coach Nat Holman, still on his sabatical leave, was at the game. His only comment: "I can't talk. I'm thrilled.

Beavers to Tackle Queens In Hoop Contest, Saturday

The law of averages will be on Queens College's side Saturday night when the Knights meet the Beavers in an inter-city clash. The rivalry dates back to 1948 and, since that time, City has won nine straight games, the last one, 77-67, December 8. Queens has not fared so well this season, mainly because its captain-elect, George Harvey left school before the first game of the season, and the Beavers posted a 3-3 record prior to last night's Fordham tilt. In Municipal League competition, the Beavers have a 3-1 mark.

The Knights will start Don Hill and Bob Bass, Jerry Moscowitz, Allan Matar and Tony Carpini. Hill and Bass, the co-captains, scored 15 points each in the last encounter although both played against taller opponents.

Coach Dave Polansky said after the Fairleigh Dickinson game, which the Beavers won, that "the thing that pleased me most was the play of Marv Rose. He's come awfully fast. Nobody bothers him. He doesn't fool around with the ball. He's good shot and then he takes it."

City's starting lineup, besides Polansky, included Gary Kleck, Paul Fenske, Ralph Boland, and Bob LeMestre. The selections were made by Coach John LePage, a former captain of the City College basketball team since 1954.

Marv Rose and Syd Levy shared scoring honors in that game, each tallying 21 points.

City's lone setback over intersession came at the hands of Rider College, 71-68, January 25. Rose tallied twenty for the Lavender but Leo Chester scored 50 for Rider.
