Brrr! Students Shiver As Fuel Pump Breaks

School’s Sale Not Affected By Alterations

President Buell G. Gallagher, in a press conference last week, said that temporary improvements to the Baruch School’s fuel pump would never be used as an excuse to prevent possible sale of the building after 1960. He further stated that “efforts are being made for the best possible adjustments under the present circumstances.”

Dean Emanuel Saxe has authorized a survey of classrooms, lounges, laboratories and student offices so that there may be a realization of facilities at the Baruch School. The work, which probably will begin next February, will be done in conjunction with the change of the Baruch School’s electrical current from DC to AC to rewire the School’s heavily-loaded wiring system.

Uptown’s Student Leaders To Sign Organization Lists

Eight student leaders at the Uptown Center, in protest against the College’s ruling on compulsory membership lists, have announced their intention to sign membership lists of a number of organizations on campus.

The eight uniform names will be submitted, together with the names of the officers of the club, on the membership list of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Students for Democratic Action and the Marxist Discussion Club. It was reported that other organizations are considering the plan. The plan was organized by the Uptown Student Government Civil Liberties Committee. It is designed to circumvent the ruling reaffirmed by the general faculty last November which requires the names of at least twelve members of a club to be submitted to the Department of Student Life in order for the organization to be recognized on campus.

In the Spring of 1956, five political clubs withdrew from the Uptown campus in defiance of the compulsory lists ruling.

Gallagher’s Mind Open to Tournaments

President Buell G. Gallagher stated Wednesday that he is “open-minded” on whether he would approve of City College’s acceptance of a post-season basketball tournament bid.

Dr. Gallagher noted that there is a Board of Higher Education ruling prohibiting the basketball team from playing in “an athletic arena not under primary educational control.” This, he added, would prohibit play in Madison Square Garden.

Dr. Gallagher made a distinction, however, between regular season play and post-season tournament play. He said that it was possible that the BHE ruling does not apply to tournament games, and he would study the ruling to determine more closely its limitations.

“I am personally opposed to bringing our team into Madison Square Garden or into any other arena which is not under educational control, for season play,” Dr. Gallagher pointed out.

He recalled that the BHE ruling came about as a result of the 1951 basketball scandals which hit the College. “It was an effort,” he said, “to reduce the commercial stimulation of intercollegiate athletics.”

Dr. Gallagher stated that he had played at all but one basketball game this season. “I like the way they play and I like their spirit,” he said. He was “very pleased” with the team’s performance this season.

Tonight’s game with Manhattan College may determine whether or not City will get a bid to the National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament.

Letters to the Editor

Editorial Note: The following letter was written to "The Ticker" by John Doe, a student at Baruch College.

Dear Editor,

I was very upset to read the article about the student membership in the Baruch School newspaper. As a member of the paper, I feel that we should not be censored.

Accounting Group Asks CPA Standards Revision

By Gary J. Streib

In 1962, the American Institute of Accountants, a national organization composed of public accountants, was established. The institute is responsible for establishing and enforcing professional standards for public accountants in the U.S.

The institute has recently renamed its professional standards committee the "National Standards Board on Public Accountants." The standards are designed to ensure that the public is protected from misleading financial statements.

The institute has also established a code of professional ethics for public accountants. The code requires accountants to be honest and to maintain a high level of competence.

The institute is considering revising its standards for public accountants. The revisions would include changes to the code of professional ethics.

Exams

The only apparent solution to the immediate problem is to continue studying for the exams. The exams are designed to test the knowledge and skills of public accountants.

The exams are divided into two parts: the "end of course" exam and the "end of year" exam. The end of course exam is usually given at the end of each semester, while the end of year exam is given at the end of the academic year.

Hoopenmen Tackle Jasper ‘5’ Tonight

In what shapes up as one of the season's most crucial games, City College five meets the Manhattan College Jaspers tonight at the Bronx quinnet's gym.

Jasper Coach Kenny Norton plans to start Angelo Lombardo, Jerry Faulkner and Bob Josephs at the forwards and Johnny O'Connor and John Powers at the guards.

Norton said of the Beavers, "They have come a long way since the season began and should give us a tough battle. I saw them play Fordham and they looked very sharp. The game is very important for us because we are looking for an NIT bid and have to win most of our remaining contests."

Coach Dave Flannery said that his team -- will probably start Mary Rose and Bob Silver at forwards, Syd Levy at center and Joe Bennardo and Ralph Schellman at guards. The Lavender will have a height edge but will have a tough time trying to overcome the Jaspers 45% shooting average, so far this season, and overall experience.

Last year's game ended in a 74-69 win for the City College five. The Beavers had a 3-1-1 edge.

Saturday night the Beavers will travel to New Brunswick, New Jersey to meet the Scarlet Knights of Rutgers University. The 45 Club will accompany the team. The taxis will be available in 911B. The bus leaves the School at 6.

Mazzaferro Leads City In BC Sweep, 88-74

A ghost haunted Brooklyn College Friday night in the Division Three tourney at Wingate Gym. Up from Jim Mazzaferro, former BC student, started for City in place of the injured Mary Rose, scored eighteen points, did some sharp shooting, and succeeded in Nick Gaetani, Brooklyn's star backcourtman like glue, to lead the Beavers to an 88-74 win, and their first Municipal College crown.

The win was the sixth in a row for the Lavender and brought the season's mark to 11-3.

Behind Mazzaferro, City had heroes in Syd Levy, who scored twenty points, and had an off-night. Joe Bennardo, who tallied fourteen points, and Rose, who had twelve markers.

Levy Has Rough Time

Levy was bottled up most of the night by Hank Smit, the Kingsmen center. At times, he was double-teamed and even triple-teamed. However, he lowered four four rebounds over the 6-5 Smit, and managed to snare seventeen rebounds, and score from close range.

Bennardo scored on long sets, most of the evening by Mazzaferro. Smit, and managed to snare seventeen rebounds, and score from close range.

Varsity Club, Student AA Will Revamp Cheerleaders

In an effort to revamp the Cheerleaders, the Varsity Club and the Student Athletic Association adopted proposals at a meeting Wednesday evening to increase the number of leaders to fifteen from the present twelve and change the method of selecting cheerleaders.

In the opinion of the Varsity Club and the SAA, the revamped cheerleaders will bring out more spirit and enthusiasm.

As of now, there are five members active in the organization.

Selections of the new cheerleaders will be made by the SAA and Varsity Club presidents at a meeting and faculty advisor of the cheerleaders.

The meeting for prospective cheerleaders will be Thursday, Feb. 28, Uptown. The actual tryouts are scheduled for six weeks later.

The system of selection will be based on two criteria: talent and enthusiasm.
